authors' acknowledgements

We owe a continuing debt to the many people whose advice and comments helped us with earlier versions of this material. The present book has benefited enormously from the hard work and professionalism of our editorial and design team at Oxford University Press. In particular, we would like to acknowledge the contributions of our remarkable editor, Sarah Parsons, and our equally remarkable designer, Phil Hargraves, who have made it possible for us to write the book that we wanted to, and whose input is evident on every page.
Who is this book for?
The Oxford English Grammar Course (Intermediate Level) is for all intermediate and upper-intermediate learners who want to improve their knowledge of English grammar.

What kind of English does the book teach?
This book teaches the grammar of spoken and written British English. But it can also be used by students of American, Australian or other kinds of English – the grammatical differences are very small and unimportant.

How is the book organised?
There are 22 sections. A section covers one part of English grammar (for example: making questions and negatives; present tense verbs; problems with nouns). Each section contains:
- a presentation page which introduces the point of grammar
- several short units with explanations and exercises
- two 'More Practice' pages: these include 'Grammar in a text' exercises and internet exercises
- a short revision test.

Grammar in a text. Put in expressions from the box. Use the present progressive.

- become less common
- continue
- continue
- get
- get
- get
- go down
- increase

People are getting happier.
According to a recent report from the Western Statistics Office, 73% of people say that they are happy 'most of the time', compared with only 47% at the beginning of the century. Perhaps this is partly because the world is less crowded: the Western population by about 1.3% per year. And life expectancy in 1970, men lived for an average of 69 years and women 75; both sexes now can expect to live for 113 years. We richer, too. The average income in 2006 was 146,000 Western Credits – twice as much as in the year 2018.

Internet exercise. Use a search engine (e.g. Google) to find five or more simple sentences beginning "I have never been given". Write them out.

- I have never been given a trip to London.
- I have never been given a new car.
- I have never been given a surprise birthday party.
- I have never been given a bouquet of flowers.
- I have never been given a day off work.

Two levels
Some units are marked 'Revise the Basics': these revise elementary points of grammar which may still cause problems. More advanced units are marked 'Level 2'.

Using the book to study particular points
If you want to know more about a particular point (for example present tenses, the difference between should and must, or the position of adverbs), look in the index (pages 377–386) to find the right unit(s).
Read the explanations and do the exercises. Check your answers in the answer key (pages 329–376).
Using the book for systematic study

If you are working without a teacher, we suggest:

1. DON'T go right through the book from beginning to end – some parts will be unnecessary for you.
2. Decide which sections you most need to study. Section 1, 'be and have', for example? Section 8, 'questions and negatives'? Section 19, 'relatives'? Or other sections?
3. Go to the pages that you need. Read the grammar explanations, do the exercises, and check your answers in the answer key (pages 329–376).
4. In some units there are 'Grammar and vocabulary' exercises for students who would like to learn more words. Try these as well if you want to.
5. There are also some 'Do it yourself' exercises, which will give you a chance to discover rules for yourself.
6. Do some or all of the exercises in the 'More Practice' pages.
7. Go to the revision test at the end of the section, and try some or all of the questions.
8. Check your answers. If you still have problems, look at the explanations again.

Website

On the website there are tests which will help you to decide what you need to study, or to find out how well you have learnt the different points of grammar. There are also extra exercises and games to give you more practice on some of the points.

Pronunciation

The 'Pronunciation for grammar' CD-ROM will help you to pronounce structures fluently, with good rhythm and stress.

Examinations

This book teaches all of the grammar (and more!) that is needed for Common European Framework Levels B1 and B2 and is suitable for learners studying for Cambridge FCE.

If you know everything in the book, will you speak perfect English?

No, sorry!

1. Not many people learn foreign languages perfectly. (And not many people need to.) But this book will help you to speak and write much more correctly.

2. Books like this give short practical explanations. They cannot tell you the whole truth about English grammar, and they cannot give you enough practice to get all the difficult points right. If you follow the rules in this book, you will not make many mistakes. But you will probably need to practise using the structures in different situations. (The website material will help with this.) You will find more complete information about difficult points in the Advanced Level of the Oxford English Grammar Course, or in Michael Swan's Practical English Usage (Oxford University Press).

3. Grammar is not the only important thing in a language. You also need a wide vocabulary, and – very important – you need a lot of practice in listening and speaking, reading and writing. Remember: this is a grammar practice book, not a complete English course.

We hope that you will enjoy using our book.

With our best wishes for your progress in English.

Michael Swan

INTRODUCTION vii words for talking about grammar active and passive: I see, she heard are active verbs; I am seen, she was heard are passive verbs.

adjectives: for example big, old, yellow, unhappy.

adverbs: for example quickly, completely, now, there.

affirmative sentences or statements are not questions or negatives – for example I arrived.

articles: a/an ('indefinite article'); the ('definite article').

auxiliary verbs are used before other verbs to make questions, tenses etc – for example do you think; I have finished; she is working. See also modal auxiliary verbs.

clause: see sentence.

comparatives: for example older, better, more beautiful, more slowly.

conditional: a structure using the conjunction if.

conjunctions: for example and, but, because, while.

consonants: see vowels.

contractions: short forms like I'm, you're, he'll, don't.

conversational: see formal.

countable nouns: the names of things we can count – for example one chair, three cars; uncountable (or 'mass') nouns: the names of things we can't count, like oil, rice.

determiners: words like the, some, many, my, which go before (adjective +) noun.

double letters: pp, tt, ee etc.

formal, informal, conversational: We use formal language with strangers, in business letters etc: for example ‘Good afternoon, Mr Parker. May I help you?’ We use informal or conversational language with family and friends: for example ‘Hi, John. Want some help?’

future verbs: for example I will go; Ann is going to write to us.

imperatives: forms like Go home, Come and sit down, Don't worry, which we use when we tell or ask people (not) to do things.

indirect speech: the grammar that we use to say what people say or think: for example John said that he was tired.

infinitives: (to) go, (to) sleep etc.

informal: see formal.

-ing forms: going, sleeping etc.

irregular: see regular.

leave out: If we say Seen John?, we are leaving out Have you.

modal verbs or modal auxiliary verbs: must, can, could, may, might, shall, should, ought to, will and would.

negative sentences are made with not: for example I have not seen her.

nouns: for example chair, oil, idea, sentence.

opposite: hot is the opposite of cold; up is the opposite of down.

passive: see active.

past perfect tense: see perfect tenses.

past progressive tense: see past tenses.

past tenses: for example went, saw, stopped (simple past); was going, were eating (past progressive).

past participles: for example gone, seen, stopped.

perfect tenses: forms with have/has/had + past participle: for example I have forgotten (present perfect);

It has been raining (present perfect progressive); They had stopped (past perfect).

personal pronouns: for example I, you, us, them.

plural: see singular.

possessives: for example my, your, mine, yours; John's, my brothers’.

prepositions: for example at, in, on, between.

present participles: for example going, sleeping etc (also called -ing forms).

present perfect tenses: see perfect tenses. present tenses: for example He goes (simple present); She is walking (present progressive).
progressive (or 'continuous'): for example I am thinking (present progressive); They were talking (past progressive).
pronouns: for example I, you, anybody, themselves.
question tags: for example isn't it?, doesn't she?
reflexive pronouns: myself, yourself etc.
regular: plurals like cats, buses; past tenses like started, stopped; irregular: plurals like teeth, men, children; past tenses like broke, went, saw.
relative clauses: clauses that begin with relative pronouns: for example the man who bought my car.
relative pronouns: who, which and that when they join clauses to nouns: for example the man who bought my car.
sentence, clause: A sentence begins with a capital letter (A, B etc) and ends with a full stop (.), like this one.
A sentence may have more than one clause, often joined by a conjunction. For example I'll come and see you when I'm in London.
simple past tense: see past tenses.
simple present tense: see present tenses.
singular: for example chair, cat, man; plural: for example chairs, cats, men.
spelling: writing words correctly: for example, we spell necessary with one c and double s.
subject and object: In She took the money – everybody saw her, the subjects are she and everybody; the objects are the money and her.
superlatives: for example oldest, best, most beautiful, most easily.
tense: She goes, she is going, she went; she was going, she has gone are different tenses.
third person: words for other people, not I or you: for example she, them, himself, John, has, goes.
uncountable nouns: see countable nouns.
verbs: for example sit, give, hold, think, write.
vowels: a, e, i, o, u and their usual sounds; consonants: b, c, d, f, g etc and their usual sounds.

SECTION 1 be and have

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

be (am/are/is/was/were)
- We can use adjectives, nouns or expressions of place after be.
  She is early. I am tired. Are you a student? Is anybody at home?
- We can use be to talk about age, size, height, weight and colour.
  My sister is 22. What size are your shoes? I am 1 metre 85 and 80 kilos.
  What colour are the baby’s eyes?
- We use there + be to introduce things: to tell people that they exist.
  There’s a good film on TV tonight. There are some people at the door.
- Be can be an auxiliary verb in progressive tenses (see pages 14, 41) and passives (see page 94–95).
  It is raining. This was made in 1850.

have (have/has/had)
- We can use have to talk about possession, relationships and some other ideas.
  Do you have a pair of walking boots? I don’t have any children.
- Have is often used with got.
  I’ve got a headache.
- And we can use have to talk about some kinds of actions.
  I’m going to have breakfast. Let’s have a party.
- Have can also be an auxiliary verb in perfect tenses (see Section 5).
  I haven’t heard from Alan. I thought that I had seen her before.

‘People can have it in any colour — as long as it’s black.’
(Henry Ford, talking about the Model T Ford car)

‘The future is black.’
(James Baldwin)

‘The so-called white races are really pinko-grey.’
(E M Forster)

‘I am black, but O! my soul is white.’
(William Blake)

‘Eyes too expressive to be blue, too lovely to be grey.’
(Matthew Arnold)

‘The East is red.’
(Chinese communist slogan)

‘Don’t throw away your old shoes until you have got new ones.’
(Proverb)

‘All the world’s a stage and all the men and women merely players. They have their exits and their entrances.’
(Shakespeare: As You Like It)

‘Be contented when you have got all you want.’
(Holbrook Jackson)

‘I’ve got plenty of nothing and nothing’s plenty for me.’
(Gershwin: Porgy and Bess)

‘In the beginning there was nothing, and it exploded.’
(Terry Pratchett)

Questions: is there, are there etc

Contraction: there's (pronounced /ðeəz/, like the beginning of the zoo)

We use there is to say that something exists (or doesn’t exist) somewhere or at some time.

- There is a hole in my sock.
- There’s snow on the mountains.
- There are two men at the door.
  Once upon a time there were three little pigs.
- There will be rain tonight.
  There has never been anybody like you.

In an informal style we often use there’s before a plural noun.

- There’s some grapes in the fridge.

1. Put in the correct form of there is(n’t).
   1. no water in the Atacama desert.
   2. no railways in the 18th century.
   3. Once upon a time a beautiful princess.
   4. snow.
   5. some soup, if you’re hungry.
   6. any potatoes?
   7. wars all through history.
   8. many tigers left in the wild.
   9. an accident – can I use your phone?
   10. I’m afraid time to see Granny.
   11. Do you know if any tickets left?
   12. a letter for me yesterday?
   13. going a test tomorrow.
   14. I’m sorry, but any rooms free.
   15. How many US Presidents since 1900?
   16. I don’t think any reason to worry.
   17. a meeting tomorrow: everybody’s away.
   18. never land animals in Antarctica.
   19. going a general election soon, do you think?
   20. so much rain in the last two months?

There is introduces indefinite subjects. Compare:

- There’s a window open.
- The window’s open. (NOT There’s the window open.)

2. Complete the sentences with your own ideas.
   1. In 1800 there weren’t any...
   2. 500 years ago there...
   3. 5000 years ago there...
   4. Next year there...
   5. In 100 years there...
   6. In 1000 years there...

4. BE AND HAVE more about there is  There seems to be a delay.

6. ............... for Alex.
7. ............... a car park just round the corner.
8. ............... a problem with the TV.
9. Do you like my new coat?
10. ............... very warm.

We don't use it is like there is. We usually use it is for something that we have already talked about, or that people already know about.

There's a car outside. It's a Ford. (NOT It's a car outside.)

"Right, children, there are going to be a few changes this term."
Have can be used to talk about possession, relationships, characteristics and similar ideas. The short forms I have, have I?, I have not etc are unusal in an informal style. Instead, we generally use forms with have got or do ... have. Have got is not present perfect in this use. It means exactly the same as have.

SECTION 2 present tenses

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

SIMPLE PRESENT: I work, she works, he doesn’t work etc
PRESENT PROGRESSIVE: I am working, she is working, he isn’t working etc

English has two ‘present’ tenses.
- We use the simple present mostly to talk about things that are always true, and things that happen repeatedly.
  Dogs eat meat. My aunt lives in Leeds. I don’t work on Saturdays.
- We can use the simple present in commentaries, instructions, stories and jokes, to describe events that happen one after another.
  Smith passes to Peters, Peters passes to Ollis, Ollis shoots – and it’s a goal!
  First you break three eggs into a bowl. You add butter, salt and pepper. Then you take a fork …

- We use the present progressive (or ‘present continuous’) to talk about things that are happening just around the time when we speak.
  Look! The dog’s eating your shoe. I’m working hard these days.
- We use the present progressive to talk about changes that are happening.
  Prices are going up. Transport is getting worse.
- We can also use the present progressive to talk about the future (see pages 27, 30).
  I’m seeing Lucy tomorrow.

JUST WORDS

I hate you
I love you you get on my nerves you’re destroying me darling
don’t leave me it’s your fault you always you never darling
you never listen to me don’t listen to me
it’s just words.

Why computers are like women:
Nobody understands the language that they use when they talk to other computers.
They never tell you what is wrong; and if you don’t know, you’re in trouble.
They remember your smallest mistakes for ever.

Why computers are like men:
They know a lot of things but they are very stupid.
After you get one for yourself, you soon see a better one.
They like to go fast but they always crash.

simple present: instructions etc  You take the first left

We use the simple present to describe events that happen one after another in commentaries and demonstrations. We also use the simple present to ask for and give instructions.

Calvin passes to Peters, Peters to O'Malley, Lucas intercepts, Lucas to Higgins, Higgins shoots – and it's a goal!
First I put a lump of butter into the frying pan and light the gas; then while the butter's melting I break three eggs into a bowl ...
‘How do I get to the station?’ ‘You go straight on for half a mile, then you come to a garage, you turn left and then you take the first right.’

1 Look at the map and follow the directions.
When you come out of the station you turn right. Then you take the first left and keep straight on till you come to a T-Junction. You turn right and keep straight on till you get to a crossroads, and then turn right again.

Write the instructions for cooking something else.

We often tell stories and jokes with present tenses in an informal style. We use the simple present for events – things that happen one after another. We use the present progressive for background – things that are already happening when the story starts, or that continue through part of the story.

2 Spelling. There are sixteen mistakes in the text. Can you find and correct the other fifteen?

Anne speaks and writes three languages, and works in an import-export office. She replies to letters and emails, and she spends a lot of time answering the phone. It's not very interesting work, and she's not very good at it: she tries hard, but she keeps forgetting things and making mistakes. She wishes she could change her job, so she's beginning a computer course. She goes for lessons every evening, and she's looking forward to completing the course and getting her certificate. At the weekends she teaches karate. She really enjoys that, and is hoping to open her own school one day.

3 Grammar in a text. Put in expressions from the box. Use the present progressive.

People are getting happier.

According to a recent report from the Western Statistics Office, 73% of people say that they are happy 'most of the time', compared with only 47% at the beginning of the century. Perhaps this is partly because the world is less crowded: the Western population by about 1.3% per year. And life expectancy in 1970, men lived for an average of 69 years and women 75; both sexes now can expect to live for 113 years. We richer, too. The average income in 2096 was 146,000 Western Credits – twice as much as in the year 2018.

Not everything better, though. The climate to change for the worse, and sea levels to rise. If average temperatures go on increasing, scientists are afraid that more of the world's capitals will go the same way as London, Paris and New York. Perhaps one day we will all have to move to the mountains.

Religious belief . In 2018, 65% of Western Federation citizens said that they believed in God; in 2096 the figure was only 24%, and only half of these went to church regularly.

(From The Times, 18 July 2098.)

24 PRESENT TENSES

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
SECTION 3 talking about the future

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

the most common ways to talk about the future

There are three common ways to talk about the future in English:

- with the going to structure.
  "I'm really going to tell her what I think of her."

- with the present progressive.
  "We're meeting Malcolm tomorrow."

- with will.

We use going to or the present progressive especially when the future has some present reality: for example to talk about plans that we have already made.

Will can also be used when we decide, agree, promise or refuse, and in requests.
  "There's the doorbell, I'll go."
  "Please write every week."
  "Of course I will."
  "She won't come out of the bathroom."
  "Will you get some milk while you're out?"

We can sometimes use the simple present to talk about the future.
  "Her plane arrives at 15.30."
  "I'll phone you when I know something."
  "I'll see you tomorrow if I have a chance."

other ways to talk about the future

- future progressive
  "This time tomorrow I'll be lying on the beach."

- be + infinitive
  "The President is to visit Scotland in September."

- future in the past
  "I didn't realise what would happen."

- future perfect
  "I'll have finished the job by supper time."

- future perfect progressive
  "Next summer I'll have been studying English for six years."

The future progressive, future perfect and future perfect progressive are not very common. They are included here for the sake of completeness.
revise the basics: going to

We often use present verb-forms to talk about the future. For example, we say that something is going to happen. This happens when we can see the future in the present – when a future situation is starting, or clearly on the way.

Look – it's going to rain.  They're going to crash!

1. Look at the pictures. What is going to happen?

   3. .................................................
   4. He is going to dive.
   5. .................................................
   6. .................................................
   7. .................................................

We often use going to for plans and intentions, especially in conversation.

We're going to get a new car soon.  When are you going to get your hair cut?
I'm going to keep asking her out until she says 'Yes'.

2. Put the verbs in the right places to complete the sentences. Use going to.
   Note: there are too many verbs.

   1. Jane is ................................................. music in Vienna. She's ................................................. to become a professional pianist. This summer, she's ................................................. three months studying German. (spend; try; work; study)

   2. Max is ................................................. the summer learning to fly. In the autumn, he's ................................................. a two-year training course for airline pilots. (start; spend; go; do)

   3. Jennifer's eight, and she doesn't know what she's ................................................. One day she says she's ................................................. a dancer, and the next she says she's ................................................. with animals. This summer, she's ................................................. with her aunt in America. (take; work; do; stay; be)

   4. Annie is ................................................. the house this summer. Then she's ................................................. two weeks walking in Scotland. In the autumn, she's ................................................. a new job as a translator. (start; decorate; spend; play)

3. Write some things that you are going to do in the future.

   ................................................. ................................................. .................................................
We often use the present progressive to talk about future personal arrangements and plans that are already fixed now, especially when we give the time, date, and/or place.

'What are you doing this evening?' 'I'm washing my hair.'
My car's having a service next week. We're going to Spain in June.
Did you know I'm getting a new job? What are we having for dinner?

1. Look at the diary and correct the sentences.

1. She's playing tennis on Sunday afternoon.
2. Matthew is coming to see her on Sunday morning.
3. She's having lunch with James at 12.30 on Tuesday.
4. She's flying to Rotterdam on Thursday.
5. She's meeting Mrs Parsons in the London office.
6. She's going to the meeting with Mrs Parsons by car.
7. She's going to a funeral on Wednesday afternoon.
8. She's meeting the accountants at 12.00 on Monday.
9. She's going to the theatre on Saturday evening.
10. She's spending Friday at the races.

2. Write some sentences about your plans for the coming week.

'Hi, it's me. Listen. It's David's birthday, so a few million of us are going out for a meal. Are you interested?'

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
revise the basics: will-future

We use will to give or ask for information about the future, when there is no reason to use a present verb-form (see pages 26–27, 30–31).

We will need the money on the 15th. Will all the family be at the wedding? It will be spring soon. She’ll be here in a few minutes.

We often use will to predict the future – to say what we think, guess or calculate will happen.

Tomorrow will be warm, with some cloud in the afternoon. Who do you think will win? You’ll never finish that book.

1. GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: weather. Look at the map and complete the weather forecast. Use some of the words in the box, once or more than once.

be cold dry earthquakes east hurricanes ice lightning north rain snow south thunder warm west wet will be winds

Tomorrow will .................. mainly .................., but there .................. some .................. in the north. There .................. be strong .................. from the south-west later in the day. It will be quite .................. in the south, but Scotland .................. cold, and in the .................. of Scotland the rain .................. turn to .................. during the afternoon.

2. Write your own weather forecast for the place where you are.

........................................................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................................................

We usually say I don’t think ... will, NOT I think .... won’t.
I don’t think she’ll be late. (NOT USUALLY I think she won’t be late.)

3. What do you think will happen? Make your own predictions, with I think or I don’t think.

I think it will rain tomorrow. (rain)
I don’t think I’ll get money in the post tomorrow. (get)
1 ...................................... it .................................... tomorrow. (snow)
2 ...................................... I ........................................ a letter from America tomorrow. (get)
3 ...................................... I ........................................ rich in ten years. (be)
4 ...................................... I ........................................ famous in ten years. (be)
5 ...................................... people .................................... English everywhere in the year 2100. (speak)

NOTE: We can say I shall and we shall instead of I will and we will. There is no difference of meaning in modern English. Will is more common.

→ For another use of shall, see page 82. For will in requests, promises etc, see page 29.
will in decisions, promises etc  OK, I'll go.

We can use will when we decide, agree or promise to do things. We don't use the simple present in these cases.

- We'll buy the tickets; you can buy supper afterwards. (NOT We buy...)
- You'll get your money tomorrow. (NOT You get...)
- I promise 'I'll stop smoking. (NOT I promise I stop smoking.)
- I'll hit you if you do that again. (NOT I hit you if...)

We often use will to announce a decision at the moment when we make it.

- *'There's the doorbell.' 'OK, I'll go.' (NOT ...go. )

Won't can be used to talk about refusals.

- He won't talk to anybody.  The car won't start.

1. Complete the sentences with verbs from the box. Use 'll or won't.

Will you ...? can introduce instructions, orders and requests.

Would you ...? is softer, and can be used to make requests more polite.

- Will you get me a paper while you're out?
- Will you be quiet, please?
- Would you watch the children for a few minutes?

2. Use Will you ...? to tell somebody to:

- clean the bathroom.  Will you clean the bathroom?

I'll have a black coffee, please.
which future? will, going to or present progressive?

There are some differences between these three ways of talking about the future. The differences are not always important; often we can use two or three different forms to talk about the same thing.

PLANS
Going to and the present progressive are often both possible when we talk about plans. We use the present progressive mostly for fixed plans with a definite time and/or place.

I'm going to see Ann some time soon. I'm meeting Pat at the theatre at 8.00.
I think John's going to study biology. Sarah's starting university on September 17th.

1 In three of these sentences, the present progressive is possible. Which three? Rewrite them with the present progressive.

Jack is going to arrive at 4.00. I'm going to learn Spanish one of these days.
I'm going to fly to Glasgow tomorrow. Ali's going to tell me about his problems.
We're going to spend next week in Ireland. Are you going to answer those letters?

PREDICTIONS
Going to: we can see the future in the present: we see things coming or starting.
Will: we think or believe things about the future.

Look out! You're going to break that glass! (I can see it now.)
Don't give him a watch - he'll break it. (I think so, because I know him.)

2 Circle the best form.

Mary is going to / will have a baby.

1 Perhaps we are going to / will meet again one day.
2 Be careful, or you are going to / will fall.
3 Look - Andy is going to / will fall off his bike!
4 I think you are going to / will love Scotland.
5 Look at those clouds: it's going to / will rain.

DECISIONS
Will: we are making decisions. Going to: decisions exist now: they are already made.

'Ve've got a letter from Jan.' 'OK, I'll answer it.'
'There are a lot of letters to answer.' 'I know. I'm going to do them all on Tuesday.'

3 Put in I'll or I'm going to.

I've decided. I'm going to ......... stop smoking.
1 'I don't want to cook tonight.' 'All right, then. ....................... cook.'
2 'I haven't got any money.' 'No? OK. ...................... pay.'
3 'Do you want to go out tonight?' 'No, ...................... wash my hair.'
4 'Those trousers are dirty.' 'Really? Oh, yes, they are. ...................... wash them.'
5 'Is Roberta eating with us?' 'Wait a minute. ...................... ask her.'
simple present  My credit card expires at midnight.

We sometimes use the simple present to talk about the future. This happens mostly when we talk about timetables, routines and schedules.

What time does the bus arrive in York?  Do you have classes next Saturday?

1. Choose the best tense.
   - The plane arrives / will arrive at 10.00.
   - I write / will write soon.
   - 1 When does / will school start?
   - 2 We go / are going to Spain some time soon.
   - 3 I stop / will stop smoking after Christmas.
   - 4 The exams are / will be in June.
   - 5 I have / will have a lecture at 9.00 tomorrow.
   - 6 The train won't / doesn't stop at Oxford.
   - 7 I come / will come round after 7.00.
   - 8 I play / am playing football tomorrow.
   - 9 What time does / will the concert end?
   - 10 I post / will post your letters.

’... And please hurry.

My credit card expires at midnight.’

2. Write sentences asking for instructions.
   - You don’t know:
     - when to pay.  ...When do I pay?
     - 1 how to start the car.
     - 2 where to put your coat.
     - 3 who to write to.
     - 4 where to go for the interview.
     - 5 when to apply.
     - 6 how to make spaghetti bolognese.
     - 7 when to start.
     - 8 who to ask.
     - 9 how much to give the driver.
     - 10 where to sign.

3. In other cases we don’t use the simple present in simple sentences to talk about the future.

   Lucy’s coming for a drink this evening. (NOT Lucy comes…)
   I’ll phone you – I promise. (NOT I phone you…)
   There’s the doorbell. I’ll go. (NOT … I go.)

→ For the simple present with a future meaning after if, when, before, after, until and other conjunctions, see pages 241 and 254.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'n, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
future progressive This time tomorrow I'll be skiing.

We can use the future progressive to say that something will be going on at a certain time in the future.

This time tomorrow I'll be skiing. We'll be thinking of you on Saturday.

1 Mr Collins is a teacher. Look at the pictures and say what he will be doing at different times tomorrow. Use expressions from the box.

2 We can use the future progressive to ask politely 'What have you already decided?' Compare:

Will you stay in this evening? (request or order)

Are you going to stay in this evening? (perhaps pressing for a decision)

Will you be staying in this evening? (just asking about plans)

Make future progressive questions to ask somebody politely:

1 what time they are planning to get up.
2 what they plan to wear.
3 how they intend to travel to work.
4 how soon they intend to leave.
5 whether they expect to take the car.
6 whether they plan to have lunch out.
7 what time they intend to come back.
8 where they are planning to sleep.
9 how they intend to pay.
10 when they plan to go back home.
We can talk about the future by saying that something is to happen. We often use this structure to talk about official plans and fixed personal arrangements.

The President is to visit Scotland in September. We are to get a pay rise.
I felt nervous because I was soon to leave home for the first time.

   - 11.30-12.30: Lunch with Foreign Minister Svendsen and guests.
   - 14.00-16.00: Visit inner city schools; open new eye hospital.
   - 16.00-20.00: Meet business leaders; rest.
   - 20.00-23.00: Attend State Dinner as guest of President and Mrs Jensen.

When we are talking about the past, we often want to say that something was still in the future at that time. To express this idea, we can use the past progressive (was …ing), was going to …, would … or was to.

She was a little nervous, because she was flying to America the next day.
Sorry – I was going to tell you about Alice and Fred, but I forgot.
I knew that woman would be trouble.
They showed me the room where I was to sleep. My heart sank.

We can use the future perfect to say that something will have been completed by a certain time in the future.

*The builder says he’ll have finished the roof by Saturday.*

The car will soon have done 100,000 miles.

1 Complete the sentences with the verbs from the box. Use the future perfect.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
SECTION 4 past tenses

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

SIMPLE PAST: I worked, she worked, he didn’t work etc
PAST PROGRESSIVE (or ‘PAST CONTINUOUS’): I was working, she was working, he wasn’t working etc

English has two ‘past’ tenses.
- We use the simple past for complete finished actions. We often use it in stories.
  \[ \text{I sent ten emails yesterday.} \quad \text{A man walked into the library and asked …} \]
- We use the past progressive to talk about actions which were unfinished at a past time.
  \[ \text{‘What were you doing at 10.00 last night?’} \quad \text{‘I was writing letters.’} \]

Past tenses can make requests, questions and suggestions less direct, and so more polite.
\[ \text{I wondered if you were free this evening.} \]
\[ \text{How much did you want to spend, sir?} \]
\[ \text{I was wondering if I could use your phone.} \]

Where did we come from?

Most scientists now believe that our ancestors – the earliest Homo Sapiens – originated in Africa around 200,000 years ago. Perhaps between 80,000 and 60,000 years ago – dates are uncertain – these people gradually started migrating into the rest of the world. Some groups crossed the Red Sea (sea levels were much lower then because water was locked up in large ice caps at the North and South Poles). As these populations grew, they settled further and further along the sea coasts into South Asia and South-East Asia, reaching Australia perhaps 45,000 years ago. Other groups colonised Central Asia, Europe and East Asia, with some populations finding their way across the Bering Strait, perhaps around 15,000 years ago, into North and South America.♦

We use the simple past to talk about a complete action (long or short).
We use the past progressive for actions which were not complete at a past time.

Joe got up at 7.00 and worked from 9.00 to 4.00. At 5.00, when Joe came home, I was reading.

Note the difference when we use the past progressive and the simple past together.
Past progressive: longer action or situation.
Simple past: complete shorter action that happened while the longer action was happening.

While I was cooking supper,

As I was walking down the road,

Ellie phoned.

I saw Bill.

1. Put in the correct tenses.

in some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
We can use when in different ways with past tenses.

When Amy came home, John was cooking supper. (Amy came home during the cooking.)

When Amy came home, John cooked supper. (First Amy came home; then John cooked supper.)

1. Put in the correct tense (simple past or past progressive).
   - When I went out, it .............................................. (rain)
   - When Mary got home, she ...................................... made tea. (make)
   - 1. When I saw Lucas, he ........................................ shop
   - 2. When Ben saw me, he ........................................ stop
   - 3. When we asked them, they ..................................... ‘No’. (say)
   - 4. When I walked in, they ......................................... (talk)
   - 5. When I dropped the glass, it ................................... (break)
   - 6. When I phoned William, he .................................... (work)
   - 7. When the music stopped, everybody ............................ (sit down)
   - 8. When I arrived at the station, I .................................. a taxi. (take)
   - 9. When the police stopped her, she .............................. a gun. (carry)

2. Progressive forms are used mostly for temporary actions and situations. For longer, more permanent situations we prefer the simple past. Compare:

   When I walked in I found that water was running down the walls.

   Explorers believed that the river ran into the Atlantic.

   We do not normally use the past progressive to talk about past habits, or to say how often something happened.

   I played a lot of tennis when I was younger. (NOT I was playing …)
   She rang the bell three times. (NOT She was ringing …)

3. Circle the correct form.
   - When I was at university [went] / was going to a lot of parties.
   - The Marlborough family [lived] / was living in the same house for 400 years.
   - 1. I looked out of the window. A strange man [stood] / was standing in the garden.
   - 2. We took the road that [went] / was going along the river.
   - 3. My sister [took] / was taking the driving test twelve times before she passed.
   - 4. When I got there everybody [danced] / was dancing in the garden.
   - 5. At my school we [played] / were playing rugby in winter and cricket in summer.
   - 6. We started to hurry because it [got] / was getting late.
   - 7. Where I grew up, most people [worked] / were working for the local farmer.
   - 8. She [got] / was getting married four times – twice to the same man.
   - 9. People used to believe that the sun [went] / was going round the earth.
   - 10. When I saw Annie she [went] / was going round the corner to the church.

Remember that some verbs are not used in progressive forms (see page 20).

I tried the cake to see how it tasted. (NOT … how it was tasting.) past tenses in requests etc  I wondered if you were free.

Past tenses can make requests, questions and suggestions more polite. (They sound less direct than present tenses.) Simple past forms are common.

* I wondered if you were free this evening.  How much did you want to spend, sir?

The past modal forms would, could and might are often used in this way.

* I thought it would be nice to have a picnic. Could I ask you to translate this for me?
* You might see if the consulate can help you.

Make these sentences less direct.

1. We wonder if you feel like coming out with us.

   * We wondered if you felt like coming out with us.

2. I think you will like to see my holiday photos.

   * I thought you would like to see my holiday photos.

3. How many days do you intend to stay?

4. Can you give me a hand?

5. We can ask Peter to help us.

6. I think it will be a good idea to invite Simon.

7. I wonder if you need any help.

8. We hope you will stay for dinner.

9. Are you planning to be here next week?

10. Do you want to pay now?

11. Will you tell Annie to come to my office?

12. It may be a good idea to apologise.

Past progressives can be used in the same way.

* I was wondering if I could use your phone.

Change the verbs in italics to make these sentences less direct.

1. I hope you will lend me £10.

2. We wonder if you have two single rooms.

3. Are you looking for anything special?

4. I wonder if I can ask you a small favour.

5. We think it’s time for you to look for a job.

6. I hope you don’t need the car this afternoon.

- When Carl was in China he wrote to Maggie every week. (write)
- When I walked in I turned the music that they were playing out again. (not like; play; walk)

3 Polite past tenses. Circle the most polite forms.

1 We hoped / were hoping you can / could come to dinner tomorrow.
2 I wondered / wondered if you feel / felt like playing something for us.
3 We think / thought you will / would like to hear all about our holiday.
4 How much were / are you thinking of paying?
5 Would / Will you give my best wishes to Sarah if you see her?
6 You’re tired. It might / may be best if I drove / drive.
7 We wondered / were wondering if you were free on Saturday.
8 Were / Are you planning to use the car?

4 Grammar in a text. Complete the text with the verbs in the box (there is one verb too many).

You will need five past progressives and three simple pasts. Use a dictionary if necessary.

SECTION 5  perfect tenses

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

(SIMPLE) PRESENT PERFECT: I have worked, she has worked, he hasn’t worked etc
PRESENT PERFECT PROGRESSIVE: I have been working, he has been working etc
PAST PERFECT: I had worked, she had worked etc
PAST PERFECT PROGRESSIVE: I had been working, he had been working etc

- We use the present perfect to talk about past actions with some importance now.

  I’ve written to John, so he knows what’s happening.

- We use the present perfect progressive mostly to say how long things have been going on up to now.

  I have been baking since breakfast time.

- When we are already talking about the past, we use the past perfect or past perfect progressive to talk about an earlier time.

  Yesterday I found some old postcards that Kate had sent to me from Italy.

  When Ann arrived I had been waiting for 25 minutes.

NOTE: The rules in this section apply to British English. There are some small differences in American English.

why are we getting so much faster?

The Greek athlete Spiridon Louis won the Olympic marathon in 1896 in 2 hours 58 minutes 50 seconds. A little over a century later, the great Ethiopian runner Haile Gebrselassie ran the same distance in less than 2 hours 4 minutes: 30% faster than Spiridon. Women runners have also got faster. In 1926 the woman’s marathon record stood at around 2 hours 55 minutes; in 1979 the Norwegian Grete Waitz broke two and a half hours. And less than a quarter of a century later, the Englishwoman Paula Radcliffe ran a marathon in 2 hours 15 minutes 25 seconds: faster than any man had run up to 1954! There has been similar progress over the last century at all other distances, from the half marathon down to the sprints. Usain Bolt’s 100 metre record of 9.58 seconds, set in 2009, was an improvement of over 9% on the 1912 record. In contrast, horse race results have scarcely changed at all. In spite of all their trainers’ efforts, horses run little faster now than they did a century ago. What is happening? Why are we the only animals that are speeding up?
revise the basics: present perfect forms and use

To make the present perfect, put have/has with the past participle (worked, seen etc).
Regular past participles end in -ed, like simple past forms (for spelling rules, see page 40).
work → worked  hope → hoped  stop → stopped  try → tried
With irregular verbs, the past participle is often different from the simple past form (see page 317).
see → seen  speak → spoken  go → gone  buy → bought

1 Write as many of the irregular past participles as you can. Check them on page 317, and learn the ones that you don't know.
   become  become  begin  begin  break  break  bring  bring  buy  buy come  come  drink  drink  eat  eat  fall  fall  forget  forget give  give  hear  hear  hold  hold  keep  keep  know  know learn  learn  leave  leave  let  let  make  make  pay  pay put  put  read  read  say  say  shut  shut  sit  sit stand  stand  take  take  tell  tell  think  think  write  write

The present perfect connects the past and the present.
We use it especially for finished actions that are important now.
They have results now, or they are news.
I can’t walk – I’ve hurt my leg.  Have you heard? He’s arrived!
Look – he hasn’t drunk his tea.  You’ve passed your exam!

Compare: Brutus killed Caesar. (NOT ... has killed ... – no present importance.)
We can often change a present perfect sentence into a present sentence with more or less the same meaning.
I’ve hurt my leg. = I have a bad leg.  Sue’s come back = Sue is home.
He’s lost his keys. = He can’t find them.  He’s gone = He isn’t here.

2 Change these present perfect sentences into present sentences with similar meanings.
  I’ve cleaned the windows.  The windows are clean.
  1 The Foreign Minister has died.
  2 Lucy’s had a baby.
  3 You’ve torn your coat.
  4 I’ve broken my leg.
  5 He’s lost his address book.
  6 Have you made tea?
  7 I’ve done the washing up.
  8 She’s gone to work for the BBC.
  9 We haven’t found out where he is.
  10 The noise has stopped.
  11 I’ve forgotten your name.
  12 She’s learnt French.
revise the basics: present perfect or simple past?

PRESENT PERFECT: WE THINK ABOUT THE PAST AND THE PRESENT TOGETHER

When we think about the past and present together, we normally use the present perfect.

I've phoned Ann, so she knows what's going on.
I've made coffee. Would you like a cup?
Come and look – I've painted the kitchen.

SIMPLE PAST: WE THINK ONLY ABOUT THE PAST, NOT THE PRESENT

When we think only about the past, we most often use the simple past.

My grandfather worked for a phone company.
(He's dead now; I'm not thinking about the present.)
I made a cake when Liz and Sandra came.
(I'm not talking about the present.)
I painted the living room last week.
(I'm thinking only about last week.)

1 Read the sentences and the questions, and circle the correct answers.

- Claudia has bought a new car. Has she got the car now? YES / PERHAPS
- Susie went to stay with her grandmother. Is she there now? YES / PROBABLY NOT

1. I made coffee. Is there coffee now? YES / PROBABLY NOT
2. Jack has made tea. Is there tea now? YES / PROBABLY NOT
3. Amanda has come to stay with us. Is she here now? YES / DON'T KNOW
4. Mark has gone to work in Ireland. Is he there now? YES / DON'T KNOW
5. Simon and Roger opened a shop. Is the shop still in business? YES / DON'T KNOW
6. Oliver has started French lessons. Is he taking lessons now? YES / DON'T KNOW
7. The dog has run away. Is the dog at home now? NO / DON'T KNOW
8. We sent Pam to the doctor. Is she with the doctor now? YES / NO / PROBABLY NOT
9. Carl lost his glasses. Has he got his glasses now? NO / DON'T KNOW
10. Kate has cut all her hair off. Has she got any hair now? NO / DON'T KNOW

2 Circle the correct verb forms.

1. 'Does Jeff know you're back home?' 'Yes, I told / 've told him.'
2. 'What's Rosie's address?' 'Sorry, I forgot / 've forgotten.'
3. I made / 've made coffee. Would you like some?
4. Look – I bought / 've bought a new jacket.
5. My mother left / has left school at 16.
6. Peter lost / has lost his job, and he's looking for a new one.
7. Julius Caesar never reached / has never reached Scotland.
8. We got / have got to know some very interesting people in America last year.
9. When we were at school we studied / have studied Latin.
10. Who built / has built the Tower of London?
We don’t normally use the present perfect with words for a finished time.

I’ve met a really nice man. (BUT NOT I’ve met a really nice man yesterday.)
A plane has disappeared over the Atlantic. (BUT NOT A plane has disappeared at 3.15 this afternoon.)

1. Circle the words for a finished time.
   two days ago always this year last month never now then today yesterday when?
in 2007 before I was born in my life just after I got up lately when I was nine

2. Correct (√) or not (✗)?
   1. Andy has changed his job. ✓
   2. Sarah has gone to France last week. ✗
   3. John has left home in 2006. ✓
   4. I think everybody has gone now. ...
   5. Lindsay has phoned at 10 o’clock. ...
   6. I’ve seen a good film the other day. ...
   7. Claire has written to me three weeks ago. ...
   8. Sorry – I’ve forgotten your name. ...
   9. The house is empty! What has happened? ...
  10. When have you heard from Peter? ...

We can use the present perfect to ask if things have happened up to now, or to say that they haven’t happened up to now.
This often happens with words for an unfinished time:
for example today, ever, never, yet.

Has the boss phoned today? Have you ever broken your leg?
We haven’t been to Scotland this year.
Mary hasn’t written to me yet.
Recently, lately and before can be used like this.
Have you heard from Phil recently?
‘Who’s that?’ ‘I’ve never seen him before.’

3. Make present perfect sentences.
   1. Eric / pay / for his ticket? Has Eric paid for his ticket?
   2. you / see Carol / today? ..................................................
   3. Simon / come back / from Spain / yet? ............................
   4. the baby / have / anything to eat? .................................
   5. I / not / play / tennis / this year .................................
   6. Alex / speak / to you / lately? ........................................
   7. Rob / never / write to me ...........................................
   8. you / ever / lose / your passport? .................................
   9. my mother / never / travel by air .................................
  10. you / ever / write / a love letter? .................................
  11. I / never / see / an iceberg ...........................................

4. Circle the correct tense.
   1. I haven’t seen / didn’t see much of Al lately.
   2. ‘Who is she?’ ‘I’ve never seen / never saw her before.’
   3. I’ve done / did a lot of stupid things in my life.
   4. She has left / left school last year.
   5. When have you got / did you get married?
   7. I’ve often wondered / often wondered what he does for a living.
   8. He has caught / caught the plane at eight this morning.
   9. I’ve read / read a lot of her books when I was at school.
  10. Have you seen / Did you see any good films recently?
revise the basics: already, yet and just

We often use the present perfect with already (= 'earlier than somebody expected').
Note the word order: already comes after have.

'Coffee?' 'No, thanks. I've already had some.'
'Can I speak to Colette?' 'I'm afraid she's already gone home.'

1 Complete the sentences with already and verbs from the box (present perfect).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>buy</th>
<th>find</th>
<th>leave ✓</th>
<th>read</th>
<th>sell</th>
<th>tell</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

- 'What time's the bus?' 'It's already left.'
- 'Shall I tell Sally?' 'I ... her.'
- 'Do you want the newspaper?' '... it.'
- 'I'll buy milk, shall I?' 'I ... some.'
- Amelia lost her job last week, but she ... a new one.
- 'How much do you want for your car?' '... it.'

We also often use the present perfect with yet (= 'up to now') in questions and negatives.
Note the word order: yet usually comes at the end of a sentence.

'Have you paid the electrician yet?' 'No, he hasn't sent his bill yet.'

2 Make questions and negatives with yet.

1 you / have breakfast ☐ .................................................................
2 Cheryl / find a flat ☐ .................................................................
3 you / finish the painting ☐ .................................................................
4 John / phone ☐ .................................................................
5 Carole / come back from holiday ☐ .................................................................
6 the newspaper / come ☐ .................................................................

And we often use the present perfect with just (= 'a short time ago'). Just comes after have.

I've just heard from the tax office. The snow has just stopped.

3 Write five things that have just happened (in your family, in the world, ...)

- My sister has just got married. A famous pop star has just died.

4 You probably want to do a lot of things in life. Write five things that you haven't done yet.

- I haven't seen a volcano yet.

NOTE: In American English, the simple past is often used with already, yet and just.

'Where's Serena?' 'She went home already.'  'Did you eat yet?' I just had a great idea.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
Some expressions can refer either to an unfinished or to a finished time. The tense depends on the meaning. Compare:

I haven't seen Carl this morning. (said in the morning)
I didn't see Carl this morning. (said in the afternoon)
I've made lots of friends at university. (said by a student)
I made lots of friends at university. (said by an ex-student)

Read the sentences and circle the correct answers.

1. 'A lot of people came to see me in hospital.' Was the speaker in hospital when he/she said this?
   A Yes.  [B] No.
   1 'I didn't enjoy school.' Was the speaker at school when he/she said this?  A Yes.  B No.
   2 'I've been to sleep three times during the lesson.' When did the speaker say this?
   A During the lesson.  B After the lesson.
   3 'I didn't travel much in December.' When did the speaker say this?  A In December.  B Later.
   4 'My computer has crashed three times this morning.' When did the speaker say this?
   A In the morning.  B Later.
   5 'Joseph Adams made many friends during his life.' Was Joseph Adams alive when the speaker said this?
   A Yes.  B No.
   6 'We've had a lot of problems at the club.' Is the speaker a member of the club now?  A Yes.  B No.
   7 'The police called again this afternoon.' When did the speaker say this?
   A In the afternoon.  B Later.
   8 'I spent too much money during the holiday.' Is the speaker still on holiday?  A Yes.  B No.
   9 'Peter has done some very stupid things in his first job.' Is he still in his first job?  A Yes.  B No.
   10 'During her time as President she has done a great deal of good for her country.' Is she still President?
   A Yes.  B No.

We can think of a finished or unfinished time without putting the time in words. Compare:

Did you see 'Hamlet'? (It was on TV last night.)
Have you seen 'Hamlet'? (= Have you ever seen 'Hamlet')

Put in the simple past or present perfect.

1 You ................................ a beautiful baby. (be)
2 I ................................ her latest book. (not read)
3 ................................ India? (you visit)
4 My great-grandmother ....................... in Glasgow. (live)
5 Columbus ......................... America: the native Americans already ................................ where it was. (not discover; know)
6 The company is in trouble; it ......................... a lot of money. (lose)
7 Who ......................... Shakespeare his first job? (give)
8 How many times ......................... in love? (you be)
9 I ......................... a holiday as much as this one. (never enjoy)
10 ' ......................... the thunder?' 'No, nothing wakes me up.' (you hear)

Note the difference between gone to and been to.

Alex has gone to Rome. (He's there now.)  Sorry I'm late. I've been to the shops. (And come back.)
We often use the present perfect to say how much we have done up to now.

I've done six different jobs since Christmas.
I've done no work at all so far (= 'up to now') today.
Joe is saving €20 a week. He started 8 weeks ago. Up to now he’s saved €160.
Benjamin’s been to Africa several times this year.
I’ve climbed a lot of mountains, but I’ve never been up Mont Blanc.

Look at the pictures and complete the sentences.

I have washed up thirty glasses this morning. (wash up)
1 I ........................................ cups of coffee today. (drink)
2 I ........................................ letters since breakfast. (write)
3 I ........................................ books this week. (read)
4 Joe ........................................ kilometres so far this year. (drive)
5 I ........................................ in ......................... different houses in my life. (live)
6 That child ...................... already .................................................. chocolates today. (eat)

Complete the sentences with the present perfect or simple past.

1 I ........................................ a lot of tennis this year. (play)
2 She ........................................ six different jobs since she left school. (have)
3 He ........................................ away from school three times when he was fourteen. (run)
4 How many cups of tea ........................................ today? (you make)
5 In those days, Andrew ........................................ to stay with us most weekends. (come)
6 Shakespeare ........................................ poems as well as plays. (write)
7 Since my brother lost his job, he ........................................ two books. (write)
8 I’m not cooking today – I ........................................ all the meals yesterday. In fact,
   I ........................................ most of the meals this week. (cook; cook)
9 Would you believe I ........................................ twenty-three phone calls today? (make)
10 Our team are rubbish. They ........................................ eight games this year. (lose)

GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: entertainments. Make sure you know all the words in the box. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then write sentences to say how often you have been to the different kinds of entertainment.

the cinema  the circus  the opera  the theatre a rock / jazz / classical music concert  a rock / jazz festival

I’ve been to the circus once in my life. I’ve been to a rock concert twice this year.
I’ve never been to the opera.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
news We’ve found oil in the garden!

We often use the present perfect to give news: to tell people about new things that have happened.

The Prime Minister has arrived in Washington for talks with the President.
Jessica has bought a new car.
A plane has crashed at Heathrow Airport.
Some new people have moved into the house next door.

1 When John Wells arrived home from work, his family gave him a lot of news.
Complete the sentences.

REMEMBER: we don’t normally use the present perfect with words for a finished time.

We’ve found oil in the garden. BUT NOT We’ve found oil in the garden yesterday.
A plane has crashed at Heathrow Airport. BUT NOT A plane has crashed at 3.15 this afternoon.

NOTE: In American English it is quite common to give news with the simple past.

‘Somebody stole my car!’
news and details  A plane has crashed. It came down . . .

1 When we first give news, we often use the present perfect.

2 When we give or ask for more past details, we change to the simple past.

- 7 'Paul’s found a new girlfriend.' ' .................. ?' (where / he / meet her)
- 8 'I’ve given up smoking.' ' .................. ?' (why / you / stop) revise the basics: present perfect progressive; since, for

We make the present perfect progressive with have/has been + ...ing.
We have been living here since April.  John's been working in the bank for three months.
We use the present perfect progressive (with most verbs) to say how long things have been continuing up to now. We do not use a present tense with this meaning.
I've been learning English for four years. (NOT I'm learning English for four years.)
It's been snowing since Tuesday.  Have you been waiting long?

I've been walking all day.

We can say how long with since or for.
We use since when we give the beginning of the time (for example since Tuesday).
We use for when we give the length of the time (for example for three days).
It's been snowing since Tuesday.  It's been snowing for three days. (NOT ... since three days.)
I've been working here since last week.  I've only been working here for a short time.
He's been waiting for a visa since April.  He's been waiting for six months.

2. Put in since or for.

1. .................... two weeks  5. .................... yesterday  9. .................... August
2. .................... Monday  6. .................... lunchtime  10. .................... last week
3. .................... 2006  7. .................... a long time  11. .................... a day
4. .................... eight years  8. .................... two minutes  12. .................... this afternoon

56  PERFECT TENSES
3 Make present perfect progressive sentences. Use for or since.

- Oliver started learning the piano in January. Now it’s May. (for) Oliver has been learning the piano for four months.

- It started snowing on Wednesday. It’s still snowing. (since)
  It’s been snowing since Wednesday.

1 My father started repairing his car on Sunday. Now it’s Friday. (for)

9 I started trying to explain things to her an hour ago. (for)

10 The dog started barking at six o’clock. (since)

4 We can use the present perfect progressive just to say how we have been filling our time (up to now), especially when we talk about present results.

‘You look tired.’ ‘Yes, I’ve been working in the garden.’
I’m sorry dinner isn’t ready – I’ve been helping Diana with her homework.
We’ve been playing a lot of tennis in the last few weeks.

Put together the beginnings and ends of the conversations.

| 0 ‘Aren’t you hungry?’ | A ‘Helen’s been looking at them.’ ...... |

| 9 ‘Your hair’s all white.’ | J ‘Yes, we’ve been telling each other our life stories.’ ...... | present perfect or present perfect progressive?

We use the present perfect mostly for finished actions.
We use the present perfect progressive mostly for unfinished actions continuing up to now (often when we say how long).

PRESENT PERFECT: I have written etc

finished actions

Mike has learnt how to cook spaghetti.
I've read your book. (= I've finished it.)
I've written to John, so he knows everything.

PRESENT PERFECT PROGRESSIVE: I have been writing etc

unfinished actions ➔ now

Jane has been learning Greek since August.
I've been reading your book: I'm enjoying it.
The children have been writing letters all day.

We use the present perfect to say how much or how often. Compare:

We've travelled to nine countries this year.
I've played tennis three times this week.

We've been travelling all this year.
I've been playing a lot of tennis recently.

1 Circle the correct form.

- How long have you learnt / been learning the piano?
- Look! I have bought / been buying a coat.
- It has rained / been raining since Tuesday.
- John has broken / been breaking his leg.
- He hasn't told / been telling me his address.
- How long have we driven / been driving now?

5 Have you ever read / been reading this book?
6 Hello! I've waited / been waiting for you for hours!
7 How long have you sat / been sitting here?
8 How many letters have you written? / been writing?
9 She has learnt / been learning German for six years.
10 She has learnt / been learning most of the irregular verbs.

The present perfect progressive can also be used for longer, more permanent situations. However, we often prefer a simple present perfect, especially when we are talking about unchanged states rather than actions. Compare:

He's been standing there for hours. The castle has stood on this hill for 900 years.

2 Circle the best answer. (Both are correct, but one is more probable.)

1 We've lived / been living in London since January.
2 They've lived / been living in London all their lives.
3 My father has worked / been working here for 47 years.
4 I've worked / been working here for two weeks.
5 Her family has farmed / been farming this land since the tenth century.
6 She has only farmed / been farming for two years, but she's doing very well.
7 John has run / been running the village shop since his father died last year.
8 Alex has run / been running the company since it was founded in 1980.
9 Harris has spent / been spending the last ten years in prison.
10 I've spent / been spending a lot of time with the children recently.
We don’t often use the progressive with be, have (meaning ‘possess’), know and other non-progressive verbs (see page 20).

I’ve been here since Tuesday. (NOT I’ve been being …)
How long have you had your car? (NOT How long have you been having …)
We’ve only known each other for two weeks. (NOT We’ve only been knowing …)

3 Make present perfect questions with How long …?
   - you / be / in this country   ........................................................................
   - you / know / Mike .................................................................
   - you / be / a student ......................................................................
   - your brother / be / a doctor ........................................................
   - Andrew / have / that dog ............................................................
   - David and Elizabeth / be / together ............................................
   - Mary / have / her job ....................................................................
   - your parents / be / married ...........................................................
   - you / know / about Carl’s problem ..............................................

4 Put in the present perfect or present perfect progressive.
   - I ................. these shoes for a year. (have)
   - How long ................. you .......... ? (wait)
   - I ............................................ all day. (snow)
   - We ........................................ this dog since Christmas. (have)
   - Emma ........................................ all day. (work)
   - Matt ...................................... ill this week. (be)
   - How long .......................... Ben? (you know)
   - My hands are dirty, because I ........................................... the car. (repair)
   - I ........................................... my job recently. (not enjoy)
   - George ................................ me in the office since Tuesday. (help)
   - I ........................................ a headache since this morning. (have)
   - Anthony ................................ away for the last few days. (be)

5 How long have you known people? Write sentences.
   - I’ve known my English teacher since September
   - I’ve known .................................. for
   - I’ve ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................

6 How long have you had things? Write sentences.
   - I’ve had these shoes for six months.
   - I’ve had my ........................................ since
   - ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................
   - ..................................................................................

Don’t confuse: How long have you been here (for)? (= ‘Since when …?’) and How long are you here for? (= ‘Until when …?’

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
simple past and present perfect: summary

SIMPLE PAST: I worked/wrote/drove etc

finished actions
- finished actions, no connection with present
  My grandfather worked for a newspaper. I hated school.
- with words for a finished time, like yesterday, in 2002, ago, then, when I saw Ann yesterday. (NOT I have seen Ann yesterday.) Bill phoned three days ago.
  When did you stop smoking? (NOT When have you stopped smoking?)

stories
A man walked into a café and sat down at a table. The waiter asked …

details (time, place etc) of news
The cat has eaten your supper. She took it off the table.
Tim has had an accident. He fell off his bicycle when he was going to work.

(SIMPLE) PRESENT PERFECT: I have worked/written/driven etc

A finished actions
- thinking about past and present together
  I’ve written to John, so he knows what’s happening now. Jane has found my glasses, so I can see again.
- news
  A plane has crashed at Heathrow airport. The Prime Minister has left for Paris.
- up to now: how much/many; how often I’ve drunk six cups of coffee today. My father has often tried to stop smoking.
- up to now: things that haven’t happened; questions; ever and never Mark hasn’t phoned. Has Peter said anything to you? Have you ever seen a ghost? I’ve never seen one.
- already, yet and just ‘Where’s Oscar?’ ‘He’s already gone home.’ Has the postman come yet? ‘Coffee?’ ‘I’ve just had some.’
- NOT with words for a finished time
  I saw Penny yesterday. She’s getting married. (NOT I have seen Penny yesterday.)

B unfinished actions continuing up to now
-especially with be, have, know and other non-progressive verbs
- to say how long (often with since and for)
  How long have you been in this country? We’ve had our car for seven years.
  I’ve known Jake since 1996. (NOT I know Jake since 1996.)

PRESENT PERFECT PROGRESSIVE: I have been working/writing/driving etc unfinished actions continuing up to now (most verbs)

- to say how long (often with since and for)
  Have you been waiting long? I’ve been learning English since last summer.
  We’ve been driving for three hours – it’s time for a rest.

  DON’T use a present tense to say how long.
  I’ve been living here since January. (NOT I’m living here since January.)

- to say how we have been filling our time up to now
  Sorry I haven’t written. I’ve been travelling. ‘You look tired.’ ‘Yes, I’ve been working in the garden.’

- NOT USUALLY to talk about long, unchanging situations
  The castle has stood on this hill for 900 years.
revise the basics: past perfect

To make the past perfect, put had with the past participle (worked, seen, lost etc).

She didn't write to Steve because she'd lost his address. It was a song that I hadn't heard before.

We use the past perfect when we are already talking about the past, and want to talk about an earlier past time.

I bought a ticket and went up to the platform. But the train had already left.

We couldn't understand why Simon hadn't paid for the car. I went into the office. It was empty. Natalie had gone home.
I was glad that I had taken an early flight. Susie wondered if anyone had told Oliver.

1 Circle the correct answers.
   - I didn't have/hadn't have much money after I paid/had paid for the plane ticket.
   - Carl never saw/had never seen a castle before he went/had gone to Europe.
   - No one understood/had understood how the dog got/had got out.
   - I arrived/had arrived at the cinema at 5.30, but the film already started/had already started.
   - Sarah didn't play/hadn't played golf on Saturday because she hurt/had hurt her leg.
   - After I looked/had looked in all the drawers for my keys, I found/had found them in my pocket.
   - I didn't recognise/hadn't recognised Lucy, because she grew/had grown her hair very long.
   - The man told/had told me that he was/had been in Russia a few years before.
   - Everything was/had been white and beautiful, because it snowed/had snowed in the night.
   - Because I didn't make/hadn't made an appointment, the manager refused/had refused to see me.
   - When I did/had done the washing up I sat down/had sat down and read/had read the paper.

2 Put in the simple past or the past perfect.
   - Joe didn't tell anybody where he had gone all that money. (not tell; get)
   - Helen went to Mexico last week. Before that, she had never been outside the US. (go; be)
   - When their mother came home, the children watched the cat. (get; wash)
   - Yesterday I met a man who had worked with my grandmother. (meet; work)
   - I saw her somewhere — I'm not sure. (see; be)
   - Because he had eaten the oil for so long, the car was not checkable. (not check; break down)
   - She couldn't find the book that I had lent her. (lend)
   - They knew where he had hidden the money. (not know; hide)
   - 200 years ago, most people had not travelled very much. (not travel)
   - I had found a letter on my desk that I needed to post. (find; forget)
   - When she came in, we all knew where she had come from. (come; be)
   - The lesson arrived when I already started. (already start; arrive)

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
more about the past perfect  after I had finished

We often use the past perfect with when and after to show that something was completely finished before something else happened.

When he had painted the kitchen and bathroom, he decided to have a rest.
After I had finished the report, I realised that it was too late to email it.

1 Make sentences using the past perfect.

► 1. Jack finished his lunch. 2. He sat down to watch a film. (when)

2 Grammar in a text. Choose the correct tense (simple past or past perfect).

I (go) went .................. to Paris last spring for a job interview; I (1 not be) .................. there for five years. I (2 arrive) .................. the evening before the interview, and (3 decide) .................. to go for a walk. I (4 spend) .................. a happy hour strolling round, thinking about the good times I (5 have) .................. there as a student. As I was walking by the Seine, I suddenly (6 see) .................. a familiar face – it was Nedjma, the woman I (7 share) .................. a flat with when I was a student, and whose address I (8 lose) .................. after leaving Paris. I could tell she (9 not see) .................. me, so I (10 call) .................. her name and she (11 look) .................. up. As she (12 turn) .................. towards me, I (13 realise) .................. that she (14 have) .................. an ugly scar on the side of her face. She (15 see) .................. the shock in my eyes, and her hand (16 go) .................. up to touch the scar; she (17 explain) .................. that she (18 get) .................. it when she was a journalist reporting on a war in Africa.

She (19 not be) .................. uncomfortable telling me this; we (20 feel) .................. as if the years (21 not pass) .................. , as if we (22 say) .................. goodbye the week before. She (23 arrive) .................. in Paris that morning, and she (24 have) .................. a hospital appointment the next day. The doctors (25 think) .................. that they could remove the scar, but she would have to stay in Paris for several months. Both of us (26 have) .................. the idea at the same time: if I (27 get) .................. the job, we could share a flat again. And we could start by having a coffee while we (28 begin) .................. to tell one another everything that (29 happen) .................. to us in the past five years.

SECTION 6 modal verbs

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

| MODAL VERBS: can, could | may, might | shall, should | will, would | must | ought to |

The modal verbs are a special group of auxiliary verbs. We use them before other verbs to express certain meanings – for example permission, ability, possibility, certainty.

Modals have different grammar from other verbs. For example, they have no -s on the third person singular: we say he can, NOT he cans.

Have to, be able to, used to, had better, be supposed to and needn’t are similar to modals in some ways, and they are included in this section.

For will, see pages 28–30.

Modal verbs can be used in a special structure with have + past participle (e.g. should have phoned). This is used mainly to talk about possibilities in the past; the exact meaning depends on the particular modal.

JUMP, BOY!

‘Should we walk upright? Should we continue to live in trees? Should we try to make things? Decisions, decisions!’
revise the basics: the grammar of modals

The ‘modal auxiliary verbs’ are can, could, may, might, shall, should, will, would, must and ought. They are used before other verbs, and in tags and short answers.

‘You can speak Japanese, can’t you?’ ‘Yes, I can.’
‘You shouldn’t be here, should you?’ ‘No, I shouldn’t.’

1 DO IT YOURSELF Compare the modal verbs and the ordinary verbs in the examples, and answer the questions.

1 Which sort of infinitive is used after modal verbs? ...........................................
2 Which is the exception? ...........................................
3 What is special about the third person present (he/she/it ...) of modals? ...........................
4 What is special about the question and negative forms of modals? ............................

2 Use some of the infinitives from the box to complete the sentences.

be | to | be | to do | get | to get | go | to go | leave | to leave | make | to make | move | to move | pass | to pass | phone | to phone | play | to play |
---|----|----|------|-----|-------|----|-------|-------|---------|------|---------|------|---------|------|---------|------|---------|
1 Can you ................... the piano? 6 She hopes ................... a new car.
2 She seems ................... better today. 7 Must you ................... so much noise?
3 I want ................... some shopping. 8 Could you ................... the salt?
4 We may ................... to France soon. 9 We ought ................... Angela.
5 When will you ................... school? 10 I’d like ................... to another house.

3 Make these sentences into questions, and change the pronouns as shown. Example:

I can swim. (you) Can you swim?
1 She can stay here. (I) ...........................................
2 I must go. (you) ...........................................
3 You may sit down. (we) ...........................................
4 They can drive. (she) ...........................................
5 He could do it. (she) ...........................................
6 I would like to. (you) ...........................................
7 They should pay now. (he) ...........................................
8 You must change here. (I) ...........................................
Modal auxiliary verbs have no infinitives or participles. Instead, we use other expressions like be able to, have to, be allowed to.

He'd like to be able to travel abroad more. (NOT He'd like to can ...)
I've never been able to understand maths. (NOT I've never could ...)
I'm sorry to have to tell you this ... (NOT I'm sorry to must ...)
We've had to get new shoes for both the kids. (NOT We've must ...)
She has always been allowed to go out alone. (NOT She has always could ...)

4 Complete the sentences using expressions from the box (once or more than once).

be able to    to be able to    been able to    been allowed to    have to    to have to    had to 1 One day, everybody will ................................ travel where they want.

7 What do you think are the missing words in the cartoon caption?

‘But the good news is that you’ll never ................................ smoke, drink or drive a car again.’
revise the basics: must, should and ought to

Must (not) is used for orders and for strong suggestions, advice and opinions.
Should (not) is used for less strong suggestions, advice and opinions.

You must stop smoking or you’ll die. I really think you should stop smoking.
You must not park here. You shouldn’t park here; somebody will steal your car.
People must realise that the world is in trouble. People should do more to help others.

Ought is similar to should, but is followed by to.

People ought to do more to help others.

---

1. Put in the best word: must or should.
   1. You know, I think you ................. take a holiday.
   2. Tell Mark he ................. tidy his room at once.
   3. Visitors are reminded that they ................. keep their bags with them.

74 MODAL VERBS have to and must

Have (got) to is similar to must.

I have to finish this report before tomorrow. OR I must finish this report before tomorrow.
Do you have to make all that noise? OR Must you make all that noise?
We've got to check in before six o'clock. OR We must check in before six o'clock.

There is sometimes a small (and not very important) difference between must and have (got) to.
Must can be used especially to talk about the feelings and wishes of the speaker/hearer.
Have (got) to can be used especially to talk about obligations that come from somewhere else.
Compare:

I must stop smoking. (I want to.)
I've got to stop smoking – doctor's orders.
Must you wear those dirty jeans? (Is that what you want?)
Do you have to wear a tie at work? (Is there a rule?)
You have to drive on the left in England. (MORE NATURAL THAN You must drive on the left …)

1 Choose the more natural form.
   1 I’m tired. I must / have got to go to bed early.
   2 John must / has got to go to school on Saturdays.
   3 We must / have got to get another dog soon.
   4 ‘This is a great book.’ ‘I must / have to read it.’
   5 Old cars must / have to pass a test every year to make sure they are safe.
   6 We must / have got to go to London for a meeting tomorrow.
   7 I think we must / have to pay in advance.
   8 You really must / have got to visit us soon.
   9 I must / have got to try to spend more time at home.
   10 You must / have got to go through Carlisle on the way to Glasgow.

2 Complete the sentences with expressions from the box and must or have/has (got) to.

- do military service ✓

   7 There’s nothing to eat in the house. We really .................................................................
   8 You ................................................................. You’re beginning to look very strange.
   9 Children can get into the museum free, but adults ................................................................. more sleep.

Must not and do not have to are very different. See page 76.
must not; do not have to; do not need to / needn’t

We use must not in prohibitions (negative orders).
We use do not have to, do not need to (or needn’t) to say that something is unnecessary.

Students must not leave bicycles in front of the library.
Passengers must not speak to the driver.
Friday's a holiday - I don’t have to work. (NOT I mustn’t work.)
You needn’t pay now - tomorrow’s OK. (NOT You mustn’t pay now ...)

had better  You'd better take your umbrella.

Contraction:  I'd better, you'd better etc

||
| I had better go  you had better go  he/she/it had better go etc |
| I had better not go  you had better not go  he/she/it had better not go etc |

I'd better do this is not past or comparative. It means 'This is a good thing to do now.'

We use had better to give strong advice to people (including ourselves.)

You'd better stop that, young lady. (NOT You've better ...)

You'd better take your coat.  I'd better not stay any longer; I've got work to do.

1. Put the beginnings and ends together. Use 'd better with the verbs in the box.

We use both had better and should to say 'This is a good thing to do now.'

We use should, but not had better, to say 'This is a good thing to do in general!'

We're late (now). We'd better phone Mum. OR We should phone Mum.

You should always drive very carefully near schools. (NOT You had better always drive ...)

2. Write 'd better where it's possible; in other places write should.

- I can't move the fingers of my left hand. 'You should see the doctor.'
- Everyone in the world should get enough food to eat.
- 1 If you don't like cats, you ................ not come with us to Alice's house.
- 1 If you see an accident, you ................ make a note of the time.
- 3 Oh, no, look – my car window's broken. I ................ call the police.
- 4 Teachers ................ mark homework and give it back as soon as possible.
- 5 The swimming pool closes in twenty minutes; we ................ go in now.
- 6 People ................ drive more slowly when it's raining.
- 7 Deborah's not well. I ................ go and see her.
- 8 Governments ................ listen to the people.
- 9 My trainers are falling to pieces. I ................ get a new pair.
- 10 The boss is looking for you. You ................ hide.

Had better is quite direct; it is not used in polite requests. Compare:

Could you help me if you've got time? (NOT You'd better help me.)

You'd better help me or there'll be trouble.
supposed to  You’re supposed to start work at 8.30.

We can use be supposed + infinitive to talk about rules: to say what people or things should do.
You’re supposed to start work at 8.30 in the mornings. You’re not supposed to park on double yellow lines.
We can also use be supposed to talk about what people believe or expect.
This stuff is supposed to kill flies. He’s supposed to be rich.
She was supposed to be here an hour ago. Where is she?
That’s a strange picture. What’s it supposed to be?

1 Complete the sentences with (be) supposed to and the expressions in the box.

must/can’t: certainty  She must be in. He can’t be hungry.

We can use must to say that something seems sure/certain.

Anna’s gone to bed. She must be tired. (=’I am certain that she is tired.’)
Look at her clothes. She must have plenty of money. (=’I feel sure that she has plenty of money.’)
If A is bigger than B, and B is bigger than C, then A must be bigger than C.

1. Rewrite the sentences in italics with must.
   - Her light’s on. She’s certainly in.  She must be in.
   1. John’s coming to see me. I’m sure he wants something.  He
   2. Listen to her accent. I feel sure she’s French.
   3. Look at all those books. He certainly reads a lot.
   4. So you’re studying politics. I’m sure that’s interesting.
   5. Are those his shoes? He certainly has very big feet.
   7. Marie keeps crying. I’m sure she has a problem.
   9. They’re always buying new cars. I’m sure they’re rich.
   10. He comes home late every night. I’m sure he has another woman.

1. The negative of must (to talk about certainty) is can’t.
   It can’t be true. (=’It’s certainly not true.’) (NOT it mustn’t be true.)
   She always wears old clothes. She can’t have much money.

2. Rewrite the sentences in italics with can’t.
   - Her light’s out. I’m sure she’s not at home.  She can’t be at home.
   1. Listen to his accent. He is certainly not American.
   2. He has a very expensive car. I’m sure he’s not a teacher.
   3. She’s very bad-tempered. I feel sure she doesn’t have many friends.
   4. I filled up the car yesterday. I’m sure we don’t need petrol.
   5. He had lunch an hour ago. He’s not hungry: it’s impossible.
   6. The cinema’s half empty. I’m sure the film isn’t very good.
   7. You want to marry me? You’re not serious!
   8. You’ve already got 20 pairs of shoes. I don’t believe you want another pair.
   9. She looks very young. It’s not possible that she has six children.
   10. Why are you listening to that music? I’m sure you don’t like that rubbish.

‘She must be blind. She’s smiling.’
We use may and might (but not usually can) to say that things are possible – perhaps they are true, or perhaps they will happen.

‘Who’s that?’ ‘I’m not sure. It may be Celia.’ (NOT can-be-Celia.)

I might go and see Dad at the weekend.
The company might lose money this year.

To say that perhaps things are not true, or will not happen, we use may/might not.

I may/might not get that new job after all.

1 Rewrite the sentences with may (not).
   ► Perhaps you’re right. ...You may be right.
   ► Perhaps we won’t see Bill. ...we may not see Bill.
   1 Perhaps it won’t snow. ........................................
   2 Perhaps we’ll get a dog. ........................................
   3 Perhaps Joe is not well. ........................................
   4 Perhaps Ruth needs money. ...................................
   5 Perhaps the baby’s sleepy. ....................................
   6 Perhaps I won’t move house. ...................................
   7 Perhaps she’s unhappy. ........................................
   8 Perhaps he doesn’t like you. ................................
   9 Perhaps she’s not ready. .......................................
   10 Perhaps I won’t pay. ............................................

Might sometimes suggests a smaller possibility. Compare:

She may be at home. (perhaps a 50% chance)  Tina might be there too. (perhaps a smaller chance)

According to the radio, it may rain today. It might even snow.

Note the difference between may/might not and can’t.

The game may/might not finish before ten. (Perhaps it won’t.)
The game can’t finish before ten – it only started at 9.30. (It’s not possible.)

2 Put in may/might not or can’t.

  1 I’ll go to the supermarket, but it ............... be open.
  2 Their car’s not outside. They ............... be at home; I’m not sure.
  3 ‘Can I see you tomorrow?’ ‘Perhaps. I ............... have time – I’ll see.’
  4 ‘You’ve won first prize in the lottery.’ ‘No, it ............... be true!’
  5 ‘They’ve found giraffes in Scotland.’ ‘That ............... be right.’
  6 We can try to see that play, but they ............... have any tickets left.
  7 He’s got a strong French accent. He ............... be English.
  8 I ............... pass the exam, but I’m hoping for the best.
  9 I’m going to see my old primary school teacher tomorrow, but she ............... remember me.
  10 You ............... want more to eat – you’ve just had an enormous meal.

We sometimes use could in the same way as might.

The company could lose money this year.  It could rain today.

NOTE: There is no contraction mayn’t.
revise the basics: permission, requests etc

We can ask for permission with can, could (more formal or polite) or may (very formal, less common).

Can I ask you a question?  Could I look at your newspaper?  May I sit here?

Can and may can also be used to offer to do things for people.

Can I get you a drink?  May I help you, sir?

1 Ask for permission with can, could or may.
   - talk to you for a minute (can)  Can I talk to you for a minute?
   - leave early (may)
   - use your phone (could)
   - stop work now (may)
   - pay you tomorrow (could)
   - speak to Jane (could)
   - have a beer (can)
   - hang up your coat (may)
   - do your shopping (can)

We can give or refuse permission with can't/cannot or may not.

You can use my car if you want to.  Visitors may park in Elm Road.
I'm sorry, you can't come in here.  Visitors may not park in front of the hospital.

2 Give or refuse permission, using the words in the box.

   - students / this lift (may not)
   - you / these tickets (may)
   - nobody / my horse (can)
   - you / my room (can't)
   - employees / personal phone calls (may not)

We can use can and could to ask people to do things.

Can you put the children to bed?  Could you help me for a few minutes?

3 Make sentences, using the words in the box.

<table>

   - you / feed / could / ?
   - can / it's / you / tell me / when / ?
   - watch / you / for a minute / could / my / ?
   - switch on / you / can / ?

Could you possibly ...? and I wonder if you could ... are very polite.

Could you possibly help me?  I wonder if you could give me some advice?

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
shall in questions  What shall we do?

Shall I/we...? can be used to make offers and suggestions, and to ask for instructions and decisions.

Shall I carry your bag? Shall we go out for a meal?
What on earth shall we do? What time shall we come and see you?

NOTE: We don't use shall in the answers.

'Shall we go home now?' 'Yes, good idea.' (NOT Yes; we shall.)

1 Make sentences with Shall I...?
   ▶ put / the car / in the garage?   Shall I put the car in the garage?
   ▶ what / tell / Sandra?   What shall I tell Sandra?
   1 where / put the coats? ...

2 Can you complete the sentences? (They are from a discussion about holiday plans.)
Use shall we.
   ▶ where?  Where shall we go?
   1 France or Scotland? ...
   2 seaside or mountains? ...
   3 when? ...
   4 how long for? ...
   5 fly? train? drive? ...
   6 stay in one place or travel around? ...
   7 hotel or camp? ...
   8 what do with dogs? ...
   9 take Granny? ...
   10 go with the Jacksons?

WHAT SHALL I DO?
What shall I do with all of your little possessions now that you've gone?
The posters you left on your wall, your five-year-old toys, your comics and discs and computer games.
What shall I do with them all?
The medal you won for the junior chemistry project that you did with Samantha and John. Shall I pack it and send it along?

Your football boots, baseball bats, birthday cards, letters from friends, your guitar with one string. Shall I send them all on?
Now that your new life's begun, what on earth shall we do with your old one? Shall I pack it all up and send it along?

M.S. can and could (ability): past and future

Future: We can use can if we are deciding now what to do in the future.
In other cases, we use will be able to.

I can see you tomorrow morning for half an hour.
One day we will be able to live without wars. (NOT One day we can live ...)

1 Put in can or can't if possible; if not, use will/won't be able to.

- I can pick it up tonight, if that's convenient.
- I think I will be able to speak English quite well in a few months.
- 'We need some more oil.' 'OK, I let you have some this week.'
- 'Dr Parker see you at twelve on Tuesday.' 'Thank you.'
- She walk again in a few weeks.
- Do you think one day people travel to the stars?
- This week's no good, but I bring the car in next week.
- In a few years, computers think better than we do.
- I give you a lesson now, but I manage this evening if you like.
- I'm free at the weekend, so the kids come round.
- I'll post your letter, but the postman read the address.
- We're busy this week, but we repair it by next Thursday.
- I pay on Saturday - I promise.
- Next year when you're 17, you leave school, but you to vote.

Past: We do not use could to say that we managed to do something on one occasion. Instead, we use, for example, managed to or succeeded in ...ing.

I managed to get up early today. (NOT I could get up early today.)
After six hours, we succeeded in getting to the top of the mountain. (NOT After six hours, we could get ...)
BUT: She could read when she was four. (Not one occasion.)
He couldn't find the ticket office. (He didn't manage it.)

2 Complete the sentences with could, couldn't or managed to.

- It was my first marathon. It was too hard, and I finish.
- He did no work at all. I don't know how he pass the exam.

> For could meaning 'would be able to', see 257.
revise the basics: used to

I used to play tennis. I don’t play now.

We use used to + infinitive for finished habits and situations: things that were true, but are not now.

She used to live in Liverpool. Did you use to play football?
I didn’t use to like her. I used not to like her. (More formal.)

Used to … is only past. For present habits, we use the simple present tense.

My sister plays tennis occasionally. (NOT My sister uses to play …)

1 Make sentences about past and present habits and situations.
   ◮ Penny / play badminton / golf  Penny used to play badminton. Now she plays golf.
   1 Anna / have lots of boyfriends / be married
   2 John / study mathematics / physics
   3 Mary / climb mountains / cycle
   4 Joe / be a builder / driver
   5 Gary / work in Germany / England
   6 Claire / live in Scotland / Ireland
   7 I / like meat / prefer fish
   8 We / go to the cinema / watch TV

2 Make sentences with used to and didn’t use to about how people lived hundreds of years ago.
   ◮ read or write  Most people didn’t use to read or write.
   1 travel / by horse
   2 cook / on wood fires
   3 live so long
   4 fight / spears
   5 hunt / bows and arrows
   6 believe / ghosts and devils
   7 be able / vote
   8 think / earth was flat
   9 have / bigger families
   10 children / work

3 Write some sentences about things that you used to or didn’t use to do/think/believe when you were younger.

will and would: typical behaviour
She will talk to herself.

We can use will to talk about habits and typical behaviour.

> She'll sit talking to herself for hours. If something breaks down and you kick it, it will often start working again.

If we stress will, it can sound critical.

> She WILL fall in love with the wrong people.

Would is used to talk about the past.

> On Saturdays, when I was a child, we would all get up early and go fishing. He was a nice boy, but he WOULD talk about himself all the time.

SECTION 7 passives

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

When A does something to B, there are often two ways to talk about it: ‘active’ and ‘passive’.

- We use active verbs if we want A to be the subject.

  My sister makes these toys. Two boys stole my car.

- We use passive verbs if we want B to be the subject.

  These toys are made by my sister. My car was stolen by two boys.

We make passive verbs with be (am, are, is etc) + past participle (made, stolen etc).
Passive verbs have the same tenses (simple present, present progressive, present perfect etc) as active verbs.
For a list of active and passive tenses, see page 318.

Passive verbs have the same tenses (simple present, present progressive, present perfect etc) as active verbs. For a list of active and passive tenses, see page 318.

The subject of a passive verb corresponds to the object of an active verb.

Passive: This house was built in 1486.
Subject: German is spoken in Austria.
Active: They built this house in 1486.
Object: Austrians speak German.

1. Put the expressions from the box in the right places.

| is made ✓ | was made | had been made | was being made | has been made | will be made | is being made |

NOTE: Sometimes we make passives with get instead of be, especially in spoken English.
I get paid on Fridays.
My window got broken by the wind.
2 Make passive sentences.
- A Roman pavement ............... has just been found ............... under Oxford Street. (just find: present perfect)
- Chinese ......................... in Singapore. (speak: simple present)
- The Taj Mahal ......................... around 1640. (build: simple past)
- The new hospital ......................... next year. (open: future)
- She ......................... now. (interview: present progressive)
- I realised I ......................... (watch: past progressive)
- Who ......................... to Andy's party? (invite: present perfect)
- He found that all his money ....................... (steal: past perfect)
- Passengers ......................... to speak to the driver. (ask: simple present)
- The village church ......................... in a fire last year. (destroy: simple past)
- You ......................... by Dr Capel. (examine: future)

3 Put in present progressive or past progressive verbs.
1 'Is my car ready?' 'It ......................... now.' (repair)
2 I kept looking round, because I thought I ......................... (follow)
3 We had to keep very quiet while the students ......................... (examine)
4 I can't use my office this week because it ......................... (paint)
5 'Where's Polly?' 'She ......................... for a new job.' (interview)
6 They say they'll put things right, but nothing ......................... (do)
7 I had to wait for a few minutes while the papers ......................... (translate)
8 Why do I always feel nervous while my passport ......................... ? (check)

4 Put in present perfect or past perfect verbs.
1 'Does everybody know?' 'No, Peter ..........................' (not tell)
2 I couldn't travel to America because my visa ......................... (lose)
3 They didn't give her the money that ......................... (agree)
4 I'm sorry, but next Tuesday's meeting ......................... (cancel)
5 I was shocked to hear that Sheila ......................... (arrest)
6 The Prime Minister ......................... in a car accident. (hurt)
7 According to the newspaper, a Roman statue ......................... in the Thames. (find)
8 When I arrived at the party, everything ......................... (eat)

With a passive, we only use by + noun if we need to say who does the action.

This house was built in 1486 by Sir John Latton.
My computer was made in China. (NOT ... by Chinese people.)

5 Cross out the expression in italics if you feel it gives no useful information.
- A 54-year-old accountant was arrested for drunk driving last night by the police.
- 'Romeo and Juliet' was written by Shakespeare.
- All of these birds have been seen in Britain by people who watch birds.
- Everest was first climbed in 1953 by mountain climbers.
- This house was built by Frank Lloyd Wright.
- My sister's books have been translated into thirty languages by translators.
- Sugar is made from sugar cane and sugar beet by sugar companies.
- This letter wasn't written by an English person.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
passive infinitives and -ing forms to be seen; being seen

PASSIVE INFINITIVES: (to) be watched, seen, made etc
PASSIVE -ING FORMS: being watched, seen, made etc

Many verbs are followed by infinitives or -ing forms (see pages 118 and 124). These infinitives and -ing forms can be passive.

I want to be told the truth. Those people mustn’t be forgotten.
I don’t like being ignored. She loves being photographed.

Note the position of prepositions in these structures.
I want to be listened to. I don’t like being talked about behind my back.

(For more about prepositions with passives, see page 98.)

1 Write sentences using want with passive infinitives.
   - ‘Invite me!’ He ... wants to be invited ....
   1 ‘Remember me!’ He ..........................................
   2 ‘Respect me!’ She ............................................
   3 ‘Elect us!’ They ..............................................
   4 ‘I hope you’ll listen to me.’ She ............................
      He ..............................................................
      She ..............................................................

2 Write sentences using modal verbs with passive infinitives (without to).
   - We mustn’t forget them. They mustn’t be forgotten.
   - We should put this in the fridge. This should be put in the fridge.
   1 You can’t criticise her. She ....................................
   2 You mustn’t fold this. This ....................................
   3 You should keep this cool. ....................................
   4 We ought to tell Ann. ...........................................
   5 They may invite him. .........................................
   6 You can’t send this through the post. ......................
   7 You should open this immediately. .......................
   8 You mustn’t open this before Christmas. ................

3 Write sentences beginning I like / don’t mind / don’t like / hate, with some of the verbs in the box. Use passive -ing forms.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>admire</th>
<th>ask for money</th>
<th>correct</th>
<th>criticise</th>
<th>forget</th>
<th>ignore</th>
<th>interrupt</th>
<th>invite to parties</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>laugh</td>
<td>at listen</td>
<td>to look at</td>
<td>photograph</td>
<td>shout</td>
<td>at</td>
<td>talk about</td>
<td>talk to (by strangers)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

I don’t like being criticised. I don’t mind being photographed.
Passives: verbs with two objects. Susan was given a prize.

Verbs with two objects (see page 143) have two possible active and passive structures.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ACTIVE</th>
<th>PASSIVE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>They gave Susan a prize.</td>
<td>Susan was given a prize.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>They gave a prize to Susan.</td>
<td>A prize was given to Susan.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We choose the structure which fits best with what comes before and after (see page 143).
The structure with the person as subject (e.g. Susan was given ...) is very common.

1. Change the structure.
   - Nothing was sent to me. I was sent nothing.
   - 1 Papers were brought to us to sign.
   - 2 A clock was given to Henry when he retired.
   - 3 Stories were read to the children.
   - 4 £5,000 is owed to me.
   - 5 A new job has been offered to me.
   - 6 French is taught to us by Mrs Lee.
   - 7 A car has been lent to me for the week.
   - 8 A full explanation was promised to us.
   - 9 A lot of lies were told to me by the secretary.
   - 10 Presents are often sent to me by my children.

2. Make passive sentences. Use the words in italics as subjects and verbs.
   - Somebody sent application forms to all the students. (send)
     All the students were sent application forms.
   - Somebody sent application forms to all the students. (send)
     Application forms were sent to all the students.
   - 1 All the passengers received meal tickets. (give)
   - 2 All the passengers received meal tickets. (give)
   - 3 Ellen has seen the plans for the new building. (show)
   - 4 Ellen has seen the plans for the new building. (show)
   - 5 Someone has promised all the office workers a week’s holiday. (promise)
   - 6 Someone has promised all the office workers a week’s holiday. (promise)
   - 7 Someone sent a bill for the repairs to Laura. (send)
   - 8 Someone sent a bill for the repairs to Laura. (send)
   - 9 They did not explain all the facts to the police. (not tell)
   - 10 They did not explain all the facts to the police. (not tell)

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
In passive structures, verb + preposition groups stay together. Compare:

ACTIVE: The doctors operated on her yesterday morning.
PASSIVE: She was operated on yesterday morning.

Take words from each box to complete the sentences. More than one answer may be possible.

heard  looked  operated ✓  paid  played  read  sat  shouted  slept  spoken  talked

† She was taken into hospital today, and she's going to be ........................................... tomorrow.
1. The children like to be ....................................... when they're going to sleep.
2. I don't like being ........................................... behind my back.
3. The new secretary's working very badly. He'll have to be ...........................................
4. I don't think he came home last night. His bed hasn't been ..........................................
5. That antique chair's not really meant to be .............................................
6. It's not really our house yet. It hasn't been ..........................................
7. He left for America in 1980, and he hasn't been ........................................... since.
8. The cat loves being ..........................................
9. He's so shy: it even upsets him to be .............................................
10. Please talk calmly. I don't like being ...........................................

To ask who did something in passive questions, we usually prefer Who ... by?, especially in spoken English.
Who was the cathedral built by?  Who were you invited by?
By whom ...? is also possible, especially in writing.

Make ten questions from the following table.

| Who was | electricity  the film The Birds  the novel Anna Karenina  Hamlet  Happy Birthday to You  penicillin  radio  television  the Eiffel Tower  the Taj Mahal  the Mona Lisa ('La Gioconda')  the planet Neptune  Antarctica  the film Casablanca | built  composed  directed  discovered  invented  painted  written | by? | reasons for using passives

We choose passive or active so that we can start the sentence with the thing or person that we are talking about.

PASSIVE: St Paul's Cathedral was built between 1675 and 1710. It ... (talking about the Cathedral)

PASSIVE: St Paul's Cathedral was built by Christopher Wren. It ... (talking about the Cathedral)

ACTIVE: Christopher Wren built St Paul's Cathedral. Then he ... (talking about Christopher Wren)

     - Write about Shakespeare.
     - Shakespeare wrote 'Hamlet' in 1601.
     - Write about 'Hamlet'.
     - 'Hamlet' was written by Shakespeare in 1601.
   - 1 this sweater / Polly’s mother / make
     - Write about Polly’s mother.
     - Write about this sweater.
   - 2 Carla / the electricity bill / last week / pay
     - Write about Carla.
     - Write about the electricity bill.
   - 3 the first television / J. L. Baird / 1924 / build
     - Write about the first television.
     - Write about J. L. Baird.

---

2. We choose passive or active to continue talking about the same thing or person.

   - Spanish is a useful language for travelling. It is spoken in most of Central and South America.

King of the Dream Country

When I arrived in the Dream Country I (1 take) ......................... straight to the Palace. There I (2 tell) ......................... that I was the Great King who (3 expect) ......................... for many years. ‘All your commands,’ they said, ‘(4 carry out) ......................... immediately. Your most extravagant wishes (5 fulfill) .........................’

I tried a small test. ‘Bring me a monkey on a solid gold bicycle,’ I said. A monkey on a solid gold bicycle (6 bring) ......................... at once. ‘OK,’ I said. ‘I’ll do it.’ ‘There is just one condition,’ they said. ‘For the next twelve months you will be all-powerful. But a year from today you (7 sacrifice) ......................... to the gods.’ ‘OK,’ I said. ‘No problem.’

I had a great time. Everything I wanted (8 bring) ......................... to me at once. I (9 attend) ......................... by beautiful women, I (10 give) ......................... delicious food and wine, and I (11 dress) ......................... in wonderful clothes and priceless jewellery. My favourite music (12 play) ......................... by the palace orchestra from morning to night. The whole country (13 govern) ......................... exactly as I commanded.

But time passed quickly. One day soldiers came to the Palace. ‘Great King,’ they said. ‘The year is over. Today you (14 sacrifice) ......................... to the gods.’ ‘OK,’ I said. ‘No problem.’

With great ceremony I (15 take) ......................... to the temple at the top of the mountain. My clothes (16 remove) ......................... , and I (17 make) ......................... to lie on a massive stone altar. The High Priest stood over me with an enormous knife. ‘Great King,’ he said. ‘Prepare (18 sacrifice) .........................’

So I woke up. That fooled them.

SECTION 8 questions and negatives

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

To make questions, we normally put an auxiliary verb (be, have, can etc) before the subject.

The bus has left. → Has the bus left?  She's crying. → Why is she crying?

To make negatives, we put not or n't after an auxiliary verb.

It is raining. → It is not raining.  I could see. → I couldn't see.

If there is no other auxiliary verb, we use do.

I work in Sheffield. → Where do you work?  He said 'No'. → What did he say?
She likes ice cream. → She doesn't like ice cream.

We do not use do when a question word is the subject.

What happened? (NOT What did happen?)

Prepositions often come at the end of questions.

What are you thinking about?  Where's she from?

Negative questions can have two possible structures.

Is she not ready? (very formal)  Isn't she ready? (informal)

No is used before nouns and -ing forms to mean 'not any'.

There's no bread left.  NO SMOKING

'Was the train very crowded, dear?'

'I married you for your money, Leonard. Where is it?'
In questions, we normally put an auxiliary verb before the subject.

Have you seen Isabel? (NOT You have seen Isabel?)

When can I pay? (NOT When I can pay?)

Why are those men laughing? (NOT Why those men are laughing?)

If there is no other auxiliary, we use do.

What does 'gaunt' mean? (NOT What means 'gaunt'?)

We do not use do with other auxiliaries or with be.

Can you tell me the time? (NOT Do you can ...?)

Are you tired?

After do, we use the infinitive without to.

What does she want? (NOT What does she to want? OR What does she wants?)

Did you go out last night? (NOT Did you went ...? OR Did you to go ...?)

Correct the mistakes.

1. How you pronounce ‘write’? **
2. She is happy?
3. What he thinks?
4. Did you saw Max?
5. Where can I to sit down?
6. Do you can speak Arabic?
7. What means ‘vast’?
8. Where you went?
9. Why she is crying?
10. What I must to do now?

We only put an auxiliary verb before the subject, not the whole verb.

Is your father coming tonight? (NOT Is coming your father tonight?)

Where are the President and his family staying? (NOT Where are staying ...?)

Make questions.

- The 7.30 train for London leaves from platform 2.

- Does the 7.30 train for London leave from platform 2?

1. Jane and her mother will be staying in Ireland.
2. John and Susan want to play golf on Saturday.
3. The Sunday newspapers have arrived.
4. The secretary from the accounts office has telephoned.
5. The big man with the grey beard said something.
6. Mrs Potter’s two boys played football.
7. The people who were sitting at the back of the bus were singing.
8. Sally’s planted all those flowers that she bought.

Note that do may come twice in questions: as an auxiliary verb and as a main verb.

What does your father do? What did you do at university?
Common question expressions before nouns:
what colour, what size, what make of, what sort/kind/type of.

What colour
What colour eyes has she got? (ALSO POSSIBLE: What colour are her eyes?)
What size
What size shoes do you wear?
What make of
What make of car did you buy? What sort of
What sort of music do you like?

Note that we usually ask What time...?, NOT At what time...?

What time
What time does the train get in?

3. Complete the questions with a suitable expression.

   - What colour
     curtains shall we have in the kitchen?
   1. .......................................................... jeans do you wear?
   2. .......................................................... hair has the baby got?
   3. .......................................................... books do you read?
   4. .......................................................... mountain bike do you recommend?
   5. .......................................................... food do you like?
   6. .......................................................... shirt do you need?
   7. .......................................................... TV is the best?
   8. .......................................................... fridge shall we get?
   9. .......................................................... books does she write?
   10. ............................................................. is the concert?

Note the difference between how? and what ... like?
We use how? mostly to ask about things that change – e.g. moods, health, work.
We use what ... like? mostly to ask about things that don't change – e.g. people's character and appearance. Compare:

   'How's Joe?' ‘He's very well.’
   'What's Joe like?' ‘Tall, good-looking, a bit shy.’

   'How does she seem today?' ‘Much happier.’
   'What does your sister look like?' ‘Short, dark and cheerful-looking.’

4. Make questions with How or What ... like.

   - What's your flat like?
     'Small but very comfortable.'
   1. .................................................................. (the new teacher) 'Not much good.'
   2. .................................................................. (your mother?) 'Fine, thanks.'
   3. .................................................................. (work going?) 'Not very well at the moment.'
   4. .................................................................. (business?) 'Terrible.'
   5. .................................................................. (Anne's boyfriend?) 'Not very nice.'
   6. .................................................................. (school?) 'Much better now.'
   7. .................................................................. (Manchester?) 'An interesting place.'
   8. .................................................................. (things at home?) 'OK, I suppose.'
   9. .................................................................. (your village) 'Very quiet.'
   10. .................................................................. (the neighbours) 'A bit strange.'
question-word subjects

Who won? What happened?

When who and what are subjects, we make questions without do/does/did. Compare:

'Who

\[ \text{Who} \text{SUBJ won?} \quad ' \text{United} \text{SUBJ won.' (NOT 'Who did win?)} \]

\[ \text{Who} \text{OBL did you tell?} \quad ' \text{I told AnnaOBL.'} \]

\[ \text{What} \text{SUBJ happened?} \quad ' \text{Something} \text{SUBJ nice happened.' (NOT 'What did happen?)} \]

\[ \text{What} \text{OBL he say?} \quad ' \text{He said somethingOBL nice.'} \]

The same thing happens when subjects begin with which, what, whose or how much/many.

\[ \text{Which team won? (NOT Which team did win?)} \quad \text{What country} \text{ hosted the 1928 Olympics?} \]

\[ \text{How many families} \text{ live here? (COMPARE How many familiesOBL do youSUBJ know?)} \quad \text{Whose child} \text{ broke that window?} \]

Write five questions to test somebody's general knowledge.

1 Who wrote ................................................................. ?
2 Who built ................................................................. ?
3 Who invented ........................................................... ?
4 Who discovered ........................................................ ?
5 Who said ................................................................. ?
prepositions in questions
What are you thinking about?

Prepositions often come at the end of questions. With whom ... ?, For what ... ? etc are unusual and very formal. We usually prefer Who ... with?, What ... for? etc.

Who did you go with?  What did you say that for?

1 Write questions for these answers, using 'Who ... ?' or 'What ... ?'

- 'I went with my sister.'  Who did you go with?
- 'I'm thinking about my exams.'
- 'I bought it from Janice.'
- 'She sent it to the police.'
- 'I'll carry it in a paper bag.'
- 'You can eat it with a spoon.'
- 'She hit him with her shoe.'
- 'My father works for Shell Oil.'
- 'I made it for you.'
- 'The book's about Egypt.'
- 'I was talking to Patrick.'

2 Write questions for these answers, using 'Who ... ?' or 'What ... ?'

- 'Soup.' (starting)  What are you starting with?
- 'A bus.' (waiting)
- 'The future.' (worried)
- 'Films.' (talking)
- 'The manager.' (want to speak)
- 'Universal Export.' (work)
- 'A strange bird.' (looking)
- 'My keys.' (looking)
- 'Travel and music.' (interested)
- 'My mother.' (writing)
- 'Life.' (thinking)

In conversation, we often ask short questions with Who/What/Where + preposition.

'I'm going to France.'  Who with?  We need to talk.  What about?

3 Complete the conversations with two-word questions.

- 'I'm writing a poem.'  What about?  Lost love.
- 'I've had a strange letter.'  My American friend.
- 'I've bought some chocolates.'  You.
- 'We're thinking of moving.'  Ireland.
- 'Joanne's in love again.'  A policeman.
- 'Carola's got engaged.'  To my cousin Robert.
- 'I'm really worried.'  Everything.
- 'We went to Spain in May.'  Harry and Lydia.
- 'I'm still waiting.'  The phone call they promised two hours ago.
- 'I managed to open the lock.'  A piece of bent wire.
- 'I've cleaned the sofa.'  Furniture polish.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
revise the basics: negatives

To make negative verb forms, we put not or n't after an auxiliary verb or be. (Note: won’t = ‘will not’).

We have not forgotten. She can’t swim. It wasn’t raining. I won’t tell anybody.

If there is no other auxiliary, we use do.

I don’t like the soup. (NOT I like not the soup.)

We do not use do with other auxiliaries.

You mustn’t worry. (NOT You don’t must worry.)
I haven’t seen him. (NOT I don’t have seen him.)

After do, we use the infinitive without to.

I didn’t think. (NOT I didn’t to think / thinking / thought.)

1 Correct these sentences by making them negative.
   - Karl Marx discovered America. Karl Marx didn’t discover America.
   1 Shakespeare was French.
   2 Austrians speak Japanese.
   3 Roses are green.
   4 Cats can fly.
   5 George Washington lived in Russia.
   6 Fridges run on petrol.
   7 The sun goes round the earth.
   8 Telescopes make things smaller.
   9 There are seventeen players in a rugby team.
   10 Bananas grow in Scotland.

In standard English, we do not use not or do with other negative words like never, hardly, nothing. (But this is common in some English dialects.)

He never works. (NOT He does never work. OR He doesn’t never work.)
It hardly matters. (NOT It doesn’t hardly matter.)
He said nothing. (NOT He didn’t say nothing.)
I’ve got no money. (NOT I haven’t got no money.)

2 Make the sentences negative.
   - I eat fish. (not) I don’t eat fish.
   - I eat fish. (never) I never eat fish.
   - Somebody spoke. (nobody) Nobody spoke.
   1 I like your new glasses. (not)
   2 I understood. (nothing)
   3 Something happened. (nothing)
   4 Sally likes dancing. (not)
   5 Somebody wants to sing. (nobody)
   6 There’s somewhere to sit down. (nowhere)
   7 My mother drives fast. (never)
   8 I go out. (hardly)
   9 We’ll get there. (never)
   10 We’ll get there. (not)
Note the difference between not and no.
We use not to make a word, expression or clause negative.
Not surprisingly, we missed the train. (NOT No surprisingly ...)
I can see you tomorrow, but not on Thursday.   I have not received his answer.
We use no with a noun or -ing form to mean 'not any' or 'not a/an' (see page 171).
No teachers went on strike. (= There weren't any teachers on strike.)
I've got no Thursdays free this term. (= ... not any Thursdays ...)
I telephoned, but there was no answer. (= ... not an answer.)

NO SMOKING

3 Put in not or no.
- We speak German in the office, but not at home.
- There's no parking in this street.
  1 Sorry, I can't pay. I've got money.
  2 She was able to understand him.
  3 They had butter left in the shop.
  4 They repaired my watch, but properly.
  5 We've got time to talk now.
  6 I can come round, but tonight.
  7 They did want to help.
  8 'Do you smoke?' 'usually.'
  9 She's a woman with sense of humour.
  10 MUSIC AFTER 10 O'CLOCK.

4 Correct the mistakes.
- We are ready.
  1 You don't must park here.
  2 I understand not.
  3 They didn't go nowhere.
  4 We were no very happy.
  5 I don't never eat meat.
  6 We didn't waiting.
  7 I don't hardly watch TV.
  8 She not phoned.
  9 I speak Arabic, but no well.
  10 I didn't see nothing.

5 GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: words for people who can't do things.
Put the beginnings and ends together. Use a dictionary if necessary.

'Aren't I next?'  'No, I am.' (BUT NOT I aren't next.)

1. Make these questions more conversational.
   - Are you not well?  Aren't you well?
   - 1. Can you not swim? ..........................................
   - 2. Do you not speak Spanish? ..................................
   - 3. Were the shops not open? ..................................
   - 4. Has Ann not arrived? .........................................
   - 5. Did she not know him? .......................................
   - 6. Why are you not working? ..................................
   - 7. Has the postman not come? .................................
   - 8. Is your mother not at home? ...............................
   - 9. Are you not ready yet? .....................................
   - 10. Do they not understand? ..................................

We often use negative questions to check that something has not happened, is not true etc. The meaning is like Is it true that ... not ...?

Don't you feel well?  Oh dear. Can't they come this evening?

Negative questions can also express surprise that something has not happened, is not happening etc.

Hasn't the postman come yet?  Didn't she tell you she was married?

This may sound critical.

Can't you read? It says 'closed.'  Don't you ever listen to what I say?

2. Use negative questions to confirm the following ideas.
   - It looks as if she can't swim.  Can't she swim?
   - 1. It looks as if you don't believe me. ..........................
   - 2. Is it true that she didn't pass the exam? ..................
   - 3. I believe you may not have paid for your ticket. ......
   - 4. I think perhaps you didn't lock the door. ...............
   - 5. It seems as if you can't understand English. I said 'No'.
   - 6. I'm afraid you don't like my cooking. .....................
   - 7. Perhaps you didn't get the letter I sent. ...............
   - 8. So you didn't enjoy the film? ..............................
   - 9. Is it true that you and John aren't going to get married?
   - 10. It seems that you don't want any more potatoes. ....
We can use negative questions in another way, to make sure that something is true.

_Didn’t you go_ and see Peter yesterday? _How is he?_ (= ‘I believe you went and saw Peter . . .’)

3 Make negative questions to make sure that these things are true.

- I think you went to Scotland last week. _Didn’t you go to Scotland last week?_
  1. I think you speak Arabic. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  2. I think that’s Bill over there. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  3. I believe you studied at Oxford. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  4. This is your coat, I think. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  5. I think her mother is a doctor. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  6. I thought Joe was at the party. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  7. I think you’re hot in that sweater. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  8. I think you got a letter from Harry. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  9. I believe they lost money last year. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
10. She’s Irish, surely? ...................................................................................

We can use negative questions as exclamations.

_Isn’t it cold!_  _Doesn’t your hair look nice!_  _Weren’t those children noisy!_

4 Make exclamations.

- It’s surprising. _Isn’t it surprising!_ .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  1. They’re stupid. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  2. She looks tired. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  3. That child is dirty. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  4. It’s hot. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  5. John works hard. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  6. That film was terrible. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  7. He’s funny. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  8. It’s a pity. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
  9. She complains. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................
10. Those flowers smell nice. .......................................................... .......................................................... ..........................................................

We can use negative questions in polite invitations.

_Won’t you come in?_  _Wouldn’t you like something to drink?_

_But we do not use negative questions to ask people to do things for us._

_Can you help me?_  _You couldn’t help me, could you?_

_BUT NOT Can’t you help me? (This sounds like a criticism.)_

Notice how we use _Yes_ and _No_ in answers to negative questions.

_‘Yes’_ goes with or suggests an affirmative verb, and _‘No’_ goes with or suggests a negative verb.

‘Don’t you like it?’  ‘Yes (I like it.)’  ‘Aren’t you ready?’  ‘No (I’m not ready.)’

5 Add _Yes_ or _No_ to the answers.

- ‘Aren’t you ready?’  ‘Yes, I am.’
- ‘Don’t you like her?’  ‘Yes, I don’t.’
- ‘Can’t you help me?’  ‘No, I can’t.’
- ‘Isn’t this nice?’  ‘Yes, it is.’
- ‘Hasn’t she paid?’  ‘Yes, she has.’
- ‘Wasn’t he at home?’  ‘No, he was.’
- ‘Didn’t she phone?’  ‘Yes, she didn’t.’
- ‘Isn’t she coming?’  ‘No, she isn’t.’
- ‘Aren’t you tired?’  ‘Yes, I am.’
- ‘Didn’t Max ask you?’  ‘Yes, he did.’
- ‘Can’t you find your keys?’  ‘Yes, I can’t.’

‘Haven’t you brought any vegetables with it?’

_QueStions and Negatives_ 111
1 Question word subjects and objects. Complete the questions.

- 'I saw some policemen.' 'How many police officers did you see?'
- 'One of these buses goes to York.' 'Which bus goes to York?'

112 QUESTIONS AND NEGATIVES
Grammar in a text. Read the text, and then write questions for the answers.

In a small village in North Yorkshire, there's a big old farmhouse where three families live together: Alice and George and their three children, Joe and Pam and their two children, and Sue and her baby daughter. The adults divide up the work between them. George does the cooking, Joe and Sue do most of the housework, Pam looks after the shopping and does the repairs, and Alice takes care of the garden. Alice, George and Sue go out to work; Joe works at home designing computer systems, and Pam, who is a painter, looks after the baby during the day. Two of the children go to school in the village, but the three oldest ones go by bus to the secondary school in the nearest town, ten miles away.

The three families get on well, and enjoy their way of life. There are a few difficulties, of course. Their biggest worry at the moment is money – one of the cars needs replacing, and the roof needs some expensive repairs. But this isn’t too serious – the bank has agreed to a loan, which they expect to be able to pay back in three years. And they all say they would much rather go on living in their old farmhouse than move to a luxury flat in a big city.

1. Two. How many children have Joe and Pam got?
2. The cooking. What does George do?
3. In North Yorkshire.
4. Sue has.
5. The housework.
6. The garden.
7. At home.
8. Computer systems.
9. She’s a painter.
10. Two of them.
11. By bus.
12. In the nearest town.

Read the text again and write questions for these answers.
1. George does.
2. Joe and Sue.
3. Pam does them.
4. Alice.
5. Money.
6. One of the cars.

SECTION 9  infinitives and -ing forms

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

INFINITIVES:  (to) see, (to) go, (to) break etc
-ING FORMS (ALSO CALLED ‘GERUNDS’):  seeing, going, breaking etc

Infinitives often have to before them; but not always.
I want to go home, but I can’t go now.

Negative infinitives are made with not (to).
I told her not to pay.

Besides ordinary infinitives, there are also progressive, perfect and passive infinitives.
I’d like to be lying on the beach now.  You ought to have told me.
He can be found in the café most afternoons.

We can use infinitives to say why we do things.
I got up early to say goodbye to Miriam.

We often use -ing forms as subjects.
Smoking is dangerous. (More natural than To smoke is dangerous.)

If we use infinitives as subjects, we prefer a structure with it. (See page 147.)
It’s dangerous to smoke.

After some verbs we use infinitives; after others we use -ing forms.
I expect to meet John tomorrow. (NOT I expect meeting …)
I’ll finish painting in a minute. (NOT I’ll finish to paint …)

We can use infinitives after some adjectives and nouns.
We’re ready to stop.  I’m glad to be here.  I’ve got work to do.

After prepositions we use -ing forms, not infinitives.
You can’t live without eating. (NOT … without to eat.)
I usually watch TV before going to bed. (NOT … before to go to bed.)

‘There are three rules for writing the novel. Unfortunately, no one knows what they are.’
(W Somerset Maugham)

‘To be or not to be, that is the question.’
(Shakespeare, ‘Hamlet’)

‘Writing is easy; all you do is sit staring at a blank sheet of paper until the drops of blood form on your forehead.’
(Gene Fowler)

(Traditional)

‘Writing a book of poetry is like dropping a rose petal down the Grand Canyon and waiting for the echo.’
(Don Marquis)

‘Beethoven tells you what it’s like to be Beethoven and Mozart tells you what it’s like to be human. Bach tells you what it’s like to be the universe.’
(Douglas Adams)

‘A hen is only an egg’s way of making another egg.’
(Samuel Butler)
revise the basics: infinitive with and without to

We normally put to before an infinitive. Negative infinitives have not to.

I want to have a rest. (NOT I want have a rest.) I decided not to go to Scotland. (NOT ... to not go ...)

We use an infinitive without to after the auxiliary do.

I didn’t know her address. (NOT I didn’t to know.)

And we use an infinitive without to after the modal verbs can, could, may, might, must, shall, should, will and would, and after had better and needn’t. (BUT NOTE ought to).

Could you help me? (NOT Could you to help me?) You should try to forget about it.

‘Can you stay for supper?’ ‘No, thanks, I’d better go home.’ You needn’t worry. We ought to stop.

Note also the structure with Why (not) …?

Why worry? Why not give him socks for Christmas?

revise the basics: infinitive of purpose

We can use an infinitive to say why somebody does something.

She sat down to rest. (NOT ... for-rest. OR ... for-resting.)

1 Write sentences to say why people go to the following places. Begin You go ...
(Different answers are possible.)

- a library  You go to a library to borrow books.
- 1 a bookshop
- 2 a bank
- 3 a cinema
- 4 a theatre
- 5 a swimming pool
- 6 a gym
- 7 a driving school
- 8 a station
- 9 an airport
- 10 a travel agent
- 11 a church
- 12 a football stadium
- 13 a post office
- 14 a restaurant
- 15 a supermarket

2 Write a sentence to say why you are learning English. (To get a better job? To study something else? To travel? To ...?)

3 GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: cooking. Make sure you know the words in the box.
Use a dictionary if necessary. Then complete the sentences.

VERBS: bake boil cut fry measure mix weigh

- You use a measuring jug to measure water, milk etc.
- 1 You use scales things.
- 2 You use a saucepan things.
- 3 You use a frying pan things.
- 4 You use a bowl things.
- 5 You use a knife things.
- 6 You use an oven things.

In order to ... and so as to ... are common before be, know and have; and before other verbs in a more formal style.

I got up early in order to be ready to leave at eight.
She studied English in order to have a better chance of getting a job.
I came to Britain so as to know more about British culture.
In order and so as are very common before not to.
I spoke quietly so as not to frighten her. (MORE NATURAL THAN I spoke quietly not to frighten her.)

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
Some verbs are followed by the infinitives of other verbs. Example: want.

I want to play in goal. (NOT I want playing in goal.)

Some verbs are followed by the -ing forms of other verbs. Example: enjoy.

I enjoy playing in goal. (NOT I enjoy to play in goal.)

(For spelling of -ing forms, see page 16.)

1 DO IT YOURSELF Ten of these verbs are followed by infinitives and six are followed by -ing forms. Do you know which? Check in a good dictionary if necessary.

revise the basics: preposition + -ing form

We use -ing forms after prepositions.

You can only live for a few days without drinking. (NOT ... without to drink.)
Teachers need to be good at listening. I'm thinking of changing my job. (NOT I'm thinking to change my job.)

1 Change the sentences, using prepositions and -ing forms.
   ▶ I'm thinking that I might get married. (thinking of)
      I'm thinking of getting married.

   1 I'm thinking that I might go to Australia. (thinking of)
   2 Working with children interests me. (interested in)
   3 I listen to her all day and I'm tired of it. (tired of)
   4 She paints well. (good at)
   5 I'm not a good listener. (bad at)
   6 It was very kind of you to help me. (Thank you for)
   7 I stayed in bed. I didn't go to work. (instead of)
   8 You can't live if you don't eat. (without)
   9 We said we might have a party. (talk about)
   10 He passed the exam although he did no work. (in spite of)

2 Write some sentences about yourself using prepositions and -ing forms.
   1 I'm thinking of
   2 I've often thought of
   3 I've never thought of
   4 I'm quite good at
   5 I'm not very good at 6 I'm bad at 7 I'm interested in
   8 I'm not interested in
   9 I couldn't live without
   10 I could easily live without

\[\text{INFINITIVES AND -ING FORMS 119}\] more about infinitives: to sit, to be sitting, ...

There are simple, progressive, perfect and passive infinitives, with and without to.

- SIMPLE:
  - I want to see the manager.
  - It may rain.

- PROGRESSIVE:
  - It's nice to be sitting here.
  - You must be joking.

- PERFECT:
  - I'm glad to have seen her.
  - She could have told us.

- PASSIVE:
  - She likes to be liked.
  - It will be posted today.

There are also perfect progressive and perfect passive infinitives.

- PERFECT PROGRESSIVE:
  - I'd like to have been sitting there when she walked in.

- PERFECT PASSIVE:
  - You could have been killed.

Negative infinitives are made with not (to).

- Try not to be late. (NOT Try to don't be late.)
- I'm sorry not to have phoned. (You should not worry.)

1 Put in the right kind of infinitive.

1. I ought ................................ right now. (work)
2. Your watch will ................................ by Tuesday. (repair)
3. I'd like ................................ home early today. (go)
4. I'd like ................................ her face when she opened the letter. (see)
5. She must ................................ a shower – I can hear the water running. (have)
6. It's important ................................ to people. (listen)
7. She hopes ................................ for the national team. (choose)
8. Try ................................ back late. (not be)
9. You should ................................ me you were ill. (tell)
10. He doesn't like ................................ while he's working. (interrupt)

2 Say what you think the woman in the pictures is doing.

Begin She could/may/must be ... ing or She seems to be ... ing.

- She seems to be cycling ................................ 4
- ................................ 5
- ................................ 6
- ................................ 7
perfect infinitives: to have gone etc

Perfect infinitives have the same kind of meaning as perfect or past tenses.

- I'm glad to have left school. (= ‘... that I have left school.’)
- She was sorry not to have seen Bill. (= ‘... that she had not seen Bill.’)
- We hope to have finished the job soon. (= ‘... that we will have finished ...’)
- I seem to have annoyed Anne yesterday. (= ‘It seems that I annoyed ...’)

1. Rewrite these sentences using perfect infinitives.

   1. I’m glad I’ve met you.
   2. I was sorry I had disturbed him.
   3. I expect I’ll have passed all my exams by June.
   4. It seems that you made a mistake.
      You seem ………………………………………………………………………………………………………………………………………………….
   5. I’m happy that I’ve had a chance to talk to you.
   6. I was disappointed that I had missed the party.
   7. It seems that she’s got lost.
   8. She was pleased that she had found the house.

With was/were, would like and meant, perfect infinitives often refer to unreal situations that are the opposite of what really happened.

He was to have gone to art college but he fell ill. (He didn’t go.)  I meant to have telephoned but I forgot.
I’d like to have been sitting there when she walked in. (I wasn’t there.)

2. Rewrite the sentences.

   - She didn’t marry a friend of her parents. (was to)
     She was to have married a friend of her parents.
   1. I didn’t see his face when he realised what had happened. (would like to)
   2. He didn’t finish all his work by three o’clock. (mean)
   3. We didn’t spend a week skiing. (were to)
   4. It wasn’t the happiest week of my life. (was to)
   5. She didn’t say goodbye to everybody before she left. (mean)
   6. I didn’t live in the seventeenth century. (would like)
   7. He didn’t play in the Cup Final. (was to)

   → For perfect infinitives after modal verbs (e.g. should have gone), see pages 86–88.
   → For perfect infinitives in sentences with if (e.g. would have gone), see pages 258–259.

*In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.*
to for whole infinitive I'd like to. I don't want to.

We can use to for the infinitive of a repeated verb, if the meaning is clear.

'Are you moving? 'We hope to.' (= ... 'We hope to move."
'Come and dance.' 'I don't want to.'
'I don't play tennis, but I used to.'
'You made Anna cry.' 'I didn't mean to.'

1. Complete the conversations with sentences from the boxes.

   - 'He seems to.' 'If you'd like to.' 'I'll try to, but I can't promise.' 'I'm sure she didn't mean to.'
   - 'No, but I used to.' 'Sorry, I forgot to.' 'Well, I'm starting to.'

   - 'Alison really upset Granny.' I'm sure she didn't mean to.

   1. 'Are you enjoying your new job?'
   2. 'Can I see you home?'
   3. 'Can you mend this by Tuesday?'
   4. 'Did you get my coat from the cleaner's?'
   5. 'Do you collect stamps?'
   6. 'Do you think he knows what he's doing?'

   but we can't afford to. 'I don't really want to - it's too cold.'
   'I intend to. They make far too much noise' 'I'd like to, but I'm working late.'
   'We don't need to - there's always plenty of room.' 'We'd love to.' 'Yes, she expects to.'

   7. 'Shall we go swimming?'
   8. 'Do you think she'll win?'
   9. 'How would you and Sue like to spend the weekend with us?'

   10. 'You ought to see the police about the people next door.'
   11. 'Do you want to come out with us tonight, Peter?'
   12. 'Shall we book seats in advance?'
   13. 'We'd like to move to a bigger house,'

We cannot usually drop to.

'Come and have a drink.' 'I'd like to.' (NOT 'I'd like)

But we can drop to in the expressions if you like/want, when you like/want and as *you like.

'Can I help?' 'If you like.' We'll stop when you want.

'I can say we live in a fascist state if I want to. It's a free country.'
-ing forms as subjects, objects etc  Smoking is bad for you

We often use -ing forms as subjects – more often than infinitives.

Smoking is bad for you. (More natural than To smoke is bad for you.)

We can also use -ing forms as complements after be.

My favourite activity is reading.

An -ing form can have its own object.

Smoking cigarettes is bad for you.

My favourite activity is reading detective stories.

And we can use -ing forms as objects after some verbs (see page 118).

I hate packing.  I like watching ice-hockey.

1. Complete the sentences with -ing forms of the verbs in the box.

My favourite activities are .................................................................

We can use a determiner (e.g. the, this, my) or a possessive before an -ing form.

the rebuilding of the cathedral  What's all this shouting?

Do you mind my smoking?  I don't like his borrowing my things without asking.

John's leaving home upset everybody.

Object forms are possible instead of possessives, especially after a verb or preposition. They are less formal.

I don't like him borrowing my things without asking.  She was upset about him leaving home.

3. Make these sentences less formal.

- He does not like my asking him questions.  He doesn't like me asking him questions.

1. Do you mind my giving you some advice? ..............................................

2. I do not appreciate your shouting at me. ..............................................

10  'I need (sleep) ................................................'  'You can use my bedroom.'

Tomorrow is another day

We couldn't get into our new home until the evening, because the previous owners had taken all day to move out.
And when we finally did get in, there was so much to do: boxes to unpack, children and animals to feed, bedding to find and beds to make. And of course nobody could remember which boxes things had been packed in. When we'd finally got the children to bed, Jenny and I sat down and started making a list which just got longer and longer. The thing is, it wasn't really a 'new' home at all; it was an old house that had been neglected for years. There were five dirty rooms to clean up and decorate; windows to replace; plumbing, electrics and central heating to sort out; a whole lot of furniture to buy; and a real jungle of a garden to clear and plant. And for the kids: school and all the usual activities to organise. I looked at Jennie, she looked at me, I put the list down, I said 'Tomorrow is another day,' and we dragged ourselves off to bed.

(James Eliot)
for ... to ... It’s time for the postman to come.

After an adjective or a noun, if an infinitive needs its own subject this is introduced by for. Compare:
Ann will be happy to help you.   Ann will be happy for the children to help you.
My idea was to learn Russian.    My idea was for her to learn Russian.

This structure is common after adjectives and nouns when we are talking about possibility, necessity, importance and frequency.

It’s impossible for Jane to get here before Wednesday.
Is there any need for Robert to work this weekend?
I’m anxious for everybody to say what they think.
It’s unusual for foxes to come so close to the house.

1 Rewrite these sentences using for ... to ...

She can’t come. (It’s impossible)
It’s impossible for her to come

1 The meeting needn’t start before eight. (There’s no need)

2 The postman ought to come. (It’s time)

3 He’s not usually late. (It’s unusual for him)

4 I want the children to go to a good school. (I’m anxious)

5 John shouldn’t go to Australia. (It’s a bad idea)

6 Tanya shouldn’t change her job just now. (It would be a mistake)

7 Can Paul come to the meeting? (Is it possible)

8 The car really should have regular services. (It’s important)

9 He normally stays up late on Saturdays. (It’s normal)

10 I’d be happy if you took a holiday. (I’d be happy for)

2 Give your opinions about teachers. Write sentences beginning It’s very important, It’s important, It’s not very important or It’s unnecessary. Use for ... to ...

(know their subject) It’s very important for teachers to know their subject.

1 (be able to dance)
2 (be good listeners)
3 (be able to draw)
4 (speak clearly)
5 (like people)
6 (be good-looking)
7 (be patient)
8 (have lots of energy)
9 (have a good sense of humour)

in some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
more about adjective + infinitive  easy to please etc

After some adjectives, we can use an infinitive to mean ‘for people to…’.

She’s easy to amuse. (= ‘She’s easy for people to amuse’, ‘People can amuse her easily.’)

Just open the packet, and it’s ready to eat.

Other adjectives like this: difficult, hard, impossible, good, nice, interesting.

   A telephone is for talking to people who are a long way away.

   In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
to ...ing I look forward to seeing you.

The preposition to is followed by an -ing form.

I look forward to your letter / to hearing from you. (To is a preposition used after look forward – it can be followed by a noun or an -ing form.)

Compare:

I hope to hear from you. (To is part of the infinitive after hope, not a preposition – it couldn’t be followed by a noun. You couldn’t say I hope to your letter.)

Other expressions followed by to ...ing: be/get used to, object to.

If you come to England you’ll soon get used to driving on the left.
I object to strangers telephoning me.

1 DO IT YOURSELF Choose the best explanation of each expression.

1 I look forward to seeing you.
   A It gives me pleasure to think that I will see you.  B I know I will see you.  C I hope I will see you.

2 I’m used to driving in London.
   A I drive in London regularly.  B In the past, I drove in London regularly.  C I have driven in London so often that it seems easy and natural.

3 I object to paying good money for badly made products.
   A This often happens to me.  B I am not pleased when this happens.  C I try to stop this happening.

140 INFINITIVES AND -ING FORMS

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
SECTION 10 various structures with verbs

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

Several different structures are practised in this section:

- imperatives
  - Write your address here.
- let’s
  - Let’s go and see Fred.
- verbs with two objects
  - Can you send me the details?
- causative structures with have and get
  - I must have my watch repaired. We need to get the curtains cleaned.
- exclamations
  - What a fool! How strange! Isn’t she sweet!
- emphatic do
  - You do look nice. Do sit down. I said I was going to win, and I did win.
- structures with preparatory it and what
  - It’s strange that she hasn’t phoned. It’s not tea I want, it’s coffee.
  - What I need is a drink.
- phrasal verbs
  - My car has broken down.

Note that we introduce phrasal verbs, but we do not give long lists of them. We think it’s best to learn phrasal verbs like other words, one at a time as they are needed. In our opinion grouping them together, as some grammars do, only causes confusion.

For prepositional verbs, see pages 298–299.

‘When it is not necessary to change, it is necessary not to change.’

(Lucius Cary)

‘It was such a lovely day I thought it was a pity to get up.’

(W Somerset Maugham)

‘It’s easy to see the faults in people I know; it is hardest to see the good, especially when the good isn’t there.’

(Will Cuppy)

‘Anybody who has ever struggled with poverty knows how extremely expensive it is to be poor.’

(James Baldwin)

‘It is impossible to enjoy idling thoroughly unless one has plenty of work to do.’

(Jerome K Jerome)
revise the basics: imperatives; let's

We use imperatives to tell people what to do, advise them, encourage them etc. Imperatives look the same as infinitives without to.

Look in the mirror before you drive off. Try again. Have some more tea.

Negative imperatives begin with do not/don't. (Note: these can be used before be.)

Please do not lean out of the window. Don't worry. Don't be silly!

Note the position of always and never before imperatives.

Always try to tell the truth. (NOT Try always …) Never do that again.

1 Choose the best way of completing each sentence.

- Always add / Never add salt to potatoes when you cook them.
- Always check / Check always the tyres before you drive a car.
- Believe / Don't believe everything that people say.
- Always cook / Never cook chicken when it's frozen.
- Wait / Don't wait more than fifteen minutes for somebody who's late.
- Always unplug / Unplug always electrical appliances before repairing them.
- Count / Don't count your change after buying something.
- Always put off / Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
- Always say / Never say 'I will love you for ever'.
- Be not / Don't be afraid.

We can use let's (or let us – very formal) + infinitive without to to make suggestions or give orders to a group that includes the speaker.

Let's have a drink. Let's stay in this evening.

The normal negative is Let's not …; Don't let's … is informal; Let us not is very formal.

Let's not tell Granny what happened.

2 Write the suggestions, using Let's (not).

Let's go swimming

Note also the common expressions let me see and let me think.

So what time will I get there? Let me see – suppose I start at half past six …

What am I going to wear? Let me think – it's too cold for the black dress …
revise the basics: verbs with two objects

COMMON VERBS WITH TWO OBJECTS:
bring  buy  cost  get  give  leave  lend  make  offer  owe  pass  pay  play  promise read  refuse  send  show  sing  take  teach  tell  wish  write

Many verbs can have two objects – one direct and one indirect. Usually the indirect object refers to a person, and this often comes first.

He gave his wife a camera.  I wish you a Merry Christmas.

If we put the indirect object last, we use a preposition (usually to or for).

I passed my licence to the policeman.  Mum bought the ice cream for you, not for me.

1 Change the structure.
   ▶ I gave my sister some flowers.  I gave some flowers to my sister.
   ▶ Let me make you some tea.  Let me make some tea for you.
   1 Could you send me the bill?
   2 I’ve bought a present for you.
   3 Leave me some potatoes.
   4 I lent Henry £5 yesterday.
   5 Show Granny your picture.
   6 Read the letter to me, will you?
   7 She teaches adults French.
   8 I took the report to Mrs Samuels.
   9 Would you get me a beer?
   10 We owe £20,000 to the bank.
   11 I offered the class free tickets.
   12 I wrote a letter to the doctor.
   13 Sing the children a song.
   14 Can you bring the newspaper to me?
   15 Pay Mrs Jones £200, please.

2 Write about yourself: complete the sentences, using two objects.
   ▶ I would like to send my mother some flowers.
   1 I would like to buy
   2 I never lend
   3 I must write
   4 I think it’s difficult to teach
   5 Nobody has ever given

Explain, say, suggest and describe do not have the indirect object first.

Can you explain the plan to us?  (NOT Can you explain us the plan?)
I've come to say goodbye to you.  (NOT ... to say you goodbye.)
I suggested a new method to her.  (NOT I suggested her a new method.)
Describe your wife to me.  (NOT Describe me your wife.)

‘Get me the Zoo, please, Miss Winterton.’
revise the basics: causative have and get

Have/Get something done: arrange for something to be done.

I must have my watch repaired. We need to get the curtains cleaned.

1. GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: doing things to things. Make sentences using have or get + object + the past participles in the box. Use a dictionary to help you.

<table>

<th>cleaned</th>
<th>cut</th>
<th>print</th>
<th>put in</th>
<th>re-decorated</th>
<th>repaired</th>
<th>re-proofed</th>
<th>re-strung</th>
<th>serviced</th>
<th>sharpened</th>
<th>un-blocked</th>
<th>valued</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

- When did you last (your hair)?
  - When did you last have/get your hair cut?

1. It would be nice to (some more electric sockets).

2. We (our knives) once a year.

3. We’re going to (the roof) next summer.

4. I must (my jacket). And I’d better (my raincoat).

5. ‘Do we need to (the car)?’ ‘Well, we ought to (the oil).’

6. When she (her jewellery), she found it wasn’t actually worth much.

7. You need to (your tennis racket).

8. Shall we (the kitchen), or shall we do it ourselves?

9. I need to (some business cards)

10. The water isn’t running away. We must (the drains)

2. John has a lot of problems. Why does he have them? Use He hasn’t had ...

- His hair is much too long. He hasn’t had it cut.

1. His raincoat doesn’t keep him dry.

2. His clothes are dirty.

3. His car’s running very badly.

4. His knives won’t cut.

5. His roof has got holes in.

6. The rooms in his flat are dark and dirty.

7. He can’t see through the windows.
Exclamations with how and what are constructed differently.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>HOW + ADJECTIVE</th>
<th>WHAT (+ ADJECTIVE) + NOUN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>How beautiful!</td>
<td>What a beautiful day!</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>How stupid!</td>
<td>What a fool!</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>How strange they are!</td>
<td>What strange people they are!</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We do not drop articles after What.

What a stupid idea! (NOT What stupid idea!)

1. Change the sentences into exclamations with how or what.
   - That’s a strange picture.
   - That’s a nuisance.
   - That’s interesting.
   - It’s boring.
   - Those are beautiful flowers.
   - That’s a stupid hat.
   - He’s a star.

2. DO IT YOURSELF In exclamations with verbs, what is the order of the following?
   A expression with how/what
   B verb
   C subject
   Look at the examples and complete the rule.

   How beautiful she is! (NOT How she is beautiful)
   How hard he works! (NOT How he works hard)
   What a lot of languages your sister speaks!

   RULE FOR WORD ORDER IN EXCLAMATIONS WITH VERBS

3. Change the sentences into exclamations with how or what and verbs.
   - Those children are noisy.
   - You’ve got big eyes, grandmother.
   - He cooks well.
   - We were wrong.
   - He talks a lot of nonsense.
   - She wears funny clothes.
   - She plays badly.
   - I was a fool.

We can use negative questions (see page 111) as exclamations.

Isn’t she beautiful!
Doesn’t he work hard!
Wasn’t it a surprise!

4. Change the sentences from Exercise 3 into exclamations with negative questions.
   - Aren’t those children noisy!
   - Haven’t you got big eyes, grandmother!
   - 1
   - 2
   - 3
   - 4
   - 5
   - 6
do: emphatic auxiliary  You do look nice.

Emotive emphasis: we can use do to make an expression sound stronger. Do be is possible in imperatives.

You do look nice today!    I did enjoy our talk.    Do sit down.    Do be careful.

1 Complete the sentences with expressions from the box, and make them more emphatic by using do/does/did.

| a lot early tonight cooking disturbing you ill ✓ John my love the party with you hairstyle |

1. I feel ___________________________ 5. Alice talks ___________________________
2. I agree ___________________________ 6. Be home ___________________________
3. I apologise for _____________________ 7. Give ___________________________
4. I hate ___________________________ 8. I like your ___________________________
5. Peter enjoyed ___________________________

Contrastive emphasis: we can use do to show a contrast – between false and true, appearance and reality, or a general statement and an exception.

She thinks I don’t love her, but I do love her.
It looks easy, but it does need quite a bit of practice.
There wasn’t much time for shopping, but I did buy a couple of shirts.

We can also use do to compare what is expected with what actually happens.

I said I was going to win, and I did win.

2 These sentences and conversations have the wrong ends. Sort them out, and add do/does/did to express contrast.

1. I’ve forgotten her name, but I know something about life.
   I’ve forgotten her name, but I do remember it began with a B.

2. ‘You don’t love me.’ They said eight o’clock, didn’t they?
   ‘You don’t love me.’ They did say eight o’clock, didn’t they?

3. I may not be educated, ‘I love you.’

4. She doesn’t really like sport, she gave me her phone number.

5. Although she didn’t say much, but I iron my own trousers.

6. I’m not sure she’ll be there, but I have to make a phone call.

7. My wife does the housework, and she had a broken finger.

8. I made her go to the doctor’s, but if you see her give her my love.

9. It’s a small house, but she plays a bit of tennis sometimes.

10. There’s nobody at home, but it has a nice big kitchen.
it: preparatory subject  It's nice to talk to you.

When the subject of a sentence is an infinitive or a clause, we generally use it as a preparatory subject, and put the infinitive or clause later.

It's nice to talk to you. (More natural than To talk to you is nice.)

It was surprising that she didn't come back.

1. Rewrite these sentences with it ... to make them more natural.
   - To book early is important.

     It is important to book early.

   1. To speak languages in your head is easy.

   2. To hear her talk like that annoys me.

   3. To get from here to York takes four hours.

   4. To get upset about small things is silly.

   5. To get up in the morning is nice, but to stay in bed is nicer.

   6. To watch him makes me tired.

   7. To hear her complaining upsets me.

   8. To say no to people is hard.

2. Put the sentences together using it ... that ...
   - He wasn't there. This surprised me.

     It surprised me that he wasn't there.

   1. Everybody should say what they think. This is necessary.

   2. She's got some money saved. This is a good thing.

   3. He's got long hair. This doesn’t bother me.

   4. John never talked to her. This worried her.

   5. She should be told immediately. This is essential.

   6. He didn’t remember my name. This was strange.

   7. He can’t come. This is a pity.

   8. The children should get to bed early. This is important.

   9. Wolves attack people. This is not true.

   10. She kept stealing from shops. This shocked me.
emphasis with it and what  It's not tea that I want.

We can emphasise a part of a sentence by using the structure It is/was … that. Compare:

The secretary sent Jake the photos yesterday.

It was the secretary that/who sent Jake the photos yesterday. (not the boss)
It was Jake that the secretary sent the photos to yesterday. (not Bill)
It was the photos that the secretary sent Jake yesterday. (not the drawings)
It was yesterday that the secretary sent Jake the photos. (not last week)

1 Change these sentences to emphasise each part in turn.

   1. Sarah hid Dad's shoes this morning.

   2. Maria married Harry last week.

   3. Carl broke the kitchen window today.

2 Change these sentences using It's / It was …

   ▶ I don't want tea, I want coffee.  It's not tea that I want, it's coffee.

   ▶ They didn't arrest Tara, they arrested Louise.  It wasn't Tara that they arrested, it was Louise.

   1. He doesn't speak Greek, he speaks Dutch.

   2. I don't love you, I love Peter.

   3. Carol isn't the boss, Sandra is.

   4. I don't hate the music, I hate the words.

   5. I didn't lose my glasses, I lost my keys.

   6. Ryan isn't getting married, Clive is.

   7. I didn't see Judy, I saw Jill.

   8. He's not studying maths, he's studying physics.

   9. Max isn't crazy, you are.

   10. You don't need a nail, you need a screw.

Note the use of pronouns and verbs in this structure in informal and formal styles.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>INFORMAL</th>
<th>FORMAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>It's me that's responsible.</td>
<td>It is I who am responsible.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's you that's in the wrong.</td>
<td>It is you who are in the wrong.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Another way of emphasising is to use a structure with what (= 'the thing(s) that'). Compare:

The wind keeps me awake.     What keeps me awake is the wind.
I need a change.     What I need is a change. (OR A change is what I need.)

We can use all (that) (meaning 'the only thing that') in the same way as what.

All I need is a home somewhere.     All I did was touch him.

3 Change the sentences so as to emphasise the words in italics. Begin What ....

- He wants a motobike.     What he wants is a motobike.

1 Her rudeness shocked me.
2 I need a drink.
3 I like her sense of humour.
4 I hate his jealousy.
5 Cycling keeps me fit.
6 The travelling makes the job interesting.
7 I want five minutes' rest.
8 I found something very strange.
9 The weather stopped us.
10 I don’t understand why she stays with him.

4 Complete these sentences about yourself.

1 All I need is ...
2 All I want is ...
3 What I really like is ...
4 What I really hate is ...
5 What I want to know is ...

"I've already met the tall, dark man. What I'd like to know is, where is he now?"
English has a large number of phrasal verbs, made up of a verb and a small word (adverb particle) like at, in, on, up, down, away, out. The adverb particles are not the same as prepositions (though some of them have the same form). Phrasal verbs are very common in an informal style.

1. Match the phrasal verbs with the more formal one-word verbs from the box.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>arrive</th>
<th>awake</th>
<th>consider</th>
<th>continue</th>
<th>disintegrate</th>
<th>explode ✓</th>
<th>leave</th>
<th>postpone</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>blow up</td>
<td>blow up</td>
<td>break up</td>
<td></td>
<td>come back</td>
<td>get up</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>go away</td>
<td>go on</td>
<td></td>
<td>put off</td>
<td></td>
<td>turn up</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>send back</td>
<td>think over</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>wake up</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Adverb particles can have various meanings. Up often means 'completely'.

I'll cut up the wood. Let's clean up the house. Fill up your glass. I tore up her letter.

2. Look at the adverb particles in the following sentences, and choose the best meaning from the box for each one.

| away | completely ✓ | further | higher | louder | quieter | on paper | to various people | working | not working |

- Can you cut up the onions?
- He drove off.
- Write it down.
- The heater's off.
- Turn the radio down.
- Drive on.
- I've sent out the invitations.
- Go on.
- Prices are going up.
- Is the printer on?
- Who turned the music up?

3. Here are some sentences from conversations. Complete the phrasal verbs with words from the boxes.

- He turned .......... two hours late and then expected me to fix lunch for him.
- 'Are you coming tomorrow?' 'Not sure. I'll think it .......... .'
- I'm going to send these shirts .......... . They're all too big.
- It would be nice if that kid cleaned .......... his room sometimes. Just once a week would do.
- 'You wash .......... the plates and I'll dry.' 'No, I'll wash and you dry.'

| back | cut | look | pick | switch | switch | take |

- I'll .......... you up about 8.00 and we'll go straight on to Holly's, OK?
- OK, you can have the car, but please .......... it back in one piece.
- 'It's too hot.' 'Well, you could .......... off your coat.'
- 'What does precipitation mean?' 'No idea. .......... it up.'
- When I get home I just .......... off my brain and .......... on the TV.
- You can .......... up the onions. If I do, it makes me cry.
Adverb particles can usually go before or after noun objects.

Fill in this form. OR Fill this form in.
I'm going to put on a sweater. OR I'm going to put a sweater on.
Did you throw away the newspapers? OR Did you throw the newspapers away?

But an adverb particle must go after a pronoun object.

Fill it in. (NOT Fill-in-it.) I threw them away. (NOT I threw away them.)

4 Change the sentences twice.

- I put on my raincoat.
  - I put my raincoat on.
  - I put it on.

- I cleaned up the kitchen.
  - I cleaned the kitchen up.
  - I cleaned it up.

1. Could you turn off the radio?

2. I'll throw away these old plates.

3. Do take off your coat.

4. Please write down my address.

5. Get Mary to fill in this form.

6. I'll switch off all the lights.

7. We'd better put off the next meeting.

8. We'll have to give back the money.

9. I'll think over your suggestion.

10. I couldn't put down the book, it was so interesting.

time to tidy up

evry now and then you decide it's time to tidy up, don't you? Because you just can't find anything. So you pick up all the stuff that's been lying around on the floor since Adam was a lad. You throw out the old magazines that you're never going to read again.

You give back the books and music that you borrowed from the people upstairs when you were all much younger. You take down your old posters and put up the new ones you bought three years ago to replace them. You sort out the papers on your desk, arrange some of them in systematic-looking piles, and throw away the others. Finally you put on some relaxing music, pour yourself a drink, and sit back with a feeling of satisfaction. A good job done.

Only one small problem, which you slowly discover over the next few days: you just can't find anything. 🌟
1. Emphatic do. Complete the sentences using words from the box. Use do/does/did twice in each sentence.

7. (Antibiotics / kill)
8. (Ostriches)

2. Preparatory it. What do you think? What is important in a relationship (for example with a boyfriend or girlfriend, wife or husband)? Use the expressions in the box to give your opinions.

I think it's (very) important to ...
I don't think it's (very) important to ...
I think it's (very) important not to ...
I (don't) think it's necessary to ...

I don't think it's important to do everything together.
1. always tell the truth
2. always be polite
3. say nice things about the other person
4. give presents
5. listen a lot
6. criticise
7. have the same interests as the other person
8. think about the other person's needs
9. think about your own needs
10. spend plenty of time alone

SECTION 11 articles: a/an and the

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

A/An shows that we are talking about one person or thing. We often use a/an:

- in descriptions

  She's a kind woman. He's got an interesting face.

- when we say what something is, or what somebody's job is.

  This is an earring. She's a farmer.

The usually means 'You know which one(s) I'm talking about'.

Can I use the bathroom? (The hearer knows that this means 'your bathroom'.)

Nouns used without articles often have a special meaning.

I'm interested in birds. (This means 'all birds')

Most Western European languages have articles. So if you speak (for example) French, German, Spanish or Greek, you will not have too many problems with a/an and the: they are used mostly in the same way as your articles. There are a few differences: see pages 156, 157, 160, 162, 163. If you speak a non-Western-European language (for example Russian, Polish, Arabic, Chinese, Japanese), you may find articles more difficult. In that case, study all of this Section.

'Writing about art is like dancing about architecture.'
(Anonymous)

'A woman without a man is like a fish without a bicycle.'
(Attributed to Gloria Steinem)

'A diplomat is a person who can tell you to go to hell in such a way that you actually look forward to the trip.'
(Caskie Stinnett)

'Equality is a lie — women are better.'
(Anonymous)

'An optimist is someone who thinks the future is uncertain.'
(Anonymous)

'Treat a work of art like a prince: let it speak to you first.'
(Attributed to Arthur Schopenhauer)

'The happiest time of anyone's life is just after the first divorce.'
(John Kenneth Galbraith)

'I always pass on good advice. It is the only thing to do with it. It is never any use to oneself.'
(Oscar Wilde)

'An accountant is a man who is hired to explain that you didn't make the money you did.'
(Anonymous)
We use a before a consonant and an before a vowel.
But it depends on the pronunciation of the following word, not the spelling.

a dog  a hat  a one-pound coin (/ə 'wan ... /)  a union (/ə 'ju:nən/)

an orange  an uncle  an hour (/æn 'auə/)  an MP (/æn em 'pi:/)

1 A or an?

1 ............ elephant
2 ............ university
3 ............ umbrella
4 ............ ticket
5 ............ VIP
6 ............ honest man
7 ............ half-hour lesson
8 ............ one-hour lesson
9 ............ useful book
10 ............ SOS
11 ............ X-ray
12 ............ European 13 ............ hand
14 ............ underpass
15 ............ unit
16 ............ CD
17 ............ exam
18 ............ school

‘Good morning, Mr Dolby. It’s 5.15 a.m., and this is radio station WJRM. If you name the next tune you will win a ride on an elephant and two tickets to a rock concert!’

We use one, not a/an:
- in contrast with another or other(s)
- in the expression one day
- with hundred and thousand when we want to sound precise (see page 325)
- in expressions like only one and just one.

One girl wanted to go out, but the others wanted to stay at home.

One day I’ll take you to meet my family.

‘How many are there? About a hundred?’ ‘Exactly one hundred and three’

We’ve got plenty of sausages, but only one egg.

2 A/An or one?

1 ............ day last year – it was ............ very hot afternoon in June – I was hurrying to get home. I was about ............ hour late – well, to be precise, exactly ............ hour and ten minutes: I had missed my train. Anyway, there was ............ woman standing under the trees, and there were several children with her. I saw ............ child clearly – she was ............ lovely dark-haired girl – but I only heard the others. Suddenly 8 ............ strange thing happened. The girl took some stones out of her pocket, and threw 9 ............ stone after another into the air.
revise the basics: a/an  She's a farmer. He's got a long nose.

We use a/an to say what job a person does, what kind of thing somebody or something is, or what something is used as. A/An has no plural.

She's a farmer. They're farmers.
He worked as a taxi-driver. They worked as taxi-drivers.
Don't use the plate as an ashtray. Don't use the plates as ashtrays.

1 Say what these people's jobs are, using the words in the box.

revise the basics: generalisations without the

I like music. (NOT ... the music.)
Can you turn off the music?
She's very interested in nature.
What is the nature of his illness?
People have to live in society.
I've joined the Poetry Society.
Books are expensive.
Put the books on the table.

1. Put the or (no article) in each blank.

There must be something wrong with me. 1 people usually think that 2 babies are sweet and 3 teenagers are annoying. Not me. I think 4 babies are boring.

For me, 5 children start being interesting at 6 age when you can understand 7 things that they say. But 8 years that I like best are 9 period between ages thirteen and twenty. Oh, it's difficult at times, but I still prefer talking about 10 life with a teenager to cleaning a baby's bottom.

We do not normally use the in generalisations with plural and uncountable nouns, even if there is an adjective before the noun.

She's studying Chinese history. (NOT ... the Chinese history) He collects antique clocks.

But we use the when a description with of follows the noun.

She's studying the history of China.

2. Use some adjectives from the box, or other adjectives, to write true (or false!) sentences about yourself. Don't use the.

168 DETERMINERS
revise the basics: some and any

Some means 'a certain (not large) number or amount of'.

We use some mostly in affirmative (✓) sentences.

We also use some in questions when we expect or invite people to say 'Yes' (for example, in requests and offers).

She's got some interesting ideas.

Coulid I have some coffee? 'Sure. And would you like some biscuits?'

---

We use any instead of some in negative sentences, in most questions, and with if.

---

Do you know any good jokes?

He hasn't got any money.

If you find any mistakes, please tell me.

The difference between somebody/anybody, someone/anyone, something/anything etc is the same as the difference between some and any.

There's somebody outside.

Would you like something to drink?

Does anybody understand this?

She didn't say anything.

---

1. Put in some, any, somebody, anybody, something or anything.

   1. I can't find ............... butter, but we've got ............... margarine.
   2. Did you meet ............... interesting at the party?
   3. Emma has got ............... old pictures of the house.
   4. Can I offer you ............... wine?
   5. Do you know ............... German?
   6. Helen brought me ............... beautiful roses.
   7. Is there ............... I can do?
   8. There's ............... waiting to see you.
   9. I haven't got ............... to wear.
   10. Shall we listen to ............... music?
   11. If you have ............... problems, just phone me.
   12. Have you got ............... children?
   13. Would you like ............... to help you?
   14. There aren't ............... buses on Sunday.

---

2. Here are some sentences with any. Which word in each sentence gives the 'negative kind of meaning'?

   - He never listens to anyone.
   - We've hardly got any cat food.
   - 1 The baby refuses to eat anything.
   - 2 I doubt if you'll find any bread now.
   - 3 There was hardly anybody in town.
   - 4 You never get any sense out of her.
   - 5 You seldom hear any birds here.
   - 6 I left the house without any money.

---

3. Choose the right word.

   1. Have you got some / any time free on Wednesday afternoon?
   2. There's something / anything strange about the way Pete's acting today.
   3. Nobody can find out something / anything about when the exams will be.
   4. Is there something / anything we should bring to the meeting?
   5. Shall I bring you something / anything to read while you wait?
   6. Do you know if / any of the Morrices are coming on Sunday?
   7. Can I get you some / any coffee? I've just made some / any.
   8. She refuses to have something / anything to do with her family now.
   9. If there's some / any soup left, could you put it in the fridge, please?
   10. I doubt if there's something / anything we can do now.

---

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example 'm, don't and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
some/any or no article

Have some toast. I don’t like toast.

We use some and any to talk about limited numbers or quantities. Compare:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>LIMITED NUMBERS/QUANTITIES</th>
<th>NOT LIMITED</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>‘Have some toast.’ (‘one or two pieces’)</td>
<td>‘No thanks. I don’t like toast.’ (‘toast in general’)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I need some new clothes.</td>
<td>She always wears nice clothes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Is there any water in the fridge?</td>
<td>Is there water on the moon?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We don’t normally use some in descriptions.

She’s got black hair. (NOT She’s got some black hair.)

We don’t use some when we say what people/things are.

Andy and John are students. (NOT Andy and John are some students.)

any, not any, no and none

---

No is a more emphatic way of saying 'not a' or 'not any'. Note the sentence structure.

Sorry, I've got no time. (NOT ... I haven't got no time.)
There were no letters for you this morning.

At the beginning of a sentence, no is almost always used.

No cigarette is completely harmless. (NOT Not any cigarette ...)
No tourists ever come to our village.

---

1. Change not ... any to no, or no to not ... any.
   - I haven't got any American friends. ... I've got no American friends.
   - There's no bread. ... There isn't any bread.
   - 1 She speaks no German. She doesn't.
   - 2 He's written no letters to her.
   - 3 We don't get any rain here.
   - 4 There isn't any post on Sundays.
   - 5 She hasn't got any brothers or sisters.

---

2. Before of, or without a noun, we use none, not no (often with a singular verb).

None of his friends likes his wife. (NOT No of his friends ...)
There's none in the house.

---

3. Put in no or none.
   - None of these telephones works.
   - I had no difficulty understanding her.
   - 1 'How many children has he got?'
   - 2 There are trains after midnight.
   - 3 Did you buy milk? There's in the fridge.
   - 4 of us can play the piano.
   - 5 There are palm trees in Antarctica, and there are in Greenland.

---

4. Nobody, nothing etc are used in the same way as no.

Nobody loves me. I've got absolutely nothing to say.

---

5. Put in no, none or nobody.
   - 1 'Why can't I have toast for breakfast?' 'Because there's bread.'
   - 2 'My students expect me to know everything.' ' knows everything.'
   - newspaper tells the whole truth.
   - 4 'What were your photos like?' 'I'm afraid of them came out.'
   - 5 'Do you think he's honest?' ' politician is completely honest.'
   - of the people there remembered seeing anything unusual.
   - I've got patience with people like her.
   - There's I can talk to in this place.
   - of you care what I think.
   - He had money, job and place to live.

---

6. In conversation, we often make short incomplete sentences with any and no.

'Can you help me?' 'Sorry, no time.' 'Any letters for me?' 'Yes.'

---

7. Make short questions (■) or negative sentences (■).
   - news ■ Any news?
   - 'It's dark.' 'Electricity' ■ No electricity.
   - Sorry, milk ■
   - 2 phone calls for me ■
   - 3 more money ■
   - 4 problems today ■

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example 'I'm, don't') and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
any = ‘one or another – it’s not important which’

We can use any to mean ‘one or another – it’s not important which’.

With this meaning, any is common in affirmative sentences.

‘When shall I come and see you?’ ‘It doesn’t matter – any time.’

‘What newspaper do you want?’ ‘I don’t mind. Any paper is OK.’

In negative sentences, we can use just any to make this meaning clear.

I don’t do just any work: I choose jobs that interest me.

1 Complete each sentence with any and a word from the box.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>bank</th>
<th>boy</th>
<th>bus</th>
<th>colour</th>
<th>day</th>
<th>doctor</th>
<th>problems</th>
<th>question</th>
<th>supermarket</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

1. Any doctor .................. will tell you to stop smoking.
2. ‘Would you like red, blue, ...?’ It doesn’t matter. ..................... is OK.
3. You can get this kind of rice in ....................... .
4. I think she knows everything. She can answer ....................... you ask.
5. If you have ....................... , come and ask me for help.
6. ‘When shall we meet?’ ‘I don’t mind. ..................... this week.’
7. ‘Where can I change money?’ ‘In ....................... .’
8. You can’t take just ....................... – you need a 4 or a 16.

We can use anybody, anything and anywhere to mean ‘it’s not important who/what/where’.

It’s easy. Anybody can do it. That dog eats anything – meat, bread, shoes, …

‘Where shall I sit?’ ‘Anywhere you like.’ She doesn’t go out with just anybody.

2 Put the beginnings and ends together and put in anybody, anything or anywhere.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>It’s not hard to dance.</th>
<th>A ‘I don’t mind. I’m so hungry I’ll eat ...................’ ..........</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 ‘Where would you like to live?’</td>
<td>B ‘It’s true. Ask ........................................’ ..........</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 ‘What would you like for lunch?’</td>
<td>C ‘Yes. Put it .................................... you like.’ ..........</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 ‘I don’t believe you.’</td>
<td>D .................. can do it. ..........</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 ‘Can I park the car behind your house?’</td>
<td>E He can play .................. ..........</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 Joe’s a brilliant pianist.</td>
<td>F ‘ .................. in America.’ ..........</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Any is not negative – it is the opposite of no or not any. Compare:

That’s easy: anybody can do it. That’s too hard: nobody can do it.

I’m really hungry – I’ll eat anything. I’m not hungry – I don’t want anything.

3 Circle the best word or expression in each sentence.

1. Any / No doctor can tell you if you’ve got flu.
2. Any / No doctor can tell you exactly how long you’re going to live.
3. Just say anything / nothing, so we can see if the microphone works.
4. If the police arrest you, say anything / nothing until your lawyer gets there.
5. What do you mean, music? I can’t hear / can hear any music.
6. You can hear any / no kind of music you like at the Reading Festival.
7. Anna’s very secretive: she talks to anybody / nobody about her problems.
8. Jim tells his problems to anybody / nobody who will listen.
revise the basics: much, many, a lot (of)

We use much with singular (uncountable) nouns and many with plurals.

How much time have we got? How many tickets do we need?

Much and many are most common in questions and negatives. In informal affirmative (✓) sentences, we generally prefer a lot (of), lots (of) or plenty (of). These can be used with both uncountables and plurals.

'Do you have much trouble with English?' 'I don't have much trouble speaking, but I have lots of difficulty writing.'

(NOT ... much difficulty ...)

'Are there many opera houses in London?' 'Not many, but a lot of theatres and plenty of cinemas.'

(NOT ... many theatres and many cinemas.)

1 Write at least ten sentences about yourself. What have you got not much, not many, a lot / lots of, or plenty of ... ? Use the words in the box, or other words if you prefer.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ambition</th>
<th>books</th>
<th>confidence</th>
<th>cousins</th>
<th>energy</th>
<th>free time</th>
<th>ideas</th>
<th>nice clothes</th>
<th>old friends</th>
<th>problems</th>
<th>work to do</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

- I haven't got much ambition.
- I've got lots of ideas.

2 Put in much/many with so, as, too.

1 It was nice to have ................................ time to talk to you.
2 Are there .................................. chairs as people?
3 You can never have .............................. love.
4 I don't have ................................. friends as you.
5 She's got ................................. relatives!
6 Get ........................................ tickets as you can.

In a formal style, many and much are more common in affirmative sentences.

Many commentators have already thrown much darkness on this subject, and it is probable that if this continues we shall soon know nothing at all about it. (Mark Twain)

→ For of with much and many, see page 184.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example 'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
revise the basics: enough, too and too much

1 DO IT YOURSELF

Look at the examples.

This isn’t hot enough. (NOT ... enough-hot.) Am I going fast enough?
There is never enough time. Have you got enough rice?

Now choose the correct forms of the rules.

Enough normally comes before / after an adjective or adverb.
Enough normally comes before / after a noun.

2 Put in words from the box together with enough.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>big</th>
<th>champagne</th>
<th>clever</th>
<th>confidence</th>
<th>good</th>
<th>hard</th>
<th>money</th>
<th>time</th>
<th>friends</th>
<th>old</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

- In art the best is good enough. (Goethe)
- 1 There was ...................... to give everybody a glass.
- 2 This town isn’t ...................... for both of us.
- 3 I never had ...................... when I was young: now I never have ......................
- 4 Susie hasn’t got ...................... to play football with.
- 5 Daniel’s not ...................... to travel by himself.
- 6 If you work ......................, you don’t have to be very intelligent.
- 7 She was ...................... to do anything she wanted, but she didn’t have ...................... to try.

3 DO IT YOURSELF

Too much/many or too? Look at the examples and complete the rules.

Examples

He’s too old. (NOT ... too much old.) She’s driving too fast.

My problem is too much work and too many late nights.

Rules

Before an adjective without a noun, or an adverb, we use ......................
Before a noun (with or without an adjective), we use ......................

4 Invent answers to the questions, using too, too much or too many.

- Why did Jack leave his car at the pub and take a taxi home? (beer)

  He’d drunk too much beer.

1 Why did they drive to the cinema in two cars? (people)

2 Can you understand what he’s saying? (quickly)

3 Why didn’t Joanna stop for lunch yesterday? (busy)

4 Why don’t we go to the Caribbean for our holiday? (expensive)

5 Why don’t you let the children cycle to school? (traffic)

6 What went wrong in your exam? (slowly)

7 Why did you have the phone installed in the other room? (noise)
Write descriptions for the pictures using not enough or too much/many.

We can use infinitive structures with enough and too.

She's old enough to vote.
I'm too tired to go out tonight.

A structure with for + object + infinitive is also possible.

It's not warm enough for me to swim.
The box was too heavy for us to lift.

We can drop for + object.

It's not warm enough to swim.
The box was too heavy to lift.

Complete the sentences with enough or too.

- Sally's not old enough to take the dog for a walk. (old / take)
- The food was too spicy for the children to eat. (spicy / children / eat)

1. There's someone in the garden, but I can't see ........................................... if it's Emma. (well / decide)
2. I'll work on this tomorrow - I'm ........................................... it tonight. (tired / think about)
3. I don’t understand Arabic ........................................... to Egyptian radio. (well / listen)
4. I'm not ........................................... the piano. (strong / move)
5. I was ........................................... on the lecture. (bored / concentrate)
6. They were speaking ........................................... what they were saying. (quietly / me / hear)
7. Near some beaches the sea's not ........................................... in. (clean / people / swim)
8. The room was ........................................... anything. (dark / us / see)
9. He drove ........................................... him. (fast / police / catch)
10. This shirt isn’t ........................................... (clean / wear)

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
revise the basics: (a) little, (a) few

(A) little is used with singular (uncountable) nouns and (a) few with plurals.

We've got a little coffee left, and a few biscuits – not really enough if your mother's coming.

1 Write little or few.

1 There is ................ friendship in the world, and least of all between equals. (Francis Bacon)
2 A ................ learning is a dangerous thing. (Alexander Pope)
3 Men of ................ words are the best men. (William Shakespeare, Henry V)
4 Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so ................ (Winston Churchill)
5 Never before have we had so ................ time in which to do so much. (Franklin Roosevelt)
6 A country having a ................. inflation is like a woman being a little pregnant. (Leon Henderson)
7 Death is one of the ................ things that can be done as easily lying down. (Woody Allen)
8 ................ people can be happy unless they hate some other person, nation or creed. (Bertrand Russell)

Little and few are rather negative: they mean 'not much/many'.

A little and a few are more positive: their meaning is more like 'some'.

Give the roses a little water every day.

His ideas are very difficult, and few people understand them.

His ideas are very difficult, but a few people understand them.

2 Little or a little? Few or a few?

1 There is ................ use trying to change her mind.
2 Could you possibly give me ................ help?
3 ................ teenagers in the village could read.
4 Slowly, ................ children began coming to school.
5 I only need ............... minutes to get ready.
6 She only wanted .............. love, .............. kindness.
7 Nadia drank ............... coffee and no alcohol.
8 Unfortunately, he had .............. friends.

Little and few (without a) are rather formal; in a conversational style we more often say only a little/few or not much/many.

Cactuses only need a little water.

Not many people understand his ideas.

3 Rewrite these sentences in a more conversational style.

- I have little time. I've only got a little time. OR I haven't got much time.
1 We have few friends. ..............................................................
2 There is little that I can do for you. ..............................................
3 Few people wanted to help her. ..................................................
4 They had little money, but they were pretty happy. ..............................................................
5 Few children are as difficult as Robert. ..................................................
6 I dislike few people. ..............................................................
7 My father does little exercise. ....................................................
8 I need little sleep. ..............................................................
9 Vermeer painted few pictures. .....................................................
10 I speak little Japanese. ............................................................

176 DETERMINERS
less and least, fewer and fewest

Less and fewer are comparative (see page 228): they are the opposite of more.
Least and fewest are superlative (see page 228): they are the opposite of most.
Less and least are used with singular (uncountable) nouns.
Fewer and fewest are used with plural nouns.

I've got less money than I thought.
Of all my friends, Jake does the least work.
There were fewer problems than we expected.
Mandy was the person who made the fewest mistakes in the translation exam.

1 Write less / the least / fewer / the fewest.

1. Of all British cars, this one uses .......... petrol. It also needs ............ repairs.
2. .......... girls than boys do mathematics at university. This may be because girls get .......... encouragement to study maths at school.
3. As the years went by, they had .......... things to say, and .......... interest in talking to each other.

1. I feel ......................... about the future than I did a year ago.
2. My mother/father/brother/sister is/was ......................... person you can imagine.
3. I spoke English ......................... a year ago than I do today.
4. I think this country is ......................... than it was a year ago.
5. People from the north of my country speak ......................... than people from the south.
6. My home town is ......................... place I know.
7. Most of my friends are ......................... than I am.
8. Some people say that money is the ......................... thing in life, but I'm not so sure.
9. I think TV gets ......................... late at night.
10. ......................... intelligent people often think they are the most intelligent.

Many people use less with plurals (e.g. There were less problems than we expected). This is also correct, but some people think it isn't (including some teachers and examiners), so be careful!
revise the basics: all

All can go with a noun or with a verb.

All the rooms cost the same.  The rooms all cost the same.  All cats climb trees.  Cats all climb trees.

1 Change the sentences.
   ▶ All the family got flu.  The family all got flu.
   ▶ All the trains stop at York.  All the trains stop at York.

1. All the marketing people like Oliver.
2. Our children all speak French.
3. The tourists all went back home.
4. All these cars cost too much.
5. All meetings take too long.
6. My friends all thought I was crazy.
7. All my old friends live a long way away.
8. The classes all started late.

Note the word order when all goes with a verb. All goes:
• before one-word verbs
  Our children all speak French.  The papers all arrived yesterday.  We all went home.
• after auxiliary verbs (will, have, can etc.) and after are and were.
  Our children can all speak French.  (NOT ... all can speak French.)
  The papers have all arrived.  We were all tired.  (NOT We all were tired.)

2 Put all in the right place with the verb.

Babies all cry sometimes.
Our visitors all have all gone home.
The apples are all bad.
The museums close all on Tuesdays.
The interviews will all start next week.
We all stopped for a rest.
Your clothes all are all ready.
We went all to Paris for Easter.
Sorry, the buses have all left.
These children can all speak all English.
The apples all have all gone.

178 DETERMINERS
revise the basics: all, every, everybody, everything

We can use all with plural nouns and verbs. We use every with singular nouns and verbs.

- All birds lay eggs.
  Every bird lays eggs. (NOT Every birds-lay eggs.)

We can use other determiners (the, my, this etc) after all, but not after every.

- All the shops were closed.
  Every shop was closed. (NOT Every the shop ...)

1 Rewrite the sentences with every.

- All the players were tired.
  Every player was tired.

1. Not all birds can fly.
2. I've read all the newspapers.
3. Please listen to all the words.
4. All the roads were under water.
5. All languages are difficult in one way or another.
6. All London trains are cancelled today.
7. The police have interviewed all the employees.
8. All the plates are dirty.
9. Not all changes are good.
10. All the computers are down today.

We don't normally use all without a noun to mean 'everybody'.

- Everybody was tired. (NOT All were tired.)

2 Put in  all or everybody.

1. ................. women become like their mothers. That is their tragedy. No man does. That's his. (Oscar Wilde)
2. In the future, ................. will be famous for fifteen minutes. (Andy Warhol)
3. ................. human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. (Universal Declaration of Human Rights)
4. I am free of ................. prejudices - I hate ................. equally. (W C Fields)
5. He who praises ................. praises nobody. (Samuel Johnson)
6. Justice is open to ................. people in the same way as the Ritz Hotel. (Judge Sturgess)

We can use all to mean ‘everything’ or ‘the only thing’, but only with a relative clause (all that ...).

- She gave me all/everything (that) she had.
  All (that) I want is a place of my own.

- The thieves took everything. (NOT The thieves took all.)

3 Put in  all if possible; if not, put in everything.

1. ................. I need to make a comedy is a park, a policeman and a pretty girl. (Charlie Chaplin)
2. I hurry to laugh at ................., for fear of having to cry. (Beaumarchais)
3. I can resist ................. except temptation. (Oscar Wilde)
4. ................. I want is a room somewhere. (My Fair Lady)
5. You can only have power over people so long as you don’t take ................. away from them. (Solzhenitsyn)
6. They say ................. in the world is good for something. (John Dryden)
7. [A cynic] knows the price of ................. and the value of nothing. (Oscar Wilde)
8. Life is like nothing, because it is ................. (William Golding)
9. ................. I want is you. (song title)

*In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.*
Every and each; every one

Every and each mean the same. They are both used with singular nouns and verbs. Every is more common.

Every/Each day brings a new problem.

We use every for three or more. We use each for two or more.

She had a ring on every finger. She had a bag in each hand. (NOT ... in-every-hand.)

1. Right or wrong? Correct the mistakes or write 'Correct'.
   - Correct.
   - I paid separately for each books. book
   - 1 Every passenger have to show his or her passport.
   - 2 There's a mistake in each line.
   - 3 Cars are parked on every side of the road.
   - 4 Every children are different.
   - 5 Please say each word slowly and clearly.
   - 6 The doctor made him sit down and looked into every ear.

We often prefer each when we want to say that things are separate or different. Compare:

We asked every politician the same question. Each politician gave a different answer.

2. Both answers are correct, but one is a little better. Which?
   - I work every month except August.
   - Each / Every day is new and different.
   - Not each / every Canadian speaks English.
   - I looked for my keys in each / every pocket, one after the other.
   - She wrote a different personal message on each / every card.
   - The doctor examined each / every patient very carefully.
   - Each / Every house in this village looks the same.
   - But inside, each / every house is quite different.

3. Put in every or every one.
   - of these oranges is bad.
   - I learnt Latin for seven years at school, but I've forgotten word.
   - 3 'Can I have one of those chocolates?' 'Sorry, I've eaten .'
   - of his teachers said he was stupid; but he did well in of his exams.
   - When the soldiers left the town they burnt down house.
   - The questions were easy: I could answer .
   - We've won match so far this year.
   - of my friends has got more money than me.

Before of (see page 184), or with no noun, we use every one, not every.

She knows every one of her students by name. (NOT ... every of her students ...)

He's got hundreds of books, and he's read every one. (NOT ... he's read every.) both, either and neither

We use both, either and neither to talk about two people or things.
Both (● + ● = 'one and the other') has a plural noun.
Either (●/● = 'one or the other') has a singular noun.
Neither (● × ● = 'not either, not one and not the other') has a singular noun.

'Do you speak French or Spanish?' 'I speak both languages.'
'Which one is easier for you?' 'Either language is OK.'
'How about writing?' 'No, I can't write very well in either language.'
'And your wife?' 'No, she speaks neither language.'

1 Put in both, either or neither.
1 ................................. sisters are studying engineering.
2 'Do you want to come round tomorrow or Friday?' ' ......................... day is fine.'
3 'Do you like Brussels and Amsterdam?' 'I don't know ......................... city.'
4 Use ......................... hands to carry the vase - it's heavy.
5 ................................. films looked interesting, but ......................... was much good, in fact.
6 ................................. her sons studied physics, but ................................. boy works in science.
7 ................................. shirt would look good on you. Why don't you buy one of them?
8 I don't like ......................... camera. And ......................... cameras are very expensive.
9 He's a good player, and he can kick equally well with ......................... foot.
10 'Which car can I take?' 'You can take ................................. car. ......................... cars are full of petrol.'
11 I'm busy on ......................... the next two Tuesdays.
12 I paid for ......................... tickets - yours and mine.

2 Both hands/feet/eyes or either hand/foot/eye?
- You can pick up a small chair with ................................. hand.
- To move a table you probably need ................................. hands.
1 You play a piano with ..................................
2 You need ................................. and ................................. to play an organ.
3 You can kick a football with ..................................
4 You can hold a fork in ..................................
5 You can turn a key with ..................................
6 It's easier to make a bed if you use ..................................
7 People usually watch TV with ................................. open.
8 You can look through a telescope with ..................................
9 I can write with ................................., equally badly.
10 When you're walking, you never have ................................. off the ground.

'Hold a true friend with both hands.'
(Nigerian proverb)

'To love and be loved is to feel the sun from both sides.'
(David Viscott)

'My candle burns at both ends. It will not last the night. But ah, my foes, and oh, my friends - It gives a lovely light.'
(Edna St Vincent Millay)
Which? and what?

We ask which? when there is a limited choice.

Which size do you want — small, medium or large?

We ask what? when there is a wide choice.

What is your shoe size?

Sometimes both are possible.

Which/What day next week can you come and see us?

1. Which or what?
   1. We’ve got red wine and white — ................. will you have?
   2. ................. books did you read for last year’s English class?
   3. ................. was your favourite subject at primary school?
   4. ................. English king had six wives?
   5. ................. ’s your name?
   6. ................. hand do you write with?
   7. ................. kind of car have you got?
   8. I’m going to buy a new carpet. ................. colour should I get?
   9. ................. party do you think will win the election?
   10. ................. subject do you prefer, chemistry or physics?

Before of and one, we can use which but not what.

Which of the countries in Europe have you visited? (NOT What of...?)*

Look at all those stars. Which one is the nearest? (NOT What one...?)

When there is no noun, we use who for people, not which. Compare:

Which boxer won?  Who won? (NOT Which won?)

2. Which, what or who?
   1. ................. of the books on the list have you already read?
   2. There are two coats on the bed. ................. one is yours?
   3. I really don’t know ................. earrings to wear with this dress.
   4. ................. time shall we meet tomorrow?
   5. ................. of your brothers is the one who works in Paris?
   6. ................. got the job, Andy or Liz?
   7. ................. language do you speak at home?
   8. I don’t remember ................. of your parents plays the piano.
   9. ................. gave you that – John or Alex?
   10. I can come to your place, or we can meet at mine. ................. is best for you?
other(s) and another

When other is used before a plural noun, it does not have -s.
When other is used without a noun, it has -s in the plural. Compare:

Tell the other people. (NOT ... the others people.)
Tell the others.
Can you show me some other shoes?
Can you show me some others?

1 Write other or others.
1 I could see Karima and Nedjma at their desks - but where were the ................. ?
2 Long after all the ................. cars had left, Dawson's BMW was still there.
3 I'll phone all the .......... if you'll phone Ted and Lucy, OK?
4 I can play the Sonata in C, but not any of the ..................
5 Do you know any ................. people who might have a reason to do this?
6 This doesn't suit me. Have you got any ................. colours?
7 Some metals are magnetic and ................. aren't.
8 The police arrested Jane, Fred and two ..................
9 I wish that girl would play more with ................. children.
10 Gerald Durrell wrote a book called 'My Family and ................. Animals'.

We can use another (one word) to mean 'one more'. But with uncountables and plurals, we do not generally use other to mean 'more'. Compare:

Have another potato. (NOT ... an other potato.)
Have some more meat. (NOT ... other meat.)
We need more cups.

2 Write expressions with another or with more.
   ➤ English more English
   ➤ book another book
   ➤ eggs more eggs
   1 clothes
   2 friends
   3 child
   4 hour
   5 mile
   6 sleep
   7 job
   8 possibilities
   9 money
   10 time
   11 freedom
   12 holidays
   13 problem
   14 question
   15 tickets

We can use another + few or another + a number with a plural noun.

Let's wait another few minutes. (='... a few more minutes.')
The job will take another ten days. (='... ten more days.')

3 Change the expressions to use another.
   ➤ three more pages another three pages
   1 a few more days
   2 a hundred more pounds
   3 twenty more miles
   4 a few more mistakes
   5 a million more dollars

Some answers, both contracted forms (for example 'm, don't) and full forms (for example 'am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
We use determiners (some, any, much, many, more, most, few, enough etc) with of before other determiners (the, this, my etc) and before personal pronouns (it, us etc).

Determiner + of
- before the: some of the matches we played
- before this etc: more of that coffee
- before my etc: most of our meals
- before it, us etc: enough of it, most of them

Determiner without of
- some matches (NOT some of matches)
- more coffee, I'll have more.
- most meals, I cook most.
- enough water, most elections

The same thing happens with numbers one, two etc.

two of the dogs, four of my friends

two dogs, four friends

Before of we use every one, not every, and none, not no.

every one of the dogs, none of my friends

every dog, no friend

1. Put in of or nothing (-).

Dear Phil,

Well, some our luggage has arrived, so things could be worse. I've got the books and papers, but I've lost most my clothes. I haven't got any socks at all, and I'll have to buy some more jeans, but at least I've got enough underwear for the week. (They don't sell it here. I don't think they wear it.) I'm going to buy a few those woollen shirts that you like, and one the big coats that we looked at. They've got no shoes in my size, unfortunately, and none the jackets suit me. Anyway, I'm not alone. Every one us has lost something — in fact, three people have got no luggage at all. Well, as they say, into each life a little rain must fall. See you on the 17th.

Andy

Note the difference between most people (talking about people in general) and most of the people (talking about particular people).

Most people want to have children. Most of the people I know live in the country.

2. Put in most people or most of the people.

1. enjoy talking about themselves.
2. who wanted to see the match were disappointed.
3. in our street.
4. like dancing.

6. on the train were going on holiday.
7. He gets on with
8. at the party were friends of Jan's.
9. I work with live in London.
10. would like more money and less work.

Note: we often drop of after all and both. After a lot / lots / plenty we always use of with a noun or pronoun (see page 173).

all (of) my problems, both (of) her brothers, a lot of good ideas (NOT a lot good ideas)
1 Mixed structures. Circle the correct forms.

1. This car hardly uses petrol / some petrol / any petrol / no petrol.
2. Could you lend me money / some money / any money for a few days?
3. I have never told someone / anyone about your past.

13. She had a rose behind every / each ear, and one in her teeth.
14. ‘Monday or Tuesday?’ ‘Both / Either days are OK.’
15. Which / What language do they speak in Azerbaijan?

2 Any = 'one or another'. Answer the questions using any.

1. Where can you get: a plane ticket? any travel agent’s
   - petrol?
   - dog food?
   - stamps?
   - running shoes?
   - a dictionary?

2. Who can give you advice on: English pronunciation?
   - getting a divorce?
   - paying your taxes?
   - problems with your camera?
   - milking cows?

3 Mixed structures. Correct the mistakes. (One of sentences 1–15 is correct.)

- I haven’t got some money. any

13. She showed me two sweaters, but I didn’t like neither.
14. Would you like other meat, or have you got enough?
15. I learnt French at school, but I’ve forgotten all.
4 No etc. Write sensible answers. Use no, none, nothing, and nobody.

- ‘Why can’t you take me to school in the car today?’ Because I’ve got no time

  1. ‘Can you ask someone in your family to help you with your French?’
  2. ‘How many of your brothers are married?’
  3. ‘Jeremy says his father speaks seventy-six languages.’
  4. ‘Do we have to go out tonight? Can’t we eat at home?’
  5. ‘Do you think I could ask you for a cup of coffee?’
  6. ‘Why don’t you phone home to find out if your letter’s arrived?’
  7. ‘If you’re bored, why don’t you go to the cinema?’
  8. ‘Why didn’t you buy any flowers?’
  9. ‘Why didn’t you join in the conversation last night?’

5 Grammar in a text: formality. Choose a phrase from each pair in the box to write a) a formal text and b) an informal text.

SECTION 13 personal pronouns and possessives

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

\[
\begin{array}{ll}
\text{l, you, he, she, it, we, you, they} & \text{me, you, him, her, it, us, you, them} \\
\text{my, your, his, her, its, our, your, their} & \text{mine, yours, his, hers, ours, yours, theirs} \\
\text{myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, ourselves, themselves} & \text{each other} \end{array}
\]

We use pronouns when it is not necessary, or not possible, to use a more exact noun phrase.

Jake emailed me yesterday. He said …

(The speaker uses the personal pronoun he because it is not necessary to repeat 'Jake'.)

Karen talks about herself all the time.

(It is unnecessary to repeat 'Karen'.)

In this section we explain uses of personal pronouns (I, me, you etc), possessives (my, your etc and mine, yours etc), reflexives (myself, yourself etc) and each other.

'I used to do it all myself, but now I have my lawyers handle it.'

'For your first effort you should write about something you understand. Don't write about yourself.'

2. Correct the mistakes.

- I haven’t phoned her yet.
- Our house is a lot older than their.
- There are 30 miles to the nearest hospital.
- ‘What’s Annie’s address?’ ‘Have forgotten.’
- Darren and Cindy are interesting. But their parents!
- I told they to go home.
- I bought my ticket, but I didn’t have enough money for your.
- John and her mother are on holiday.
- We are Tuesday.
- That’s not my coat – this is mine.
- Is that your bike?
- Is December 1st today.
- ‘Is the pie OK?’ ‘Yes, I like.’

3. Put in a personal pronoun (me, you etc) or a possessive (my, your etc or mine, yours etc).

- It’s five o’clock.
- I don’t like me and he doesn’t like me.
- I can’t find your keys. Can I borrow your keys?
- That girl keeps losing her shoes.
- Peter’s coming this evening with his three sisters.
- I think her job is more interesting than my, but she thinks me is more interesting than me.
- Mary’s mother’s really nice, but I don’t like her father much.
- We’ve invited Jan and Peter to dinner twice, but their have never invited me back.
- How far is it to Paris from here?
- I bought some chops for supper, but I left mine on the bus.
- That car has got something wrong with its steering.

4. Put in its, it’s, whose or who’s.

- I like your dog. What’s its name?
- Do you know the woman who’s talking to Elizabeth?
- The company’s in trouble. It’s closing three of its factories.
We don't put possessives immediately after articles or after this/that etc. Instead, we use the structure a/this etc ... of mine/ yours etc.

She's a friend of mine. (NOT She's a my friend.)
How's that brother of yours? (NOT How's that your brother?)

1 Use this structure to join the ideas.

▷ that + your smelly dog .........................................................
1 these + our silly cats ............................................................
2 that + her unemployed brother ............................................
3 another + my good friend ....................................................
4 a + my brilliant idea ............................................................
5 these + his stupid plans ......................................................
6 those + your old books .......................................................
7 some + his distant relations ................................................
8 a + her beautiful cousin .....................................................
9 this + your wonderful news ................................................
10 that + our lazy son ...........................................................

We often use possessives with parts of the body and clothes.

Anne broke her arm skiing. (NOT Anne broke the arm skiing.)
He stood there, his eyes closed and his hands in his pockets.

2 Put in one of the words from the box with a suitable possessive.

coats eyes foot head lips mouth raincoat shoes sweater tail

1 It's cold. I'm going to put .................................................. on.
2 Helen dropped a heavy bag on ................................................. yesterday, and she can't walk.
3 That dog's hurt .................................................................
4 They took off ................................................................. and gave them to the waiter.
5 Look at the weather – and I've forgotten ................................ again.
6 I'll tell you everything if you promise to keep ....................... shut.
7 'You didn't write anything down.' 'It's all in ..............................'
8 'How do you know he's lying?' ' ........................................... are moving.'
9 Don't come into the house with ............................................. all wet.
10 Please open ................................................................. and look at me.

We often use the instead of a possessive in expressions with prepositions, especially when we talk about common kinds of pain and physical contact, and when the possessor has already been mentioned.

He's got a pain in the chest. She hit me on the head. I looked him in the eye.

We use possessives with own.

my own room / a room of my own (NOT an own room)

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
personal pronouns  ‘Who’s that?’  ‘It’s me.’

After be, we usually use object pronouns: me, him etc. (I, he etc are possible, but they are very formal and unusual in modern English.)

‘Who’s that?’  ‘It’s me.’ (NOT NORMALLY ‘It is I.’)  ‘Where’s Maggie?’  ‘That’s her over there.’

In short answers we can use me, him etc (informal) or I, he etc with a verb (more formal). The same thing happens after as and than.

INFORMAL                 MORE FORMAL
‘I’m thirsty.’  ‘Me too.’ (NOT ‘I too’) ‘I’m thirsty.’  ‘I am too.’  ‘So am I.’
‘Who’s paying?’  ‘Her.’    ‘Who’s paying?’  ‘She is.’ (NOT ‘She’) I’ve got the same number as him.
I’ve got the same number as he has.
She gets paid more than me.
She gets paid more than I do.

1 Complete these informal sentences with suitable pronouns.
   1  ‘Who knows where the key is?’  ‘Only ……………, and I’m not telling you.’
   2  ‘I haven’t met Mark yet – is …………… here?’  ‘That’s …………… over there.’
   3  ‘I’ve had enough of this party.’  ‘………………. too.’
   4  ‘Who bought these flowers?’  ‘It was ……………. I thought you’d like them.’
   5  He’s faster than ………………, but I’m stronger than ……………
   6  John’s two years younger than Alice, but ………………’s nearly as tall as ………………
   7  ‘Who said that?’  ‘It was ……………… – the man in glasses.’
   8  You’ve got almost the same colour eyes as ………………, but mine are smaller.
   9  You may be older than ………………, but I don’t have to do what you say.
  10  ‘Which is Mario’s wife?’  ‘That must be ……………… just getting out of the car.’

2 Change these to make them more formal or less formal.
   ▶ I live in the same street as him.
      I live in the same street as he does.

1 Anne’s got the same car as me.
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

2 They’ve been here longer than us.
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

3 I’m much taller than him.
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

4 ‘He’s going to Mexico.’  ‘Me too.’
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

5 ‘Who said that?’  ‘Her.’
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

6 We are not as old as they are.
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

7 He had a bigger meal than I did.
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

8 I am not as quick as she is.
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

9 ‘We are from York.’  ‘So am I.’
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………

10 ‘Who wants a drink?’  ‘I do.’
   ………………………………………………………………………………………………………
We generally use who as both subject and object. Whom is unusual, especially in questions, except in a formal style. (For whom in relative clauses, see page 269.)

Who do you want to see? (More natural than Whom do you want to see?)

We use it to refer to nothing, everything, something and anything.

We also use it when we answer questions about who people are.

Nothing is ever the way you expect it to be.

‘Who’s the woman in red?’ ‘It’s Clara Lewis.’ (NOT ‘She’s Clara Lewis.’)

People generally use he and she for their cats, dogs, horses etc; some people use she for their cars, motorbikes and boats. Countries are usually it.

You can take my horse, but don’t ride him on the main road – he’s a bit nervous.

‘How’s the car?’ ‘She’s running beautifully.’

Britain imports more than it exports.

3 Put in a suitable pronoun.

1. ‘What’s your cat’s name?’ ‘Annie. .................. understands everything we say.’
2. Thailand is quite unusual: .................. has never been ruled by another country.
3. ‘Do you know who the managing director is?’ ‘.................. Rose Berczuk.’
4. Come and have a ride in my new sports car. .................. runs beautifully – like a bird.
5. Nothing happened while I was away, did ..................?
6. .................. did you have lunch with?
7. ‘Who’s that on the phone?’ ‘..................’ s your father.’
8. Australia doesn’t accept as many immigrants as .................. used to.
9. I don’t know .................. she’s going out with now.
10. Everything always happens when you don’t want .................. to.

\'I don’t know anybody who says “It is I”.'.
\'Me?\' reflexives She taught herself to play the guitar.

We use reflexives when the object is the same person/thing as the subject.

I cut myself shaving this morning. (NOT I-cut-me ...)

He tried to kill himself. (Different from He tried to kill him.)

The lights switch themselves on at night.

1 Put in myself, yourself etc or me, you etc.

Own replaces possessive reflexives: my own room (NOT my own’s room).
You and one can mean ‘people in general’ (including the speaker and hearer). One is more formal than you.

You/One can’t learn French in a month.
You dial / One dials 999 in an emergency.

One has a possessive one’s.

One’s own problems always seem important.

To talk about people not including the speaker/hearer, we use they or a passive.

They speak English in this shop. English is spoken in this shop.

200 PERSONAL PRONOUNS AND POSSESSIVES

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
SECTION 14 nouns

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

English nouns can be countable (we can say two dogs) or uncountable (we can’t say two waters).

Countable nouns have plurals (dogs), and we can use a/an with them (a dog, an apology).

Uncountable nouns have no plurals, and we can’t use a/an before them.

Some English uncountable nouns are countable in some other languages (like information).

We can join two nouns:

- with a possessive 's or 's (for example my sister’s car, my parents’ neighbours).
- with a preposition (for example the top of the hill).
- directly one after the other (for example orange juice, a flower shop).

Usually, an idea can be expressed in only one of these ways, and it is often difficult to know which is correct. The rules on pages 207–210 will help, but there are exceptions – this is a difficult point of grammar.

revise the basics: countable and uncountable nouns

Countable nouns have plurals, and can be used with a/an.

- a chair – chairs
- a house – houses
- an idea – ideas

Uncountable nouns have no plurals, and cannot normally be used with a/an. Examples: air, water, sand, intelligence, English, weather.

Can you open a window? I need air. (NOT... an-air OR... airs)
She speaks good English. (NOT... a-good English.)
It's terrible weather. (NOT... a-terrible weather.)

3. Write six sentences, using at least two plurals from Exercise 1 in each.

Foxes don't like tomatoes.

One potatoe, two potatoes

IN JUNE 1992, US Vice-President Dan Quayle visited a school class in New Jersey while the children were having a spelling competition. When 12-year-old William Figueroa wrote the word potato correctly on the blackboard, Quayle told him he should add an e. William became a schoolchildren's national hero (without an e) and appeared on television; the Vice-President became an international laughing-stock as echoes (with an e) of his mistake went round the world.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
Singular nouns for groups of people often have plural verbs and pronouns in British English, especially when we are talking about personal kinds of action. Compare:

My family are very angry with me: they think I should go to university.
The average family has 3.5 members: it is much smaller than in 1900.
The team are going to lose again. They're useless.
A cricket team is made up of eleven players, including its captain.

The following singular expressions can be followed by plural nouns and verbs:
a number of | the majority of | a couple of | a group of | a lot of | the rest of

A number of us are worried about it. (NOT A number of us is …)
The majority of teachers disagree.
There are a couple of children outside. The rest of the members are ill.

Some plural expressions (names of quantities, and expressions joined by and) have singular verbs.

Ten pounds is too much to pay. The United States is smaller than Canada. Fish and chips costs £8.

Choose the right verb.

1 A number of people has / have complained about the noise.
2 Do you think three pounds is / are a big enough tip?
3 Hamburger and chips is / are not a very healthy lunch.
4 In the latest rail union vote, the majority has / have voted to go on strike; the rest of the members is / are expected to support the strike fairly solidly.

Possessives usually replace articles before nouns. We can say the car or Sue's car, but not Sue's the car or the Sue's car. But a possessive word can have its own article: the boss's car.

NOTE ALSO: that car of Sue's; a friend of Joe's (like a friend of mine – see page 191).

2 Right or wrong? Correct the mistakes or write 'Correct'.

- my mother's car  mother's
- Anna's sister  Correct

1 Is this the teacher's pen? ........................................
2 Are you the Al's daughter? ......................................
3 Do you know Lesley's last name? ..............................

5 Here's my parents' address. ....................................
6 It was the school's responsibility. ............................
7 What's the Wilsons' number? ..................................
8 That's an old habit of Marion's. ..............................
9 It's a crazy idea of Alice. ......................................
10 Where is that brother of Carol? ..............................

'I laid 67,000 eggs last year, and if I don't receive a Mother's Day card there'll be trouble.'

NOTE: We spent the evening at Cathy's. (= ... at Cathy's house.)
She's at the hairdresser's.  I bought it at Harrod's.
possessive 's or of … my father's name; the name of the book

We use the possessive 's structure especially when the first noun is the name of a person, group of people, organisation, country or animal.
In other cases we generally prefer a structure with of. Compare:

- my father's name  the name of the book
- the firm's structure  the structure of plastic
- America's influence  the influence of alcohol
- the dog's head  the head of the bed

We also use the possessive 's structure with common 'time when' expressions, and in expressions of measurement of time.

today's paper  tomorrow's weather  yesterday's news a month's holiday  three hours' delay

1. Join the expressions in the box to make expressions with possessive 's or ' , or with of.

   - the club + its monthly meeting ✓  his parents + their car ✓  the world + its end ✓
   - Angela + her leg  the trees + their highest branches  my suitcase + its lock
   - your dog + its mouth  the bank + its branch in Paris  your office + its floor
   - the river + its mouth  my family + its name  the town + its atmosphere
   - our company + its best sales manager  the police force + its main problem
   - next week + its timetable  last night + its party  today + its news

2. Make two noun groups from each set of words.

   - file: your secretary, legal documents: your secretary's file, the file of legal documents
   - story: Helen, the French Revolution
   - bed: the stream, the patient
   - policy: full employment, the company
   - style: my favourite author, the 1930s
   - place: language education, women
   - ideas: modern physics, my son
   - rules: the club, football
   - view: the committee, the lake
   - head: the cat, the queue
   - arm: the chair, John

208 NOUNS
revise the basics: noun + noun

We often put one noun in front of another. The first noun is rather like an adjective, and is usually singular, even if the meaning is plural.

a horse race (a kind of race)  a race horse (a kind of horse)
a shoe shop (NOT a shoes shop)  a Lancashire man a ten-mile walk (NOT a ten-miles walk)

Articles belonging to the first noun are dropped in this structure. Officers in the army = army officers, NOT the army officers.

1 Match the expressions on the left with their meanings on the right.

| 0 coffee table  | A shoe made of leather ...... |
| 1 chocolate milk | B book describing cases ...... |
| 2 milk chocolate | C chocolate made with milk ...... |
| 3 book case     | D leather for making shoes ...... |
| 4 case book     | E drawing done in ink ...... |
| 5 leather shoe  | F garden with flowers in ...... |
| 6 shoe leather  | G ink used for drawing ...... |
| 7 flower garden | H milk flavoured with chocolate ...... |
| 8 garden flower | I piece of furniture for books ...... |
| 9 ink drawing   | J flower that grows in gardens ...... |
| 10 drawing ink  | K table for coffee ...... |

2 What do you call these?

1 a shop that sells music .......................... 9 furniture for the garden ..........................
2 a man from Birmingham ............................ 10 a sign in the road ............................
3 a frame for a picture ............................ 11 a brush for teeth ............................
4 tea made from mint ............................... 12 programmes about wildlife ........................
5 the clock in the station ........................... 13 a bottle for wine ............................
6 a rocket that goes into space ........................ 14 a play produced by a school ........................
7 a factory that makes biscuits ........................ 15 a paper that is sold in the evening ........................
8 powder made from soap ............................

3 Put these words into pairs to make noun + noun expressions. Change plural to singular if necessary.

antique bicycle bus cowboy door film grapes juice kitchen map newspapers publisher race roads shop station

..........................................................
..........................................................
..........................................................
..........................................................

..........................................................
..........................................................
..........................................................

Note the difference between, for example, a water bottle (a bottle for water, which may be full or empty) and a bottle of water (a bottle with water in).

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
noun + noun or preposition road signs; signs of anger

We use the noun + noun structure for well-known everyday combinations. To talk about things that do not go together so often, we usually prefer a structure with a preposition. Compare:

- a war film a film about a dog (NOT a dog film)
- a history book a book about violins (NOT a violin-book)
- a postman a man from the bank (NOT a bank-man)
- road signs signs of anger (NOT anger-signs)
- a corner table the girl in the corner (NOT the corner-girl)

1. Eight of these ideas can naturally be expressed by ‘noun + noun’. Which are they? Rewrite them.
   1. a cake made of chocolate
   2. a child in the garden
   3. a cupboard in the kitchen
   4. a box for matches
   5. paste for cleaning teeth
   6. discussions about furniture
   7. the door to the kitchen
   8. a bottle designed for wine
   9. a timetable of trains
   10. a book about the moon
   11. chairs for the garden
   12. a man with a hat

2. Look at the labels. Can you think of five more names of food that use the noun + noun structure?
   1. ........................................
   2. ........................................
   3. ........................................
   4. ........................................
   5. ........................................

Newspaper headlines often save space by using the noun + noun structure instead of the preposition structure. Strings of three or four nouns are common.

Channel ferry safety drill leaves 18 injured

Decision day in rail dispute

Football club burglars cut home phones

210 NOUNS
one(s)  a big one with cream

We use one(s) to avoid repeating a countable noun.

'What sort of cake would you like?' 'A big one with cream.'
'I'd like some shoes like the ones in the window.'
'Could you lend me a pen?' 'Sorry, I haven't got one.'

We don't use one for an uncountable noun.

We haven't got fresh cream. Would you like tinned? (NOT ... tinned-one.)

1 Put in words and expressions from the box with or without one(s).

10 Don't wash this in warm water. Use ......................................

If there is no adjective, we do not use a with one.

'What sort of cake would you like?' 'One with cream.' (NOT 'A-one...')

We use some/any without ones. We use mine etc instead of my one etc.

'Could you lend me some stamps?' 'I haven't got any.' (NOT 'I-any ones.)

'Which car shall we take?' 'Mine.' (NOT 'My-one)

2 Put in one, some, any or mine/yours etc.

1 'What sort of job would you like to do?' '............... where I travel a lot.'
2 I haven't got a train timetable, but ask Adrian - he may have .................

SECTION 15 adjectives and adverbs

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

Adjectives are words like easy, slow, sorry, important. They can go before nouns, or after some verbs (e.g. be, seem, look, appear, smell, taste). Some kinds of adjective normally go before others (e.g. opinion before description).

an interesting old cathedral

The exact rules are complicated (and not very important).

Adverbs are words like easily, slowly, yesterday, there. Different kinds of adverb go in different positions, for example with the verb, or at the end of a sentence.

Harry often goes to Denmark. I’ve never seen a rhinoceros. You are probably right.
I only play tennis with Gary. The team played badly last night.

Some words (e.g. fast, loud, daily) can be both adjectives and adverbs.

Many adverbs end in -ly (e.g. carefully). But a few words ending in -ly are adjectives (e.g. friendly).

—if a thing is worth doing, it is worth doing well.’
(Traditional)

—if a thing is worth doing, it is worth doing badly.’
(G K Chesterton)

’Speak softly and carry a big stick.’
(President Theodore Roosevelt)

‘Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely.’
(Lord Acton)

‘[You are] incredibly, inordinately, devastatingly, immortally, calamitously, hearteningly, adorably beautiful.’
(The poet Rupert Brooke to the actress Cathleen Nesbitt) revise the basics: adjectives, adverbs of manner

ADJECTIVES: kind, shy, cold, angry, wonderful, bad, unusual, mad
ADVERBS OF MANNER: kindly, shyly, coldly, angrily, wonderfully, badly, unusually, madly

We use adjectives after some verbs, to say how something is, seems, becomes, looks, feels, sounds, tastes or smells.

She is kind.
She seems/appears shy.
It's getting cold.

He felt angry (NOT He felt angrily).
That smells wonderful.

We use adverbs of manner with other verbs to say how something happens or is done.

She spoke kindly but shyly. (NOT She spoke kind …)
He answered me coldly.
He closed the door angrily.

7. This is a ............... house. I enjoy looking at it every time I walk past.
8. The team played ............... last Saturday.
9. Time seemed to go so ............... . When would he arrive?

We also use adverbs before adjectives, past participles, other adverbs and prepositional expressions.

It’s terribly cold. (NOT ... terrible cold.)
This is very badly cooked.
You’re driving unusually fast.
He was madly in love with her.

2 Choose the right word.

1. Angela is amazing / amazingly good with animals.
2. As soon as I saw him I was sure / surely he had been drinking.
3. Do you think that’s a real / really diamond in her ring?
4. I read an amazing / amazingly thing in the newspaper this morning.
5. One leg of the chair was slight / slightly damaged.
6. The door was bad / badly painted.
7. The food was wonderful / wonderfully, but the service was awful / awfully.
8. The room is clever / cleverly organised so three of us can work there.
9. We’re all complete / completely on your side.
10. He’s acted unbelievable / unbelievably stupidly in the past year.

Some verbs are used with both adjectives and adverbs, with different meanings.

You look angry. (= 'You seem angry.')
He looked angrily at the manager. (= 'He turned his eyes …')

His plan appeared impossible. (= 'His plan seemed …')

She suddenly appeared in the window. (= 'She was visible …')

216 ADJECTIVES AND ADVERBS

ADJECTIVES AND ADVERBS 217
adjectives without nouns  in the country of the blind

We can use the + adjective (without a noun) to talk about some social groups.

the young  the old  the rich  the poor  the sick  the disabled  the blind  the deaf the mentally ill  the homeless  the unemployed  the dead

These expressions are plural: the blind means 'blind people'. Compare:

I'm collecting money for the blind.
Do you know the blind person next door? (NOT ... the blind next door?)
I met a blind man on the train. (NOT ... a-blind ...)

We can’t use all adjectives in this way: we don’t normally talk about the foreign or the greedy, for example.

1 Complete the sentences with expressions from the box.

the blind  the dead  the living  the living  the old  the poor the poor  the rich  the rich  the young  the young

1 In the country of .......................................................... the one-eyed man is king.  (Anonymous)
2 Love, like youth, is wasted on .............................................. (Sammy Cahn)
3 When the rich make war on each other, it’s ........................................... who die.  (Jean-Paul Sartre)
4 It’s all that ................................................................. can do for ....................................................., to shock them and keep them up to date.  (George Bernard Shaw)
5 ‘Let me tell you about ........................................................ They are different from you and me.’
   ‘Yes, they have more money.’  (F Scott Fitzgerald and Ernest Hemingway)
6 We owe respect to the dead; to .............................................. we owe only truth.  (Voltaire)
7 ................................................ have more children, but ................................................ have more relatives.  (Anonymous)
8 Pray for ................................................................... and fight like hell for ................................................
   (Mother Jones)

The structure is also used with the following adjectives for nationalities: Dutch, English, French, Irish, Spanish, Welsh.

The Welsh have a very old literary tradition.

BUT: I like the Welshman who works in the garage. (NOT ... the Welsh ...)

2 Test your knowledge. Put in Dutch, English, French, Irish or Welsh.

1 The ................................................ have produced great painters, and are good at building canals.
2 The ................................................ are great musicians, and produce a famous beer called ‘Guinness’.
3 The ................................................ have also produced great painters, and make wonderful wine.
4 The ................................................ are good at rugby. They have their own language, and call their country ‘Cwmru’.
5 ‘Continentalists think life is a game. The ........................................ think cricket is a game.’  (George Mikes)

NOTE: This structure is not used with other adjectives for nationalities; instead, we use plural nouns.

The Brazilians speak Portuguese. (NOT The Brazilian ...)

218 ADJECTIVES AND ADVERBS order of adjectives  a terrible little boy; old and grey

2. Rewrite these descriptions in the right order.
   - books: old, terrible  terrible old books (opinion + description)
   - 1 city: Belgian, beautiful, little
   - 2 dinner: excellent, cold
   - 3 furniture: old, lovely
   - 4 ideas: strange, new
   - 5 university: grey, concrete, depressing

We use and with adjectives that refer to different parts of something. Compare:

a long green dress (NOT a long and green dress)
a long green and black dress

When adjectives come after a verb, we usually put and before the last.

He was tall, dark and handsome.  I'm cold, tired and hungry.

3. Rewrite the words in italics, adding and if necessary.
   - The brick was rough/pink.  rough and pink
   - A narrow/brown room
   - hot/breezy weather
   - untidy/red hair
   - The man was young/bearded.
   - The sea was cold/rough.
   - The church was old/ugly.
   - A quiet/tense woman
   - yellow/grey sand
   - The badges were red/blue.

First, next and last usually come before numbers.

the first three weeks (NOT the three-first weeks)
my last two holidays

*in some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.*
Adverbs with the verb I can never wake up in time.

Adverbs that go with the verb include words expressing frequency (e.g. always, often, usually, never) and certainty (e.g. definitely, probably). Note the exact position:

- I sometimes stay in bed late. I don’t often go to the doctor.

4 These sentences are all taken from real recorded conversations. Can you put the adverbs in the right places?

- You are here when something happens. (usually)
- Her mum cooks a meal in the evenings. (always)
- We book that April holiday in January. (usually)
- They think that we have got bread. (probably)
- You should look where you’re going. (always)
- She is going to stay overnight. (probably)
- Chocolate cakes are the best. (definitely)
- I will be able to get it cheaper. (probably)
- I have had an illness in my life. (never)
- We saw sweets in those days. (never)
- I remember buying some. (definitely)
- Do you read upside down? (usually)
- I can manage to get there. (usually)
- She has done that before. (never)
- Something is burning. (definitely)
- She has been nervous. (always)
- I feel cold in your house. (never)
- They were against me. (always)
- We are going to win. (definitely)
- February is the worst. (usually)
- It is very difficult. (sometimes)

21 I buy them in boxes. (always)
22 I have tried to find it. (often)
23 They are fighting. (always)
24 She saw this ghost. (often)
25 You are right. (probably)

‘You never tell me you hate me any more.’

If there is more than one auxiliary verb, adverbs of frequency and certainty usually go after the first auxiliary.

The roof has never been repaired. I will definitely be seeing him tonight.

Adverbs go before or after not, depending on the meaning. Compare:

It’s definitely not raining. She’s not often late.
even and only; end-position adverbs

Even and only can go just before the words that they emphasise.

He plays tennis even in the rain.   They've lived here only a few weeks.
He eats anything - even raw potatoes.   Only you could do a thing like that.

But they most often go with the verb when they focus on words later in the sentence.

He even plays tennis in the rain.   They've only lived here for a few weeks.
He's rude to everybody. He's even rude to me. (NOT Even he's rude to me.)
I only liked the first part of the concert.

1 Put in even or only.

- She talks to her brother. (only)  She only talks to her brother.
- I sing in his sleep. (even)
- I am doing this because I love you. (only)
- She gets up at six on Sundays. (even)
- He wears a suit on holiday. (even)
- She ate a piece of dry toast. (only)
- I can play very easy music. (only)
- He can’t write his own name. (even)
- They make you pay for a carrier bag. (even)
- I'm sorry. I was trying to help. (only)
- You can ski there in summer. (even)

At the end of a sentence we often put words and expressions which say how, where and when. They most often go in that order.

-She sang very well at the concert last night. The children were playing quietly in the garden.
-He works in the garage on Tuesdays. (NOT ... on Tuesdays in the garage.)
-He's working there now. Let's go to bed early. (NOT ... early to bed.)

We do not normally put adverbs between a verb and its object.

-You speak English very well. (NOT You speak very well English.)
-Can you repair my watch now? (NOT Can you repair now my watch?)

2 Put the words in brackets into the sentences (not before the verb).

- I work at night. (best)
- I don’t think she plays tennis. (very well)
- He always moves very slowly. (in the morning)
- She was crying in her room. (quietly)
- We talked about it briefly. (at lunchtime)
- I’m going to break the eggs into the bowl. (carefully)
- Ann works at the village shop. (on Saturdays)
- I paid at once. (the bill)
- She speaks Japanese. (fluently)
- I can’t explain my feelings. (clearly)
- The team played yesterday. (brilliantly)
- I think we’d better open the parcel. (now)
- I always worked at school. (very hard)
- She practises the piano here. (every evening)
- He read every word. (slowly)
- Put the butter in the fridge. (at once)

After verbs of movement, the order can be different: we most often put an expression of place first.

He went upstairs quietly.
confusing adjectives and adverbs: fast, hard, late ...

Some words can be both adjectives and adverbs.

if you've got a fast car, why don't you drive fast?

More examples:

SECTION 16 comparison

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

We can compare people and things with each other using as … as, -er than or more … than.
You're as silly as me. Luke's younger than me.
The second problem was much more difficult than the other three.

We can use the -est or the most to compare people and things with all of their group.
Carl is the fastest of the young sprinters. Ramona is the most sociable person in the class.

We use -er and -est with shorter adjectives and some short adverbs. We use more and most with other adjectives and adverbs.

Double comparatives
It's getting colder and colder. The children are more and more difficult these days.

The ... the ...
The more money she has, the more she wants.
The warmer it gets, the happier I am.

Some colourful and unusual comparisons:

as slow as a broken down snail as dirty as a dustbin lid as thick as two short planks (= 'stupid') as black as two o'clock in the morning as ugly as home-made soap as happy as a dog with two tails as poor as a church mouse as crooked as a dog's hind leg as crooked as a barrel of fish hooks as nervous as a brick wall as brave as the first man who ate an oyster as cold as an ex-wife's heart as big as the little end of nothing as welcome as a wet shoe as noisy as two skeletons dancing on a tin roof as dark as the inside of a wolf as scarce as hen's teeth
as exciting as watching paint dry

Why study?
The more I study, the more I know.
The more I know, the more I forget.
The more I forget, the less I know.
So why study?

A few words have irregular comparatives and superlatives.

Farther/further and farthest/furthest are both used to talk about distance.

We use further to mean ‘additional’ in some expressions. (NOT farther)

She lives three miles farther/further away from the office than I do.

further education  further information  further discussion

Elder and eldest are used with brother, sister, son, daughter, grandson, granddaughter.

John’s my elder brother. (I have one brother older than me.)

Sarah’s my eldest sister. (I have more than one sister.)
4 Complete the sentences with irregular comparatives.
1 'My computer keeps crashing.' 'Get a .................................. computer.'
2 'Why did your song win the competition?' 'It was the ..................................
3 It takes me the longest to get to work because my house is the .................................. from here.

10 We've got .................................. money than Andy and Tara, but we're happier. Maybe.
11 It's a nicer drive if you go there through the mountains, but it's much ..................................

using comparatives and superlatives

We use a comparative (with than) to compare one person, thing, action or group with another person, thing etc.
We use a superlative to compare one person, thing etc with the whole group that he/she/it belongs to.

Mary's taller than her three sisters. Mary's the tallest of the four girls.
Your accent is worse than mine. Your accent is the worst in the class.

Before a superlative we normally use the or a possessive.

the best singer my oldest friend John's most attractive quality

5 Compare hotels. Here are some facts about three hotels. Write at least ten sentences.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>HOTEL X</th>
<th>HOTEL Y</th>
<th>HOTEL Z</th>

</tbody>
</table>
| efficient? | ★★ | ★★★ | ★★★★
| friendly? | ☹️ | 😊😊😊😊 | 😊😊😊 |
| convenient? | city centre | middle of nowhere | two miles out |

Hotel Y is more expensive than Hotel Z. Hotel X is the most expensive of the three hotels.

Some people use a comparative instead of a superlative when the whole group has two members.

I like them both, but Sally's the nicer/nicest of the two.
You can have the bigger/biggest steak if you like – I'm not very hungry.
revise the basics: comparative and superlative adverbs

Comparative and superlative adverbs normally have more and most. We can put the before superlative adverbs, but we often leave it out.

Could you drive more slowly? (NOT ... slwlier?)
French is the language he speaks (the) most easily.
The following adverbs have -er, -est like adjectives: early, fast, hard, late, near, soon.
Better, best, worse and worst can be used as adverbs.

1 Complete the sentences with the comparatives or superlatives of words from the box.

beautifully    clearly    early    fast    fluently   hard    late    peacefully

1 If we don’t walk ................................., we’ll never arrive on time.
2 She sings ................................ than anyone else I’ve ever heard.

6 I would sleep ............................ if I weren’t worried about Tom.
7 For the 10.20 train, .................................. we can leave home is 10.
8 Mark speaks French ............................. of all the boys in his class.

2 Write sentences with comparative and superlative adverbs about people you know (family, friends, ...). For example, who sings best, sings worst, cooks better than you, cooks worse than you, can run fastest, gets up earliest, goes to bed later than you, works hardest?

Carlos sings best in my family. Kenji speaks English better than me.

3 Complete the captions with comparative adverbs.

A She ought to drive ..............................................
B He ought to drive ..............................................
as ... as  as many people as possible

We use as ... as to say that people or things are equal in some way.

She's as tall as her brother.  Is it as good as you expected?  She speaks French as well as the rest of us.

After not, we can use so ... as instead of as ... as.

He's not so/as successful as his father.

Other useful structures: as much/many as, the same as.

I haven't got as much time as I thought.  We need as many people as possible.

She earns twice as much money as me / as I do.

He went to the same school as me / as I did. (NOT ... to (a) same school ...)

1 Look at the information about Jake and Susie, and then write sentences comparing them using as ... as, not so/as ... as and the same ... as.

232 COMPARISON
We can use the ... the with comparatives to say that things change or vary together. Note the word order.

The older I get, the happier I am. (NOT Older I get, more I am happy.)
The more dangerous it is, the more I like it. (NOT The more it is dangerous ...)
The more money he has, the more useless things he buys. (NOT The more he has money ...)

'Can I invite some friends over?' 'Sure. The more the better.'

3 Complete the sentences with expressions from the box. Use the ... the.
(Different answers are possible.)

1 The older Mark gets, the more he looks like his grandfather.
2 I lived here, I like it.
3 It got, time we spent on the beach.
4 I get to know you, I understand you.
5 money he lost, it made him.
6 he drove, he laughed.
7 clothes she buys, clothes she wants to buy.
8 I get, my hair gets.

Before comparatives, we can use much, far, very much, a little, a bit (informal), a lot/lots (informal), any, no and even.

He's much/far older than her. (NOT He's very older...) She's very much happier in the new job.
I feel a little / a bit better. These grapes are a lot sweeter than the others.
The train's no quicker than the bus. You look even more beautiful than usual.

4 Compare some of the things in the box. Use much / very much / far / a little / a bit / a lot / even / no / any.

the Taj Mahal the Great Pyramid the White House a Ferrari a Ford a Volvo the Amazon the Thames the Rhône a pen a typewriter a computer a dog a cat a parrot a horse living in the country living in the city the Mediterranean the Atlantic Europe Africa Asia North America South America you your mother/father/friend/boss/teacher

The Taj Mahal is much older than the White House.
more about superlatives the best player of us all

After superlatives, we often use of.

It was the most successful of his early plays. She's the best player of us all.

The nicest moment of the day.

But we do not use of with a singular word for a place or group.

I'm the happiest man in the world. (NOT ... of the world.) She's the best player in the team.

1 Of or in after a superlative?

- the most interesting off all the suggestions
- the most experienced general in the Army
- the most famous actor of them all
- the best restaurant of Rome
- the most expensive of the books I bought
- the worst student of the class
- the highest mountain of Europe
- the oldest person of my family
- the most frightening of the four men
- the shortest day of the year
- the most comfortable chair of the office
- the most valuable of the paintings in the gallery

2 Write sentences with superlatives.

- Where I live, August / quiet month / year Where I live, August is the quietest month of the year
- Which / high mountain / Africa? Which is the highest mountain in Africa?
- Who / young / your three sisters? Who is the youngest of your three sisters?
- What / cheap / these three jackets? What is the cheapest of these three jackets?
- For a time, my grandfather / famous footballer / country For a time, my grandfather is the most famous footballer in my country.
- Cassie and Louise / fast swimmers / team Cassie and Louise are the fastest swimmers in their team.
- When I was a child, I / tall boy / my class When I was a child, I was the tallest boy in my class.
- For me, the early morning / good time / day For me, the early morning is the best time of the day.
- Andy is very quiet, but he / interesting person / the group Andy is very quiet, but he is the most interesting person in the group.

We normally use the before a superlative when we are comparing one person/thing/group with others.

It's the longest day of the year. This winter is the coldest in living memory.

But we do not use the when we are comparing somebody or something with him/her/itself in other situations.

He's nicest when he's had a few drinks. (NOT He's the nicest when ...) England is best in spring.

3 Invent suitable beginnings for these sentences. The or not?

- The weather is usually worst in February.
- Kathleen Ferrier was the best singer of her generation.
- 1 most beautiful city in my country.
- 2 most dangerous when they're hungry.
- 3 best modern writer.
- 4 most interesting person I've ever met.
- 5 quietest in the early morning.
- 6 most efficient way to learn a language.
- 7 most comfortable when there aren't too many people around.
like and as; so and such

We can use like and as to say that things are similar.
Like is a preposition, used before a noun or pronoun.
As is a conjunction, used before subject + verb or a prepositional expression.

He runs like the wind.  She looks like me.
Nobody knows her as I do.  On Friday, as on Monday, we meet at eight.

Note the common expressions as I said, as you know, as you see, as usual.

1. Like or as?
   1. He died ............... he lived, fighting.
   2. Being in love is ............... an illness.
   3. It's mended, ............... you can see.
   4. In Paris, ............... in Rome, traffic is heavy.
   5. His eyes are ............... knives.
   6. My brother isn't at all ............... me.
   7. She left ............... she came, silently.
   8. You're shy, ............... me.
   9. Your smile is ............... your sister's.
   10. ............... I said, you're too late.

In informal speech (but not writing), many people use like as a conjunction.

Nobody loves you like I do.  Like I said, she wasn't there.

To talk about jobs, functions etc, we use as, not like.

He's working as a waiter. (NOT He's working like a waiter.)  I used my shoe as a hammer.

Compare:

As your brother, I must warn you to be careful. (I am your brother.)

Like your brother, I must warn you ... (We both warn you.)

We use so before an adjective (without a noun), or an adverb.
We use such before (adjective +) noun. A/An comes after such.

She's so babyish.  I'm so hungry that I could eat a horse.
... your country, which is so beautiful. (NOT ... your so beautiful country.)
I wish you wouldn't drive so fast.
She's such a baby.  I didn't know you had such nice friends.
It was such a comfortable bed that I went straight to sleep.

2. Put in such or so.
   1. The weather was ............... cold that all the football matches were cancelled.
   2. The book was ............... boring that I stopped reading it.
   3. It was ............... a good film that I went to see it three times.
   4. They've got ............... a nice house that I always love staying there.
   5. It was ............... a hot day that nobody could do any work.
   6. Their garden is ............... beautiful!
   7. His voice is ............... pleasant that I could listen to him all day.
   8. I don't know why she talks in ............... a loud voice.
   9. The canteen served ............... bad food that nobody could eat it.
   10. The case was ............... heavy that I couldn't lift it.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
Forms. Write the comparatives and superlatives.

SECTION 17 conjunctions

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

after although and as if as long as as soon as because before but provided that so so that until when while both ... and either ... or neither ... nor

(For if, see Section 18.)

We use conjunctions to join sentences together.
I rang John because I didn't know what to do. We came home after the shops closed.
She can take my bike as long as she brings it back this evening.

Some conjunctions (and the words that follow them) can go in two places.
I told him as soon as I knew. As soon as I knew, I told him.

We use present tenses to talk about the future with time-conjunctions.
I'll wait here until the office opens.

We can use perfect tenses with time conjunctions to express completion.
Traffic will be easier after they've built the new road.
As soon as I had checked in, I phoned Pat and Alice to fix a meeting.

After some conjunctions, -ing forms can be used.
Always look in the mirror before driving off.

- I rang John because I didn't know what to do.
- As soon as I had checked in.
- I phoned Pat and Alice.
- We came home after the shops closed.
- I'll wait here until the office opens.
revise the basics: use and position of conjunctions

Conjunctions join clauses into sentences. Examples: but, because, while, if.

She was poor but she was honest. I went to bed because I was tired.
Can you watch the kids while I'm out? I'll do it if I can.

DO IT YOURSELF Which of the words could come just before ‘... she went home’?
Those words are conjunctions. The others are not.

after …… Yes: all …… although …… and …… as …… at …… because …… before …… by …… if …… or …… since ……
so …… that …… this …… under …… unless …… until …… when …… whether …… with ……

Some conjunctions and their clauses can go either first or last in a sentence.
We often use a comma (,) when the conjunction and its clause are first in the sentence.

If you need help, come and see me. Come and see me if you need help.

2 Write the sentences with the clauses in italics first, when this is possible.

1. I'll come round to your place after I've finished work.

2. Let's have a weekend in the country when the weather gets better.

3. You ought to see Paula before you go back to Canada.

4. I'm quite sure that she's telling the truth.

5. I enjoyed the lecture, although I didn't understand everything.

6. Your train leaves in half an hour, so you'd better hurry.

One conjunction is enough to join two clauses – we do not normally use two conjunctions.

Although she was tired, she went to work. She was tired, but she went to work.
(BUT NOT Although she was tired, but she went to work.)

As you know, I work very hard. You know that I work very hard.
(BUT NOT As you know, that I work very hard.)

3 Put in a conjunction or nothing (-).

- Although he was very bad-tempered, everybody liked him. (but / -)
- He was very bad-tempered, but everybody liked him. (but / -)

1. Always brush your teeth ……… you have a meal. (after / -)
2. As Liz told you, her mother went back home last week. (that / -)
3. Because I knew her family, I tried to help her. (so / -)
4. Don't do that again ……… I'll hit you. (or / -)
5. Emily explained ……… her mother left for Berlin last Friday. (that / -)
6. I was sorry for her, I did what I could for her. (so / -)
7. If you do that again, I'll call the police. (and / -)
8. There'll be trouble ……… he stops that. (unless / -)
I’ll tell you when I know myself. I’ll see you before I go.
Let’s go out after the rain stops. You won’t get in until you buy a ticket.
I know she’ll phone as soon as I go to bed. If you hold it like that, it’ll break.

1 Put in the correct verb form: present tense or will … .

1 When I ............ time, I ............ to her. (have; write)
2 .................................. here until the plane ............ off? (you stay; take)
3 As soon as I ............, I ............ you. (arrive; phone)
4 If you ............. there first, keep a seat for me. (get)
5 I ............. you again when I ............. next in London. (see; be)
6 I ........................ the window as soon as it ............. raining. (open; stop)
7 You can borrow my coat if you ............. it back. (bring)
8 I ............. here until you ............. time to answer my question. (wait; have)
9 After you ............. university, you ............. time to travel a bit. (finish; have)
10 It ............. dark before we ............. home. (be; get)

2 Look at Bill and Ann’s summer dates and complete the conversation.

BILL AND ANN’S SUMMER DATES
The children will get out of school at midday on July 8th. ✓
Bill’s brother will be in England from July 12th to July 14th.
Bill and Ann’s new car will be ready on July 17th.
Eric will go back to work on July 20th.
Ann’s father will go into hospital on July 25th.

BILL: Let’s go to Eric’s from the 4th to the 30th.
ANN: No, we can’t leave until the 8th. The children, remember?
BILL: OK. We’ll leave as soon as the children ............. out of school.
ANN: That won’t work, because we’ll have to be here while .............
BILL: Then we’ll go from the 15th to the 30th.
ANN: No, we’ll have to be back before ............. on the 25th.
BILL: OK. The 15th to the 24th—it is.
ANN: Well, in that case, let’s wait until ............. on the 17th.
BILL: The 17th to the 24th. Right.
ANN: But we can’t stay with Eric after .............
BILL: Fine. The 17th to the 20th.
ANN: No, because …

If and when can be followed by will in indirect and direct questions.
I don’t know if I’ll be there. They haven’t said when it’ll be ready.
When will I see you again?
We can also use will after if in polite requests.
If you will just come this way …

CONJUNCTIONS 241
using certain conjunctions: so that, as long as, until etc

Do you know how to use these conjunctions: so that (purpose), while (contrast), as long as / provided (that), until, as if/though?

Let’s start now, so that we’re sure to have enough time.
You can go out as long as (OR provided / provided that) you tell us where you’re going.
The summers here are wet, while the winters are very dry.
I’ll look after the kids until you get back.
I feel as if (OR as though) I’m getting a cold.

In a formal style, whereas can be used in the same way as while.
Sound travels at 330 metres per second, whereas light travels at 300,000 kilometres per second.
In an informal style, like is often used in the same way as as if.
I feel like I’m getting a cold.

1 Choose the best conjunctions.

7 It looks .................. it’s going to rain. (as if, whereas, provided that)
8 You can cancel the ticket .................. you tell the airline 48 hours in advance. (while, until, provided that)
9 I’m going to the bank now, .................. I’ll have enough money for shopping. (until, so that, as long as)
10 .................. I think his novels are good, his poetry is not so impressive. (until, as if, whereas)

2 Put in as long as or so that.

1 He went to Switzerland ............................... he could learn French.
2 I don’t mind you singing ............................... you do it quietly.
3 We moved the piano ............................... there would be room for the Christmas tree.
4 We’ll play tennis ............................... it doesn’t rain.
5 We’ll come back this afternoon ............................... that’s OK with you.
6 I put another blanket on the bed ............................... I would be warm enough.

3 Rewrite these sentences, beginning While ...

- It was sunny, but there was a cold wind.
  While it was sunny, there was a cold wind.
1 She’s very clever, but she’s got no common sense at all.

2 I know how you feel, but I think you’re making a mistake.

3 The job’s well paid, but it’s deadly boring.

4 I’m interested in economics, but I wouldn’t want to work in a bank.

5 The hotel was nice, but it was a long way from the beach.

perfect for completion when I’ve finished

With time conjunctions, we can use a present perfect tense to express completion in the future.

I’ll have lunch when I’ve finished these letters.
Trafﬁc will be easier after they’ve built the new road.
As soon as Annie’s gone back home we’ll have a party.

1 Change the sentences to emphasise the idea of completion.
   - I’ll come and see you when I ﬁnish work.

     I’ll come and see you when I’ve ﬁnished work.

   1 When I ﬁnish my exams I’m going to sleep for a week.
   2 I’ll go shopping as soon as it stops raining.
   3 After I do the washing up I’m going to have a bath.
   4 I’ll phone Sally when I ﬁnd her number.
   5 Let’s wait here until Peter arrives.
   6 When I ﬁnish the report I’ll ask you to read it.

   We can use a past perfect with time conjunctions in a similar way; to show that something was completely ﬁnished before something else happened.

   After he had painted the kitchen and bathroom, he decided to have a rest.
   As soon as I had checked in, I phoned Pat and Alice to ﬁx a meeting.
   We couldn’t get into the ofﬁce until the cleaners had ﬁnished.

We talked for a little but, I was getting nowhere, I went out onto the beach and stood the sea. Why was I still with this man? I had been with him for five years now, looking after him, him out of depression after depression, ways to give him back his self-respect, and all the hope I had of a life of my own. And for what purpose? Love? What did that mean? I had perhaps thirty years of life left, carefully, those years could bring me great happiness. Did I want to spend them a self-centred bad-tempered fool?

from the sea, I looked up at the sky and once again asked my question: 'What is love? And is it worth the trouble?'
No answer, as usual. a smile on my face, I went back in and poured us both a drink.

HOLIDAY PLANS

Everything was OK 1 .......... we started talking about holidays. Then it got difficult. The problem was, 2 .............. John and I wanted to go to the Alps 3 .............. we could do some climbing, Jenny just wanted to spend two weeks lying on the beach. I said I didn’t mind spending a week at the seaside 4 .............. we could go to the mountains after that. But John said he couldn’t go to the seaside 5 .............. his allergy to sand and salt. Jenny said that 6 .............. most of us wanted to go to the mountains, she would go along with the majority, 7 .............. personally she hated mountains.

Carola said that she didn’t mind where we went 8 .............. she didn’t have to do any cooking. Then Mark said something very unpleasant. 9 .............. Carola had stopped crying, Jenny said, ‘Well, what about two weeks in Rome?’ and everybody else started shouting, ‘Are you crazy? Rome in August. 35 degrees,’ etc etc. When they had all finished shouting I said I’d make a cup of tea 10 .............. we could all calm down a little. Jenny said she would prefer coffee, and John said he could only drink 11 .............. decaf 12 .............. water, and Carola said she would like fruit juice.

13 .............. I was beginning to get a little cross by this time, I kept my temper 14 .............. everything. I just asked politely if they thought I was running a hotel. Then Jenny said something very unpleasant, and Carola said she thought she would have a lovely holiday 15 .............. she didn’t have to go with any of us, and John threw a book at her, and Carola hit John with a flower vase, and everything became extremely confused. 16 .............. the police had left, we decided to put off a decision about holidays for a day or two.

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

In sentences with if, most tenses are possible.
He certainly won't come tomorrow if he came yesterday. If that was John, why didn't he say hello?
If you've been to Rome, I suppose you've seen the Colosseum. Metals expand if you heat them.
If you're happy, I'm happy.

Note the following three important structures:

- present tenses for future:
  With if (and many other conjunctions) we use present tenses to talk about the future.
  I'll tell you if I get any news. (NOT ... if I will get any news.)

- if + past, ... would ...
  We can use past tenses with if to show that we feel something is not real or not probable now.
  (We normally use would in the other part of the sentence.)
  If I spoke Arabic, I would go and work in Egypt.

- if + past perfect, ... would have ...
  To talk about unreal past events - situations that did not happen - we use if + past perfect.
  (We normally use would have + past participle in the other part of the sentence.)
  If I had taken Mary's advice, I would have been in deep trouble.

These three structures are often called 'first', 'second' and 'third conditional'.
The structure with two present tenses (e.g. if you're happy, I'm happy) is sometimes called 'zero conditional', for no very good reason.

We can use unless to mean 'if not', 'except if':
You can't work here unless you belong to the union. (= ... if you don't belong to the union.)

Note the difference between in case and if.
I'll take my raincoat in case it rains. (= ... because it might rain.)
I'll put my raincoat on if it rains.

Past tenses can be used to talk about the present or future not only after if, but also after it's time and would rather (= 'would prefer').

It's time you went home.
I'm busy today. I'd rather we had the meeting tomorrow.

"If we had some eggs we could have bacon and eggs if we had some bacon."
(old army joke)

‘Look, I should sit down if I were you. Have you got a drink? Now it's nothing to worry about, really it isn't...’
revise the basics: ordinary tense use

If can be used with the same tenses as most conjunctions.

If you didn’t do much maths at school, you’ll find economics difficult.

If that was John, why didn’t he say hello? Metal expands if you heat them.

An if-clause can come at the beginning or end of a sentence. When it comes first, it is often separated by a comma (,) in writing.

If you have any problems, telephone 4966498. Telephone 4966498 if you have any problems.

1. Complete the sentences with expressions from the box.

1. If anybody asks you what you’re doing, ..............................................................
2. How can you make decisions if ..............................................................................
3. If you did the test last week, ..................................................................................
4. If I don’t get up till nine, ......................................................................................
5. If John couldn’t fix the computer yesterday, ..........................................................
6. If she said she didn’t know me, ..............................................................................
7. The shops are easy to get to if ..................................................................................
8. We don’t have to go out if ..........................................................................................
9. If you’re ready before eight, ....................................................................................
10. You have to practise if ..............................................................................................

After if, we normally use a present tense to talk about the future. (This happens after most conjunctions.)

If I have enough time tomorrow, I’ll come and see you. (NOT If I will have …)
I’ll give her your love if I see her. (NOT … If I will see her.)
If it’s fine tomorrow, I’m going to paint the windows.

2. Put in the correct tenses (present or ‘ll …).

1. If you ……………………… that again, I ………………….. (say; scream)
2. I ………………….. surprised if she ………………….. to sell that car. (be; manage)
3. If the boys ………………….. to supper, I ………………….. chicken breasts. (come; cook)
4. I ………………….. some money if we ………………….. out tonight. (need; go)

9. If you ………………….. in the top drawer, you ………………….. your passport. (look; find)
10. It ………………….. funny if Norman ………………….. the job. (be; get)

3. Complete these sentences any way you like.

1. I won’t be surprised if ..............................................................................................
2. I’ll be very happy if .................................................................................................
3. I’ll be sorry if ...........................................................................................................
We use if + past tense + would to talk about things that are not real or not probable now.

<table>

After I and we, should is possible instead of would. (Would is more common.)

If I had time, I would/should learn the saxophone.

Put in the correct verb forms.

1. The kitchen ................... better if we .................... red curtains. (look; have)
2. Where ..................... if you .................. a picture frame? (you go; need)
3. I ......................... this if I ................... to. (not do; not have)
4. If I ...................... his address, I ................... round and see him. (know; go)
5. What ...................... if you .................. the lottery? (you do; win)
6. It ...................... quicker if you .................. a computer. (be; use)
7. If you ....................... busy, I ..................... you how to play bridge. (not be; show)
8. If we ..................... some eggs, I ..................... you a cake. (have; make)
9. If you really ................... me, you ................... me diamonds. (love; buy)
10. If it ....................... so cold, I ..................... the garden. (not be; tidy up)
11. If I ..................... the keys, I ..................... you the cellar. (have; show)

After if, we often use were instead of was. In a formal style, were is considered more correct.

If I were rich, I would spend all my time travelling.

Make sentences using if ... were.

- He / a better dancer / her feet / not hurt.
  if he were a better dancer, her feet wouldn’t hurt.

1. I / a rabbit / live in a hole

2. I / forty years younger / go dancing all night

3. I / Moroccan / speak Arabic

4. my nose / shorter / be quite pretty

5. it / not so cold / go for a walk

We often use the structure If I were you ... to give advice.

If I were you, I’d get that car serviced. I shouldn’t worry if I were you.

Write some sentences beginning If I were you ... to a friend / your teacher / your mother / your father / your child / the President / the Pope ...

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
revise the basics: if I go and if I went

The difference between, for example, if I go ... and if I went ... or if I speak ... and if I spoke ... is not a difference of time. They can both refer to the present or future.

The past tense (+ would) usually suggests that the speaker thinks the situation is less probable, or less definite, or impossible, or imaginary. Compare:

- If I become President, I'll ... (said by a candidate in an election)
- If I became President, I'd ... (said by a schoolgirl)
- If I win this race, I'll ... (said by the fastest runner)  Is it all right if I invite John to supper? (direct request)
- If I won this race, I'd ... (said by the slowest runner)  Would it be all right if I invited John to supper? (polite request)

1. Choose the most sensible verb form.
   1. If I live / lived to be 70 ...
   2. If I live / lived to be 150 ...
   3. If I am / were better looking ...
   4. If I wake / woke up early tomorrow ...
   5. If Scotland declares / declared war on Switzerland ...
   6. If the universe still exists / existed in five years' time ...
   7. If everybody gives / gave ten per cent of their income to charity ...
   8. If everybody thinks / thought like me ...
   9. If there is / was nothing good on TV tonight ...
  10. If my English is / was better next year ...
  11. If the government bans / banned cars from city centres next year ...
  12. If I have / had bad dreams tonight ...

2. Choose the correct verb forms.
   1. If she comes / came late again, she'll lose her job.
   2. I'll let you know if I find / found out what's happening.
   3. If we live / lived in a town, life would be easier.

   7. It will / would be a pity if she married Fred.
   8. If I'm free on Saturday, I will / would go to the mountains.
   9. She will / would have a nervous breakdown if she goes on like this.
  10. I know I'll feel better if I stop / stopped smoking.

3. Make these requests less definite, and so more polite.
   - It will be nice if you help me a bit with the housework.
     It would be nice if you helped me a bit with the housework.
   1. Do you mind if I go first?
   2. If all of us come, will you have room in your car?
   3. It will be good if you spend some time with the children.
   4. Do you mind if I come round about seven o'clock?
   5. Is it all right if I use your phone?
could = ‘would be able to’  We could go cycling if ...

We can use could to mean ‘would be able to’.

*If you arrived early, we could talk about the meeting.*  *If Joe came, he could help with the dog.*

Sometimes we use could twice: once as a past tense (to say that something is not real / not probable), and once for would be able to.

*If I could sell my car, I could buy a computer.*

1. Complete the sentences with could and expressions from the box.

   ask her to help✓  get up late  go and see him  go for a ride  go to the cinema more often have breakfast in the garden  read the paper✓  watch a film  write to Henry

   ▶ If Alice was here, we could ask her to help.

3 Choose the correct forms to complete the cartoon caption.

‘Maybe things had turned out / would have turned out better if I would have put in / had put in a whole week.’
Unless means 'if not', in the sense of 'except if'.

Come tonight unless I phone. (= ‘if I don't phone.’ / ‘... except if I phone!’)
I'll take the job unless the pay is too low.

Note that after unless we use a present tense to talk about the future.

1 Change the words in italics.
   - Please don't call the doctor at weekends if it's not important. ... unless it's important
   - Unless you come with me, I won't go to New York. ... If you don't come with me.
   - 1 You can't go there if you don't have a visa.
   - 2 If you don't go now, I'll call the police.
   - 3 She always sees me on Wednesdays unless she's travelling.
   - 4 I don't cook much unless I've got visitors.

if only and I wish: tenses If only I knew...

If only ...and wish can be used with would and past tenses. These structures express regrets, and wishes for unlikely or impossible things. Past tenses are used to talk about the present.

If only I knew more people! I wish I was better looking.

1. Write sentences beginning If only or I wish.
   - The radio doesn’t work. I wish the radio worked. OR If only the radio worked!
   - 1. He smokes.
   - 2. I don’t speak Russian.
   - 3. I haven’t got a car.
   - 4. I’m not hard-working.
   - 5. I’m bad at sport.
   - 6. I don’t like dancing.
   - 7. It rains all the time.
   - 8. She works on Sundays.
   - 9. I can’t eat eggs.

   We use would ... after wish / if only to talk about things that we would like people or things (not) to do. This often expresses dissatisfaction or annoyance: it can sound critical.

   I wish this damned car would start. If only it would stop raining!

2. Write sentences with If only ... would or I wish ... would ....
   - Somebody won’t stop talking. I wish he would stop talking. OR If only he would stop talking!
   - 1. It’s not snowing.

   - 6. Frank hasn’t written.
   - 7. Patrick hasn’t found a job.
   - 8. The exam results haven’t arrived.
   - 9. Spring hasn’t come.

   We use a past perfect tense to express regrets about the past.

   I wish you hadn’t said that. If only she hadn’t told the police, everything would be all right.

3. Complete the regrets with verbs from the box. Use the past perfect.

in case  I'm taking my umbrella in case it rains.

We use in case mostly to talk about precautions – things we do to be ready for what might happen. After in case we use a present tense to talk about the future.

I wrote down her address in case I forgot it.
I've bought a chicken in case your mother stays to lunch.

We can use should after in case – this gives the idea of ‘by chance’.
I've bought a chicken in case your mother should stay to lunch.

Should is common in sentences about the past.
I wrote down her address in case I should forget it.

1  A woman is packing to go on holiday in Austria. Make sentences:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SHE'S PACKING:</th>
<th>a German phrase book □ a pack of cards □ a tennis racket □ a thick sweater □ a swimsuit □ aspirins □ binoculars □ her address book □ some books □ walking boots</th>
</tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

She's packing a German phrase book in case the hotel staff don’t speak English.

In case is not normally used like if. Compare:

I'll buy a bottle of wine (now) in case Roger comes (later).
I'll buy a bottle of wine (later) if Roger comes. (and if he doesn’t come I won’t)

2  If or in case?

1  I'm taking my umbrella with me .................. it rains.
2  I'll open the umbrella .......................... it rains.
3  People phone the fire brigade .................. their houses catch fire.
4  People insure their houses .................. they catch fire.
5  We have a burglar alarm .................. somebody tries to break in.
6  The burglar alarm will go off .................. somebody tries to break in.
7  I’ll let you know ........................... I need help.
8  I’ll take my mobile phone ........................ I need to phone you.
it's time and I'd rather: tenses  It's time you had a haircut.

After it's time, we can use an infinitive with to. After would rather (= 'would prefer'), we use an infinitive without to.

It's time to go out.  I'd rather stay in.

We can also use a subject and verb after these expressions. The verb is past (but with a present or future meaning).

It's time you had a haircut.  I'd rather they came tomorrow, not today.

1 Change the structure.
   ➤ It's time to stop. (you)  It's time you stopped.
   ➤ It's time we went to bed. (to)  It's time to go to bed.
   1 It's time to clean the car. (I)
   2 It's time you cooked supper. (to)
   3 It's time to get a new fridge. (we)
   4 It's time we had a party. (to)
   5 It's time to go home. (your mother)
   6 It's time to invite the Harrises. (we)
   7 It's time to plan our holiday. (we)
   8 It's time to see the dentist. (you)
   9 It's time to stop work. (I)
   10 It's time to get a job. (that boy)

2 Rewrite the second sentence in each conversation, starting with I'd rather we/you etc.

   ➤ 'You'd better phone Judy.'  'No, you phone her.'  I'd rather you phoned her.
   1 'Let's talk things over.'  'No, let's talk tomorrow.'

   2 'Shall I come at nine?'  'Ten would be better.'

   3 'I'll phone Sue.'  'No, don't.'

   4 'Can she work with you?'  'Why doesn't she work with Maggie?'

   5 'I'll cook tomorrow.'  'Tonight would be better.'

   6 'Ask that policeman.'  'You ask him.'

   7 'Mark wants to go out.'  'I'd prefer him to stay in.'

   8 'Can they use our sheets?'  'It would be more convenient if they brought their own.'

   9 'The government wants to cut taxes.'  'It would be better if they did something about the homeless.'

   10 'Let's get a new car.'  'No, let's spend the money on a trip round the world.'

8 Internet exercise. Use a search engine (e.g. Google) to find and write interesting sentences beginning as follows.

"If only we had"
"I wish everybody would"
"If I were more"
1 Make sentences beginning with if.

- I live in London, so I go to the theatre very often.
  ∴ If I didn’t live in London, I wouldn’t go to the theatre very often.

1 We can’t play bridge because Daniel isn’t here.

2 Alice never listens to me, so I don’t talk to her.

3 I don’t understand physics because I don’t know enough maths.

4 My father doesn’t do exercise, so he’s overweight.

5 I don’t like cooking, so I don’t make you wonderful meals.

2 Right or wrong? Correct the mistakes or write ‘Correct’.

- I get up and go for a walk if I can’t sleep.  Correct.
- We’ll go and see Harry if we’ll pass through London.  we pass

1 If we weren’t all too tired, we would have played poker.

2 If she would smile more, people will like her.

13 I’d rather we had the meeting tomorrow, not today.

14 In case Peter phones, tell him I’ve gone out.

15 It’s time we cleaned the windows.

3 Read the story and write a sentence chain.

CHOCOLATE IS GOOD FOR YOU

Anna felt very hungry, so she went out to buy chocolate. On the way back, she ran across the road in front of a cyclist; he fell off his bike and hit his head. He finished up in hospital, and Anna went to visit him. She decided he was very nice, so she went to visit him again, and met a really handsome doctor. She married the doctor and they lived happily ever after.

If Anna hadn’t felt hungry, she wouldn’t have gone out to buy chocolate.

If she hadn’t gone out to buy chocolate...
SECTION 19  relatives

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

| who   | whom | which | that | what | whose |

We use relative pronouns to join sentences to nouns.
- The girl was only 15.  She got the gold medal.  The girl who got the gold medal was only 15.
- We use who for people and which for things. We can also use that for people and things.
  - There's the man who/that built our garage.  They sent a letter which/that I didn't get.

Whose is a possessive relative pronoun.
- I want to talk to the man whose car is parked outside our house.

Relative pronouns replace he/she/it etc. We don't use both.
- (NOT The girl who she got the gold medal…)

Where and when can be used as relatives referring to place and time.
- I'll never forget the day when I first met you. (= ‘… the day on which …’)
- Do you know a shop where I can find sandals? (= ‘… a shop at which …’)

We often leave out object pronouns, but not subject pronouns.
- Here are those photos (which/that) you lent me.
  - The photos which/that show the kids are lovely. (NOT The photos show the kids …)

Prepositions can often go in two places.
- The deal about which we were talking wasn't possible. (formal)
- The deal that we were talking about wasn't possible. (informal)

We can use what to mean ‘the thing(s) which’.
- You never get exactly what you want.

Some relative clauses identify the noun that they go with; some do not. The grammar is a little different for the two kinds.
- The woman my brother is going to marry is really nice. (identifying)
- Sandra Peters, whom my brother is going to marry, is really nice. (non-identifying)

‘Women have their faults
Men have only two:
Everything they say,
Everything they do.’
(Traditional)

‘Everything I like is either illegal, immoral or fattening.’
(Traditional)

‘Nothing that is worth learning can be taught.’  (Oscar Wilde)

‘No man can lose what he never had.’
(Izaak Walton)

‘A politician is a statesman who approaches every question with an open mouth.’  (Adlai Stevenson)

‘It's really very simple, Miss Everhart. Now you just move the cursor across the screen to the area of the world you wish to destroy.’

RELATIVES 267
We can use sentences to describe nouns.
To join sentences to nouns, we use relative pronouns: who (for people) and which (for things).

I've got a friend. He collects stamps. → I've got a friend who collects stamps.
There's a problem. It worries me. → There's a problem which worries me.
Holly's lost the watch. I bought it for her. → Holly's lost the watch which I bought for her.

We use who or which instead of he, him, she, it etc. Don't use both.

The man who lives opposite has been ill. (NOT The man who he lives opposite ...)
This is the report which you wanted. (NOT ... which you wanted it.)

1 Join the sentences in the places marked *. Change he, it etc to who or which.

1 I know a shop*. It sells good coffee.
Most of the people* work in London. They live in our village.

2 The tomatoes* were mostly bad. You bought them.

3 The flowers* are doing well. I planted them.

4 A lot of the people* want a change of government. I know them.

5 Three of the prisoners* are still on the run. They escaped last night.

6 There's some cheese in the fridge*. It needs to be eaten.

7 I want some plates*. They can go in the microwave.

8 They haven't got the shirt* in your size. You wanted it.

9 The boy* has asked my sister out. He lives next door.

We often use that instead of which, and instead of who in an informal style.

There's a problem that you don't understand. I know some people that could help you. (informal)

2 Rewrite sentences 1–5 from Exercise 1 using that.

1
2
3
4
5

3 Write a true sentence beginning Most of the people that I know ...

We normally use that, not which, after all, everything, nothing, the only ... and superlatives.
We do not use what in these cases (see page 271).

I've told you everything that I know. (NOT ... everything what I know.)
The only thing that matters to me is your happiness.
Whom can be used as an object for people. It is rather formal; in an informal style we often prefer who.

What is the name of that nurse whom we met last week? (formal)
What's the name of that nurse who/that we met last week? (informal)

Whom is always used after prepositions.

the woman with whom I travelled (NOT the woman with who I travelled)

4 Make these sentences more formal.

1. He's one of those people that everybody likes.

2. There were three boys at my school that I'll never forget.

3. The woman that I didn’t recognise was my old dentist.

4. The man who the police arrested said that he'd never met the woman.

5. We had a biology teacher who we couldn’t stand.

5 Write your own completions for these sentences.

1. I'll always remember the day when .................................................................

2. I know a place where .................................................................

6 GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY. Do you know the English words for countries and languages?

Complete the sentences; use a dictionary to help you.

10. The people ...................................................... Portugal ......................................................

11. ...................................................... some ...................................................... Welsh.

12. ...................................................... Japan ......................................................

7 Write five more sentences like the ones in Exercise 6.

 ...................................................... ...................................................... ...................................................... ...................................................... ......................................................

in some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
We can leave out object pronouns who(m), which and that, but not usually subject pronouns.

Where's that letter that I saw this morning? → Where's that letter I saw this morning?

BUT NOT Where's that letter that was on the table? → Where's that letter was on the table?

1. Is the relative pronoun the subject or object in these clauses?
   - That's the woman who lives next door. ...
   - Our doctor is a person whom I really respect. ...
   - He had a simple idea which changed the world. ....
   - I've lost that nice ring which Bill gave me. ....

   - An orphan is a child who hasn't got any parents. ....
   - He keeps telling you things which you already know. ....
   - They never thanked me for the money that I sent them. ....

2. In which three of sentences 1–6 can the relative pronouns be left out? Cross them out.
   - The strawberries which I bought weren't very good.
   - The job that he got wasn't very interesting.
   - A woman who(m) my sister knows has just bought the house next door.
   - The doctor who treated me didn't know what he was doing.
   - I'm sorry for people who haven't got a sense of humour.
   - Have you got anything that will clean this carpet?
   - Have you got a typewriter that I can use?

3. Join the sentences in the places marked * without using who(m), which or that.
   - You asked me to get you a paper. Here's the paper*
     Here's the paper you asked me to get you.
   - You recommended a film. We went to see the film*, but we didn't think much of it.
   - My sister bought a new car last month. The car* has broken down four times already.
   - You didn't recognise an actor on television last night. The actor* was Jake McLean.
   - Jane had some friends at school. Only a very few of the friends* went on to university.
   - My father had an operation for his heart problem. The operation* was only a partial success.
   - Mark wrote an essay while we were on holiday. The essay* has won a prize in the school competition.
   - My daughter brings friends home. Some of the friends* are pretty strange.

→ For relative clauses ending in prepositions (e.g. That's the girl I told you about), see page 273.
what = 'the thing(s) that'  Take what you like.

We can use what to mean 'the thing(s) which/that', 'the stuff that' or 'anything that'.

What she said made me angry. I gave him what he needed.
Help yourself. Take what you like.

When what is a subject, it has a singular verb.

What I learnt at school was mostly useless.

1 Rewrite the words in italics, using what.
   - The things that she did that morning weren't helpful. What she did wasn't.
   1 The things that he said made everybody angry. ..............................................
   2 The date — that's the thing that I forgot to tell them! ...........................................

7 .................................................. poets need.
8 .................................................. makes people buy things they don't want.
9 .................................................. makes cars go.
10 .................................................. makes things fall.

We use that, not what, after anything, something, nothing, everything, all and the only thing.

I'll give you anything that you need. (NOT ... anything what you need.)
Music is the only thing that interests her. They had nothing that was useful.

All that I could do was listen to her.

3 Put in that or what.

1 I don't believe anything ............ she says.
2 ............ he did shocked me.
3 The only thing ............ I forgot was soap.
4 I don't have time to read everything ............ I want to.
5 They told us ............ we needed to know.
6 ............ you need is a rest.
7 I learnt nothing ............ was important.
8 Come and look at ............ I've done.
9 I can eat ............ I like.
10 He said something ............ was very upsetting.

→ For emphasising uses of what, see page 149.
We can join sentences by putting whose in place of his, her or its. This structure is rather formal.

I saw a girl. Her beauty took my breath away.  →  I saw a girl whose beauty took my breath away.

He went to a meeting. He didn’t understand its purpose.  →  He went to a meeting whose purpose he didn’t understand.

Whose replaces his/her/its. We don’t use both together.

NOT ... whose her beauty took my breath away.

Whose goes together with a noun. It cannot be used with the.

NOT a man whose I had never heard
NOT a girl whose the beauty took my breath away

1 Complete the sentences with whose. The words in the box will help.

books  children  food  houses ✓ patients  plants  students  tourists

2 In the Alpine village of Fernalm, everybody is related to everybody else. Combine the pieces of information in the correct order to make three sentences using whose (but with no other changes), so as to make everything clear.

1 Anton,
   sister Anneliese also helps out in the sports shop brother Fritz helps him run the sports shop lives with Marika
   Anton, whose brother Fritz

2 Anneliese has girlfriend Heidrun is an instructor at the ski school a younger brother Max wife Paula works in the restaurant run by Anton’s other brother Toni

3 The person who is daughter Liesl runs the pizzeria wife Monika was national ice-dancing champion in her younger days but now works part-time for the baker down the road, Karsten in charge of the ski school is Anton’s Uncle Erich prepositions in relative clauses  the girl I was talking about

In relative clauses (after who, whom, which, that), verb + preposition combinations usually stay together. This means that prepositions can be separated from their relative pronoun objects.

    5 The Navajo create beautiful jewellery. The jewellery is made of silver and turquoise.

    6 Passengers are asked to keep behind the yellow line. The passengers are standing on Platform 2.

    7 Pauline has a very strange old painting of a woman. The woman is holding a small dog.
non-identifying relative clauses

Kelly, who does my hair, ...

Some relative clauses identify – they say who or what we are talking about. Others do not identify, because it is already clear who or what we are talking about.

1 DO IT YOURSELF Which relative clauses identify? Circle A or B.
   A) The woman who/that does my hair has just had a baby.
   B) Kelly, who does my hair, has just had a baby.
   1 A She married a man (that/who/whom) she met on a bus.
   B She married a nice architect from Belfast, whom she met on a bus.
   2 A Have you got a book that’s really easy to read?
   B I lent him The Old Man and the Sea, which is really easy to read.
   3 A What did you think of the wine (that) we had last night?
   B I poured him a glass of wine, which he drank at once.

2 DO IT YOURSELF Look at Exercise 1 again and answer the questions.
   1 Without the relative clauses, which make more sense – the A or B sentences? .................
   2 Non-identifying clauses (in the B sentences) have commas (,). Can you see why? .................
   3 In which kind of clause can we use that instead of who(m) or which – A or B? .................
   4 In which kind of clause can we leave out a relative pronoun when it is the object? .................
   5 Do you think non-identifying clauses are more formal or more informal? .................

Change who/whom/which to that, or leave it out, if possible.
   ▶ This is Peter Taylor, who works with my sister. ................. No change ▶ People who don’t answer letters annoy me. .................
   1 What happened to the oranges which I bought yesterday? .................
   2 This room, which isn’t used any more, belonged to our eldest son. .................
   3 My Uncle Sebastian, who travels a lot, has just gone off to Thailand. .................
   4 We live in a village called Netherwold, which has 150 inhabitants. .................
   5 I like a film which has a beginning, a middle and an end – in that order. .................
   6 I’ve had a card from Sally, who used to live next door. .................
   7 Do you remember those awful people who we met in Corfu? .................
   8 We had good advice from James, whom we consulted about investments. .................

Note the use of which to refer to a whole clause. Compare:
   He took out the teeth which/that were causing the trouble. (which/that = ‘the teeth’)
   He took out two teeth, which was a real pity. (which = the clause ‘He took out two teeth’)

Note that what cannot be used in this way.
   He got the job, which surprised us all. (NOT … what surprised us all.)

4 Put in which or what.
   1 She cycles to work every day, ................. keeps her healthy.
   2 I very much liked .......... you said at the meeting.
   3 They gave me .......... I asked for.
   4 The lights suddenly went out, ................. frightened Granny terribly.
   5 This is .......... I need.
   6 Everybody arrived late, ................. didn’t surprise me in the least.
   7 The door was locked, ................. was a nuisance.
   8 He wouldn’t tell me .......... I wanted to know.
   9 She let me borrow one of her dresses, ................. was very kind of her.
   10 We’re going to have to repair the roof, ................. will cost a fortune.
Relative clauses can make sentences more difficult to read.

A 36-year-old teacher who was arrested in Cardiff after trying to set fire to a school is said to have seriously injured two policemen.
The financial problems which some of the company’s branches have been facing over the last eighteen months are mainly caused by increased foreign competition.

1. DO IT YOURSELF Why do the relative clauses make the above sentences harder to read?

   Circle the letter of the best explanation.

   A They separate the subject from the object.
   B They separate the subject from the verb.
   C They separate the verb from the object.

When object relative pronouns are left out, this can make reading even more difficult.

Some people we met when we were at a conference in Scotland last year have just written to invite us to stay with them. (‘Some people that we met ...’)

Extra difficulty can be caused when relative clauses end in prepositions.

The woman my friend Barbara was out shopping with was her stepmother.
(= ‘The woman that my friend Barbara was out shopping with ...’)

2. Make these sentences easier to read by adding *that.

   1. The parcel he got that morning was addressed to someone else.
   2. The sofa we bought last year is falling to pieces already.
   3. Some papers I found lying in the street were secret government documents.
   4. A picture my father bought for £5 has turned out to be worth £10,000.
   5. The people he had hoped to introduce Lee to were not there.
   6. The flat the terrorists hid the guns in was owned by an MP.
   7. The song she could not remember the name of was Rambling Boy.
   8. A boy I was at school with has just written a best-selling novel.

Relative clauses can put together nouns and verbs that do not belong together.

The hair of the young woman sitting next to me on the park bench was purple. (It was not the park bench that was purple.)

The picture that I put in Helen’s room needs cleaning. (It’s not the room that needs cleaning.)
3 Read the sentences and answer the questions.
1 The rosebush Sue gave to my little sister is growing beautifully.
   Who or what is growing? .................................................................
2 The two tall men we saw with Duncan and Jack were their nephews.
   Who were the uncles? .................................................................
3 The man my mother was working for before she met my father was very intelligent, but also very disorganised.
   Who was disorganised? .................................................................
4 A woman who lives near my sister has just won the national lottery.
   Has my sister won the lottery? ...........................................................
5 The newspaper which first made contact with the kidnappers telephoned the police immediately.
   Who telephoned? .....................................................................
6 Police called to a house in Brent, Derbyshire, after neighbours reported cries for help found 18-year-old Justin Evans stuck in a small window after being locked out of his home.
   Who found him? .....................................................................

4 Find the beginnings of the sentences in the box.

A A very ordinary-looking woman I got talking to at B A man I met by chance on a business trip to ✓
C Some Polish people I was introduced to by D The dress my sister wore to E The little flat that I rented just after I moved out of F The house I lived in with ► Spain taught me things about myself I had never suspected.

1 ..... my wedding was bought in a little shop in Bath.
2 ..... my parents’ home was the nicest place I’ve ever lived in.
3 ..... my first wife had holes in the roof.
4 ..... the airport in Memphis was going to Italy to collect a tiger for a zoo.
5 ..... my little cousin Pam had crazy plans for an expedition to the North Pole.

5 Can you write beginnings for these endings?
1 ................................................. my brother was bright green.
2 ................................................. the big armchair is Emma’s boyfriend.
3 ................................................. me doesn’t work.

Reduced relative clauses (see page 274) can make sentences particularly hard to read.

Most of the people arrested had been in trouble before. (=‘... the people who were arrested ...’)
Three quarters of those questioned wanted more money. (=‘... those who were questioned ...’)
Three children found sleeping in Abbey Park late last night were taken to a foster home by social workers.
(=‘... children who were found ...’)
A lot of the buildings designed by architects are unsuitable for young children.

6 Put in who were three times to make the sentence easier to read.
Most of the of the people hoping to see the President remained calm, but a minority of those moved on by police became violent, and organisers claim that several of the people arrested suffered injuries.
Most of the people ...........................................................................
........................................................................................................
........................................................................................................
Reduced relative clauses. Change the sentences as in the examples.

1. Who is the woman who is standing at the bus stop?
   Who is the woman standing at the bus stop?

2. The forms that were sent to the embassy last week never arrived.
   The forms sent to the embassy last week never arrived.

3. A road that was opened last Friday has had to be closed again for repairs.

4. The number of new cars that were sold in this country fell by 25% in January.

WHAT I HATE

7. Strangers who / which address me by my first name.
8. People what / who think they know more than I do – especially when they’re right.
9. Cold-callers that / which phone me trying to sell me things.
10. Places who / that play music that I didn’t ask for.
11. Household gadgets that / what I can’t understand.
12. Big car parks whose / which exits I can’t find.

Mixed pronouns. Write your list of what you like and what you hate, using who/which/that/whose.

WHAT YOU LIKE

WHAT YOU HATE

SECTION 20 indirect speech

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

When we tell people what somebody said or thought, we often use indirect speech. Tenses, here-and-now words (like this, here, today) and pronouns (like I, you) may change in indirect speech after past reporting verbs. This is because the time, place and speaker may be different.

"I'm going to stay here for the rest of this week." —>
Susan said that she was going to stay there for the rest of that week.

Past perfect tenses and some modal verbs (e.g. should, must) don't change in indirect speech.

"I had seen her somewhere before." —> I said I had seen her somewhere before.
"You must fill in these three forms." —> They told me I must fill in three forms.

We often leave out that, especially after common verbs like say and think.
Susan said she really liked it there.

Indirect questions have a different structure from direct questions.

"Where's your luggage?" —> He asked me where my luggage was.
"Do you know Karen?" —> She asked me if I knew Karen.

We can use object + infinitive after some verbs, like ask and tell.
I asked him to talk more quietly. We told Oliver not to lock the garage.

And we can use infinitives after most question words.
Tell us what to do. I don't know how to switch on this computer.

He said he would love me for ever
With a love that would never grow cool.
He said he would always be faithful.
I believed every word. What a fool!
But now that he's no longer with me
I'm glad to be free of his lies.
And if I am sorry, I'm sorry for him,
For he'll be with himself till he dies.

(Leni McShaw, British poet, born 1936)

There are so many kinds of awful men —
One can't avoid them all. She often said
She'd never make the same mistake again.
She always made a new mistake instead.

(Wendy Cope, British poet, born 1945) revise the basics: why things change

1. Look at the text, and write down all the words and expressions that are different in Tom's and Peter's sentences.

TOM (on Saturday evening): 'I don't like this party. I want to go home now.'

PETER (on Sunday morning): 'Tom said that he didn't like the party, and he wanted to go home right away.'

2. DO IT YOURSELF Which do you think is the best explanation for the differences?

Circle A, B or C.

A. After verbs like said, you change tenses and pronouns in English.

B. The time, place and speakers are different.

C. If the main verb is past, the other verbs have to be past too.

3. Read the dialogue. Imagine that Theo talks to a friend the next day and tells him about the conversation, using indirect speech structures (I said/told her that ...; so she asked if ...). Circle at least ten words in the conversation that would have to be changed or left out in Theo's report.

THEO: You're looking good today.

SUZY: Oh, thanks, Theo. You are sweet.

THEO: OK. If you sit down I'll get you a drink.

SUZY: There's nowhere to sit.

THEO: Yes, there is. Over there in the corner.

SUZY: I don't want to sit there. It's too dark. I'll sit here.

THEO: You can't. These seats are taken.

SUZY: No, they aren't.

THEO: Really, Suzy. Why do you always have to argue? They're taken.

SUZY: Excuse me. Are these seats taken?

JOE: Well, this one is, but the other one's free.

SUZY: OK. I'll sit here, then. Thanks.

JOE: You're welcome. What's your name?

THEO: Hey, what about me?

SUZY: Suzy. What's yours?

JOE: I'm Joe Parsons. Can I get you a drink?

SUZY: That's very kind. Can I have a bitter lemon?

THEO: I'm getting her a drink.

JOE: No, you're not, mate. I am.

THEO: I don't believe this. Suzy, what are you playing at?

SUZY: Really, Theo, I don't know what's wrong with you today. I'll see you around, OK?
revise the basics: ‘here’ and ‘now’ words

Some words may be changed in indirect speech because the original speaker’s ‘here’ and ‘now’ are not the same as the reporter’s.

1. DO IT YOURSELF The following sentence was said in England in November 2008:
   ‘I’ve been in this part of the world since March this year.’

   When does the first or second this have to be changed?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>IF THE SENTENCE IS REPORTED</th>

<th>SECOND THIS CHANGED?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 in England a week later</td>
<td>yes / no</td>
<td>yes / no</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 in England a year later</td>

<td>3 in Holland a week later</td>
<td>yes / no</td>
<td>yes / no</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 in Holland a year later</td>
<td>yes / no</td>
<td>yes / no</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. Match the direct and indirect speech expressions.

   DIRECT SPEECH: ‘here and now’ words

   | 0 here | 5 today          |
   | 1 now  | 6 tonight        |
   | 2 this | 7 last week      |
   | 3 tomorrow | 8 next week |

   INDIRECT SPEECH

   | A that day ...... | F the next day ...... |
   | B that night ...... | G there ...... |
   | C that ...... |
   | D the day before ...... |
   | E the next week ...... |

   There is often more than one way of reporting ‘here’ and ‘now’ words.

   1. don’t like this house.’ → She said she didn’t like that house / the house / their house / the house she was visiting …

3. Imagine these sentences were reported in another place a month later.

   Put in words and expressions from the box.

   right away that day that evening that morning the the day after the day before the same night the week before there > ‘I’ll see you tomorrow.’ She said she’d see me ...........................................

   1 ‘My brother’s arriving here today.’ She said her brother was arriving ...........................................
   2 ‘I’ll phone you this evening.’ He said he’d phone ...........................................
   3 ‘Do you like it here?’ She asked if I liked it ...........................................
   4 ‘My uncle died last week.’ He told me his uncle had died ...........................................
   5 ‘This meat tastes funny.’ She said ...........................................
   6 ‘I’m leaving now.’ He told us he was leaving ...........................................
   7 ‘I overslept this morning.’ She told him she’d overslept ...........................................
   8 ‘The train leaves at 11.00 tonight.’ I was told the train left at 11.00 ...........................................
   9 ‘Pete phoned me yesterday.’ He said Pete had phoned him ...........................................

---

in some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
revise the basics: tenses

After reporting expressions like he said, I asked, she thought, tenses are usually different from those in the original words (because the reporter's time is different from the original speaker's time). Verbs become more past.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

2 Complete the reported sentences with the correct tenses.

1 'I'm tired.' She said she ... tired.
2 'You play very well.' He told me I ... very well.
3 'Can you help us?' They asked if I ... help them.
4 'We're leaving.' They told us they ... ...
5 'She hasn't brushed her hair.' I noticed that she ... her hair.
6 'John's had an accident.' Pam rang to say that John ... an accident.
7 'I left school at fifteen.' Her letter said that she ... school at fifteen.
8 'She won't say anything.' I knew she ... anything.
9 'Nobody will know.' I thought nobody ... ...
10 'This letter has been opened.' I could see that the letter ...

Note the difference between say and tell.

Tell must have a personal object: we tell somebody something.

- They told me I was wrong. (not They told I was wrong.)
- Karen told us a joke.

Say doesn't need a personal object: we say something to somebody.

- They said I was wrong. (not They said me I was wrong.)
- We said nothing to anybody.

3 Circle the correct answer.

1 I said / told John I wanted to go home.
2 Lucy said / told that she would buy the tickets.
3 I didn't say / tell anyone that I was leaving.
4 Why did you say / tell you were ill?
5 My father said / told he needed help.
6 Andy said / told the doctor he couldn't walk.
7 Everybody said / told I looked happy.
8 Nobody said / told me that there was a strike.
Put in the right tenses of the verbs in the boxes.

I've never met anybody like you before.
What do you do for a living?
I'm moving around all the time.
Why do you want to take me to America?
We're meant for each other, and nobody is going to stand in our way.

Do you want a lift home?
I'm doing some undercover work for the CIA.
I'll call you tomorrow.
I think I'm falling in love with you.

I had a really funny evening yesterday, Mary. I got talking to this boy in the pub, very nice-looking he was, and I could see he fancied me. He said he 1 anybody like me before, and he felt 2 a very unusual kind of beauty. Oh, yes? I said. Then he asked me if I 3 a lift home, so I said no, I 4 hungry, so we went out for a curry.

call can can do do move think want

I asked him what he 5 for a living, and he said he 6 some undercover work for the CIA just now. He said he 7 not give me his address because he 8 around all the time. So I asked him why he 9 his address. Then he asked if he 11 have my phone number. He said he 12 me today to fix for me to go to America with him.

be be fall go have leave lie not matter think want

So I asked him why he 13 to take me to America, and he said he 14 in love with me. I knew he 16, but it was kind of fun. Anyway, I told him I 17 got a boyfriend already, but he said that 18. We 19 meant for each other, he said, and nobody 20 to stand in our way, because our lives 21 written in the stars. Then he borrowed £20 from me to pay the bill because he said he 22 his wallet at home, and he went off to the toilet, and I never saw him again.

Tenses don't change after present or future reporting verbs, because there is no important change of time.
He says he doesn't want to play any more. (I don't want … )
I'll tell her your idea is great.

Tenses do not usually change after present perfect reporting verbs, either.
The government has announced that taxes will be raised.

We often drop that after common reporting verbs.
He said (that) he was falling in love with me. I knew (that) he was lying.
present situations  He proved that the earth is/was round.

Situations that have not changed: if the original speaker was talking about a present or future situation that is still present or future when the words are reported, the tenses are sometimes not changed after a past reporting verb.

Imagine these sentences were reported soon after they were said: change them to indirect speech in two different ways.

1. I'm utterly fed up! (I said)
   I said I was utterly fed up. I said I'm utterly fed up.

2. What's the dark-haired child's name? (I asked)

3. It's raining. (I told you)

4. You'll get your money. (I said)

5. There will be a strike. (This article I was reading said)

6. The repairs will cost £5,000. (Al told me)

7. Is Jane coming to see us? (I asked)

8. You're going to the Glasgow office. (Pat told me that)

9. You won't pass your exam. (I bet George £5 yesterday that he)

10. They're getting married next week. (Sue rang this morning, and she said)

We do not keep the original speaker's tenses if we do not agree with what he/she said, or if we want to show that the ideas do not come from us.

They were certain that the gods lived in the sky.
Did you hear that? She said she was fourteen!
He announced that profits were higher than forecast.
I didn't know she was ill.

'Ed Roxey! I didn't know you were dead!'

revise the basics: indirect questions

Indirect questions normally have the subject before the verb.

He wanted to know when I could start. (NOT USUALLY ... when could I start.)
I asked where the trainer and the team were staying.
Do is not used in indirect questions, and question marks (???) are not used.
I wondered how they felt. (NOT ... how did they feel?)
The same structure is used to report the answers to questions.
I knew how they felt.
Nobody told me why I had to sign the paper.

1. Turn these into indirect questions, beginning I asked.
   - Where are my gloves?  I asked where my gloves were.
   - 1. What's Peter's address?
   - 2. When's the new manager coming?
   - 3. How does she know my name?
   - 4. Why are all the windows open?
   - 5. How many books does he want?
   - 6. Where do they keep the money?
   - 7. What time is the meeting?
   - 8. When does the last train leave?
   - 9. How does the photocopier work?
   - 10. How often does Ann go shopping?

Yes/no questions are reported with if or whether.

The driver asked if/whether I wanted to go to the town centre.

We prefer whether before or in a formal style.

I enquired whether she was coming by road or by air.

2. Turn these into indirect questions, beginning I wondered.
   - Are the children all right?  I wondered if the children were all right.
   - 1. Do they like me?
   - 2. Will I be ready in time?
   - 3. Is there any food in the house?
   - 4. Is service included or not?
   - 5. Can I pay by cheque?
   - 6. Does my hair look funny?
   - 7. Has the postman been?
   - 8. Do they speak English?
   - 9. Am I doing the right thing?
   - 10. Is the meeting on Tuesday or Wednesday?

We sometimes make indirect questions in the same way as direct questions in informal speech (but not in formal writing).

He wanted to know when could I start.
We use infinitives to report sentences about future actions – for example promises, agreements, orders, offers, advice, suggestions, requests.

'I'll definitely write.' → He promised to write.

'OK, I'll wait until 6 o'clock.' → She agreed to wait until 6 o'clock.

'Do be careful, Andrew.' → I told Andrew to be careful.

'Shall I babysit tonight?' → Ann has offered to babysit tonight.

'You'd better think again.' → The manager advised me to think again.

'Please don't be late.' → She asked us not to be late.

1 Change the sentences as shown.

   - I won't tell anybody. (He promised) → He promised not to tell anybody.
   - 1 I'll cook supper. (She offered)
   - 2 Leave early. (He advised me)
   - 3 Please don’t close the door. (She asked me)
   - 4 I'll stop smoking. (She promised)
   - 5 Why don’t I do the shopping? (He offered)
   - 6 You ought to tell the police. (She advised me)
   - 7 Wait outside. (I told her)
   - 8 OK, I'll pay half. (He agreed)
   - 9 Don't park outside the house. (She told me)
   - 10 We’ll pay for the tickets. (We offered)

   1 The structure question word + infinitive is common.

   He asked her how to make a white sauce. Don't tell me what to do.

2 Complete the sentences with question words and the infinitives of the verbs in the box.

   (There is one verb too many.) Different answers may be possible.

   - We’ll let you know ................... work.
   - 1 I don’t know ....................... mah-jong.
   - 2 Can you show me ................... the car?
   - 3 We don’t know ...................... Oliver for his birthday.
   - 4 I’m not sure ......................... John.
   - 5 Do you know ....................... spaghetti carbonara?
   - 6 I can’t decide ....................... to Peter’s wedding.
   - 7 I’m leaving on Thursday, but I still haven’t decided

   Infinitives are not used after suggest or say.

   He suggested trying somewhere else. (NOT He suggested to try ... )

   The policeman said I mustn’t park there. (NOT ... said me not to park ... )

   We can use whether but not if before infinitives.

   I don’t know whether to go home. (NOT ... if to go home.)*
indirect speech: special cases He said I'd better go.

Past tenses are changed to past perfect tenses after past reporting verbs, but only if this is necessary in order to make the time relations clear. Compare:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DIRECT SPEECH</th>
<th>INDIRECT SPEECH</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I saw Penny a couple of days ago.</td>
<td>In his letter, he said he'd seen Penny a couple of days before.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinosaurs were around for 250 million years.</td>
<td>This guy on TV said that dinosaurs were around for 250 million years. (NOT ... had-been-around ...)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1. Change these to indirect speech.
   1. I saw him once before in London. (I knew)
   2. Shakespeare didn't speak French. (The professor said)
   3. He died two years ago. (When I got there, I found out)
   4. Three thousand years ago there were tigers in England. (It said on this TV programme)
   5. Somebody threw a bomb at the Prime Minister. (It said on this morning's news)
   6. The ancient Romans suffered from lead poisoning. (I read in a magazine)

Usually unchanged after past reporting verbs: past perfect, had better, would, could, should, ought, might, must.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DIRECT SPEECH</th>
<th>INDIRECT SPEECH</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I hadn't seen him before. You'd better go.</td>
<td>She said she hadn't seen him before. He said I'd better go.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. Change these to indirect speech.
   1. Would you like a drink? (She asked me)
   2. I couldn't help it. (I said)
   3. We should be home about six. (They thought)
   4. It might rain. (The forecast said)
   5. She must be joking. (Everybody said)
   6. I hadn't seen the notice. (I explained)

I thought you'd like to know that the day after you died you won a $22.5 million lottery.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
indirect speech: more practice

1 Tenses. Here are some things that people thought in the past. Report them, using indirect speech.

- 'I've found a new way to get to India.' (Columbus)
  Columbus thought that he had found a new way to get to India

1 'The sun goes round the earth.' (Ptolemy)

2 'Brutus loves me.' (Julius Caesar)

3 'That boy will never be a scientist.' (One of Einstein's teachers)

4 'I can conquer Russia.' (Napoleon and Hitler)

5 'People are born again and again.' (The ancient Egyptians)

6 'The world has existed since October 23, 4004 B.C.' (Bishop Ussher)

7 'Modern ships cannot sink.' (C J Smith, the future captain of the Titanic)

8 'The land belongs to everyone.' (Many native Americans)

9 'The Beatles are more popular than Jesus.' (John Lennon)

10 'Capitalism will disappear.' (Karl Marx)

2 Grammar in a text. Choose the right forms to complete the text.

I didn't feel at all well yesterday, so I looked in my book (The Complete Home Doctor, 2nd Edition) to see what I 1 have / had / did. The book said it 2 is / was / would be either mononucleosis or typhoid, but it wasn't clear which, so I went to the doctor. I wanted to see Dr Gibbons – he's always very understanding – but the receptionist said he 3 isn't / wasn't / wouldn't be free, so I had to see Dr Parker, one of those new young doctors. I went in and told him what I 4 have / had / did. (I always tell the doctor what I 5 have / had / did) got, it saves a lot of time.) But he just started asking a lot of stupid questions. He wanted to know how old 6 I am / I was / was I, if I 7 smoke / smoked / was smoking, how much 8 I drink / I drank / did I drink, if I 9 take / took exercise, if I 10 live / lived alone, if I 11 have / had ever had mental problems, etc etc. So I told him that I 12 am / was / would be perfectly all right, except that I either 13 have / had / was having mononucleosis or typhoid, and I 14 do want / want / wanted to know which. I explained that it 15 is / was / will be urgent, because typhoid 16 is / is being / would be very infectious. And he said I 17 have / had / am having a bad case of hypochondria, and I 18 should take / should have taken / should be taking two aspirins and come back in a week if I still feel ill. And he said 19 I better throw / I'd better throw / I'd better have thrown away the book. Throw away The Complete Home Doctor? It's been in my family for generations. I don't know what they do in medical school, but they don't learn 20 how talk / how talking / how to talk to patients, and they certainly don't learn much about medicine. I'm surprised that I'm still alive.
3 Grammar and vocabulary: everyday jobs. What do you know how to do? Write sentences beginning I (don't) know how to ... Use a dictionary if necessary.

1. (boil an egg) I know how to boil an egg.
2. (mend a fuse) ..............................................................
3. (sew on a button) ..........................................................
4. (knit a sweater) ............................................................
5. (clean a carpet) ............................................................
6. (hang a picture on a wall) .............................................
7. (replace a tap washer) ..................................................
8. (change a wheel on a car) .............................................
9. (make a cake) ...............................................................
10. (mend a puncture in a bike tyre) ..............................

4 How to ... Write three other things that you know how to do, and three that you don't know how to do.

..................................................................................
..................................................................................
..................................................................................
..................................................................................
..................................................................................

5 Tenses. Choose the correct words to complete the cartoon caption.

‘Don’t ask me – I thought they are / were / would be yours.’

6 Internet exercise. Use the internet to find out some things that the ancient Greeks, Chinese, Romans, Egyptians (or other people) believed. Write five or more things.

..................................................................................
..................................................................................
..................................................................................

indirect speech: revision test

1 Mixed structures. Change these sentences to indirect speech (reported some time later).
   - He’s ill. (She thought)  She thought he was ill.
   1 I’ll be back tomorrow. (He said)
   2 Would you like a drink? (She asked him)
   3 Where’s the bus station? (She asked me)
   4 Have you finished? (I asked him)
   5 Three kilos should be enough. (The book said)
   6 When is the car going to be ready? (I asked)
   7 These figures can’t be right. (I knew)
   8 Her cat understands everything she says. (She thought)
   9 Did Mary phone back? (I wondered)
   10 Did dinosaurs lay eggs? (I wondered)
   11 I don’t like this music. (She said)
   12 Do you want tea or coffee? (He asked her)
   13 I’ll clean the flat. (She offered)
   14 What does the boss want? (I asked)
   15 You should see the doctor. (He advised me)

2 Here are some famous predictions. Report them using indirect speech.
   - ‘There will be no war with Germany.’ (The Daily Express, 1939)
     The Daily Express told its readers that there would be no war with Germany.
   1 ‘The telephone will never have any commercial value.’ (J P Morgan)
   2 ‘TV will never become popular.’ (Mary Somerville)
   3 ‘We will never reach the moon.’ (An American astronomer in 1932)
   4 ‘We don’t think the Beatles will be a commercial success.’ (Jay Livingstone of Capitol Records, 1964)
   5 ‘A black man will never be President of the United States.’ (Joseph George Caldwell, 2006)
SECTION 21 prepositions

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

above across against along at behind between by down during for from in in front of into near off on opposite out of over past round through to under until/till up

- Some prepositions are difficult because they have more than one meaning. (A preposition in one language often has several different translations into another language.) This is really a matter of vocabulary, not grammar, but grammar books often deal with the meanings of prepositions, and we include information about some problem points in this Section.

- We also list common fixed expressions consisting of verb + preposition, noun + preposition and adjective + preposition, and other common expressions that begin with prepositions. (To find out what preposition to use after other nouns, verbs and adjectives, see the Oxford Advanced Learner's Dictionary, the Oxford Collocations Dictionary, or any other good dictionary.)

- The grammar of prepositions is mostly covered in other Sections:

  For -ing forms after prepositions, see page 119.

  For the position of prepositions, see pages 107 (questions), 98 (passives) and 273 (relative clauses).

Note: for phrasal verbs (verb + adverb particle), see pages 150-151.

‘Before you sentence me, I'd like to remind the court that I was just passing through the building looking for a bathroom.’

‘Excuse me, but I think you’re in my seat.’
revise the basics: time

1 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the examples in the box and complete the rule for the use of at, in and on to talk about time.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>in 2011</th>
<th>in June</th>
<th>in the morning</th>
<th>at 4.15</th>
<th>at lunchtime</th>
<th>on Sunday</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>on Monday afternoon</td>
<td>at Christmas</td>
<td>at the weekend</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Rule

at ........ + clock time or particular time

............ + part of a day

............ + part of a particular day

............ + particular day

............ + weekend, public holiday

............ + longer period

............ to say how long something takes

2 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the examples in the box and complete the rule.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I’ll see you next Monday.</th>
<th>I’m not free this Thursday.</th>
<th>I train every day.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Tell me what time it starts.</td>
<td>The exam’s on my birthday.</td>
<td>Let’s meet one weekend.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>She phoned this evening.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Rule

Before expressions of time beginning this, next, every, one and what, we usually ...................................................................................

3 Put in at, in, on or – (= no preposition).

1 We’re not going away .......... Easter.
2 I spoke to Harry .......... Tuesday.
3 Carole was born .......... 1994.
4 We usually go to the gym .......... the evening.
5 Are you free .......... Friday evening?
6 The countryside is beautiful .......... May.
7 I’ll try to see you .......... next Wednesday.
8 I don’t know .......... what time it starts.
9 Everybody will be here .......... supper time.
10 There’s no match .......... this Sunday.
11 I’ll always remember .......... that afternoon.
12 Can I come and see you .......... Sunday afternoon?
13 You’ll be sorry for this .......... one day.

15 She learnt English .......... six months.
16 When will I get married? .......... this year, .......... next year, some time, never?
17 .......... what day are you seeing Frank?
18 I’m never very clear-headed .......... the morning.
19 Are you going to have a party .......... your birthday?
20 Let’s go to the mountains .......... the weekend.
revise the basics: place and movement

1 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the examples and complete the rule correctly.

I met her at a concert. Let's go to a concert. He's in London. I sent it to London yesterday.

Rule: At and in are used for distance / position / movement.
To is used for distance / position / movement.

We often use at to talk about where something happens – for example, a meeting place or a point on a journey.

We usually meet at the pub. I had to change trains at York.
Turn right at the petrol station. They kept me waiting at the embassy.

And we often use at with words for things that people do, or the places where they do them.

at a match at breakfast, lunch etc at a restaurant at work at the office at the theatre at the cinema at the station at a party at (the) college/university

At and in are often both possible. We prefer in when we are thinking more about the place itself, and not just the activity. Compare:

We had dinner at the Golden Dragon. It was very hot in the big dining room.

At is not used with the names of very big places. Compare:

We changed planes at Kennedy. We changed planes in New York. (NOT ... at New York.)
She arrived at school late. (NOT ... arrived to ...) She arrived in London on Tuesday.

2 Put in or at.

1 I'll see you ......... the party.
2 We spent two days ......... Bangkok.
3 There's no heating ......... my room.
4 We had problems ......... the office.
5 I'll pick you up ......... the station.
6 Get off the bus ......... Eden Square.
7 Joe's film crazy: he almost lives ......... the cinema.
8 You change trains ......... Cardiff.
9 Let's meet ......... my place at six.
10 I never talk ......... breakfast.

We use in with 3-dimensional spaces like boxes, rooms, towns or countries.
We use on with 2-dimensional surfaces like floors, tables, walls or ceilings.
We say that people are in clothes, and that clothes and jewellery are on people.

3 Put in or on.

1 There's a spider ......... the bath.
2 Put this paper ......... the office door.
3 What's that bird ......... the roof?
4 Your lunch is ......... the table.
5 She had a ring ......... her first finger.
6 Who's the man ......... the funny hat?
7 There's a black mark ......... the ceiling.
8 Our football is stuck up ......... a tree.
9 Do you want your rice ......... a bowl or ......... a plate?

4 Prepositions of movement: cross out the words that are wrong.

- across the road / the tunnel
1 through the gate / the stairs
2 down the church / the hill
3 under the bridge / the crowd
4 into the supermarket / the table
5 across the river / the garage
6 up the mountain / the piano

7 out of the bank / the stairs
8 along the corner / the river
9 off the car park / the table
10 over the shop / the wall
11 past the floor / the station
12 round the corner / the road

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
some preposition choices

by and until

1 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the examples in the box, and choose the best explanations of how to use by and until.

‘Can you repair my watch if I leave it until Saturday?’ ‘No, but we can do it by next Tuesday.’
You can have the car until this evening. But you must bring it back by six o’clock at the latest.

1 to say that something may or may not happen, we use BY / UNTIL / NEITHER.
2 to say that a situation will continue up to a certain moment, we use BY / UNTIL / NEITHER.
3 to say that something will happen around a certain time, we use BY / UNTIL / NEITHER.
4 to say that something will happen at or before a certain moment, we use BY / UNTIL / NEITHER.

In an informal style we often use till instead of until. Before a subject and verb, we can use by the time.

He’ll be gone by the time we get home.

2 Complete the sentences with by (the time) or till/until.
1 ‘Can I stay ................. the weekend?’
2 ‘Yes, but you’ll have to leave ................. Monday midday at the latest.’
3 This form must be returned ................. April 17.
4 We’ll just have to wait ................. he’s ready to see us.
5 The visitors will have gone ................. you get back.
6 Do you think you can finish the painting ................. Easter?

opposite and in front of 3 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the picture. Which is opposite the house – the bus stop or the car?

Which is in front of the house?

............................... is opposite the house.
............................... is in front of the house.

4 Put in opposite or in front of.
1 There’s a supermarket ................. my house.
2 ................. me in the queue there was a very strange-looking woman.
3 I can’t see the TV if you stand ................. it.
4 The lifts are directly ................. the reception desk.
5 Somebody’s parked ................. my garage door, and I can’t get my car out.
6 She sat down ................. me and started talking to me.
between and among

5 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the examples in the box and complete the rules.

She was standing between Alice and Mary.
Our house is between the woods, the river and the village.
His house is hidden among the trees.
We were in a little valley between high mountains.

We say ................ a group, crowd or mass of things that are not seen separately.
We say ................ two or more clearly separate people or things.
We say ................ things on two sides.

6 Look at the diagrams. Is X between or among the other things?

1 X is ................ the other things.
2 X is ................ the other things.
3 X is ................ the other things.
4 X is ................ the other things.

7 Put in between or among.
1 I saw something ................ the wheels of the car.
2 She was standing ................ a crowd of children.
3 We’ll come and see you some time ................ Christmas and Easter.
4 I found the letter hidden away ................ some old photographs.
5 This is just one problem ................ many.
6 Switzerland lies ................ France, Germany, Austria and Italy.

for and during

8 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the examples in the box. Which word tells you how long and which word tells you when?

My father was in hospital for six weeks during the summer. (NOT ... during six weeks ... )
It rained during the night for two or three hours.

During tells you ............................................. For tells you .............................................

9 Put in for or during.
1 Drinks will be served ................... the interval.
2 I’ll come and see you ................... a few minutes ................... the afternoon.
3 They met ................... the war.
4 He said nothing ................... a long time.
5 I woke up several times ................... the night.
6 She studied in America ................... two years.
verbs with prepositions  Look at her.

With some verbs, we put a preposition (for, to, at etc) before an object.

Look at her! (NOT Look her!)  Please listen to me. (NOT Please listen me.)

We don’t use a preposition if there is no object.

Look! (NOT Look at)  Please listen. (NOT Please listen to.)

1 Choose the correct preposition or no preposition (–).

1  Let’s go. We can’t wait for / at / on / – Margaret any longer.
2  I’m going to take singing lessons. Don’t laugh at / for / to / – .
3  ‘She’s quite wrong.’ ‘I don’t agree to / at / with / – .’
4  Sorry, I can’t wait for / at / on / – any longer.
5  ‘Shall we go away next weekend?’ ‘I’ll think about / on / of / – it.’

Not all verbs are followed by prepositions.

She married a builder. (NOT She married with a builder.)

2 Check your knowledge. Put a preposition into one sentence and – into the others.

1  We’re approaching ............... the town centre.
2  I don’t know what to do. Let’s ask ............... Harry.
3  I’m going to write ............... my MP about this.
4  When we entered ............... the room, it was too dark to see anything.
5  Shall I phone ............... the tax office, or is it better to email ............... them?
6  This soup lacks ............... salt.
7  Can we discuss ............... arrangements for the weekend?

3 Check your knowledge. Of, on, from or –?

1  She insisted on paying / to pay.
2  He went into hospital on Tuesday, and they operated him / on him yesterday.
3  Are you accusing me lying / of lying / to lie ?
4  I can’t live on / from / of the money I earn in this job.
5  We may go to Wales at the weekend. It depends on / from / of the weather.
6  I think Alice is suffering of / from / – depression.
7  Can you take care of / from / – the children tomorrow?
8  Her parents prevented her of marrying / from marrying / to marry her internet boyfriend.

4 Check your knowledge. Put in at, in, to, into or –.

1  I don’t believe ............... ghosts.
2  She specialises ............... psychiatry.
3  They divided us ............... two groups.
4  The bus crashed ............... a tree.
5  He’ll never succeed ............... business.
6  Do you want to take part ............... an online game?
7  Can you translate this ............... Dutch?
8  We arrived ............... the airport at 10.40.
9  That baby smiles ............... everybody.
10  I ran ............... Peter in the bank yesterday.
11  Can you explain ............... me how this works?
Here are some examples of other common verb + preposition combinations. Learn the ones you don’t know.

fight with: That child’s always fighting with her brother.

belong to: This coat belongs to Maggie. Cups belong in that cupboard.

spend money/time on: He spends all his money on clothes. I spend a lot of time on language study.

apply to somebody for something: You have to apply to the consulate for a visa.

happen to: What’s happened to your leg?

consist of: The human body consists mostly of water.

blame somebody for something: They blamed me for the accident, but it wasn’t my fault.

forgive somebody for something: He never forgives anybody for anything.

speak to/with: I’d like to speak to/with the manager.

thank you for: Thank you for all your help.

Some verbs can be used in more than one prepositional structure.

You arrive at a place, or in a very big place (NOT to).

_The train arrives at_ Waverley Station at 18.15. _When did you arrive in_ London?

You get into / out of a car; you get on/off a bus, train, plane, large boat or ship.

_She got into_ the car without saying goodbye. _You get off_ the bus at Queen’s Square.

You pay a person or a bill; you pay for something that you buy.

‘Have you paid Andy?’ ‘Yes, I paid his bill last week.’ Can you pay for the meal?

5 Complete the sentences with _arrive, get or pay_ and the correct prepositions.

- You haven’t ................................ your drink.
- 1 What time does the plane ......................... Birmingham Airport?
- 2 You can’t ........................................ the bus without a ticket.
- 3 I haven’t got enough money to ....................... the electricity bill.
- 4 You can ........................................... the front of the car, because you’ve got long legs.
- 5 Do we ........................................... the waiter, or do we pay at the cash desk?
- 6 When I first ................................. Paris I didn’t speak a word of French.
- 7 The police told everybody to ....................... the car.
- 8 I’ll ........................................ the tickets if you ....................... dinner afterwards.
- 9 We had to ................................. the plane because there was a bomb.
- 10 When I ................................. the docks, I was just too late to ....................... the boat.

_Shout/throw at_ are aggressive; _shout/throw to_ are not.

Don’t _shout at_ me like that. _I shouted to_ Mary to hurry up.

_Why are you throwing_ stones _at_ my car? _Throw the ball_ to _me!

Here are examples of some other verbs that can be used in more than one structure.

_I asked my brother._ I asked for help.

_I often dream about you._ (while asleep) I often dream of travelling round the world. (in imagination)

_What are you thinking about?_ What do you think of the government? (= ‘What’s your opinion?’)

_Have you heard_ (the news) _about_ John? That girl has never heard of Shakespeare.

_I’m looking for a good hotel._ (= ‘trying to find’) Can you look after the children? (= ‘take care of’)

_She reminded me about_ the meeting. (I had forgotten) You remind me of (= ‘look or act like’) my father.

_The police searched_ everybody. They were searching for drugs.
nouns with prepositions lack of sleep

Some nouns are followed by particular prepositions.

I felt stupid because of lack of sleep. Congratulations on your promotion.

1 Check your knowledge. Put in of six times and for four times.
1 Can you show me an example .......... your work?

SECTION 22 spoken grammar

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

The grammar of informal spoken English is different from the grammar of written English in some ways.

- Sentences are usually less complicated, with fewer kinds of conjunctions.
- Information is often separated more, and given piece by piece.

  That woman across the road, her brother, well, I was talking to him, and he said …
- We often leave words out if the meaning is clear.

  Seen Peter?  He said he'd pay, but I think he probably hasn't.
- We make several kinds of short sentence with subject + auxiliary verb.

  The meeting's tomorrow, isn't it?
  'Did you phone John?'  'No, I didn't.'
  'The holiday was great.'  'Was it? I'm so pleased.'
  'I'm playing tomorrow afternoon.'  'So am I.'
spoken sentence structure  It's difficult, the exam.

The grammar of informal spoken English is different from the grammar of written English in some ways. Sentences are usually less complicated, with fewer and simpler conjunctions.

FORMAL WRITING:  While the hotel was quite a high standard, the food was disappointing.
INFORMAL SPEECH:  The hotel was quite good, but the food was disappointing.

Information is often separated out more, and given piece by piece – not always in the order SUBJECT–VERB–OBJECT.

*The woman across the road, her brother, well, I was talking to him, and he said ...
Last Wednesday it was, I was just going to work,
That lecture, I thought I was going to go to sleep.

They work very hard, most of the students.*

1 Change these spoken sentences into a more formal ‘written’ style. (Different answers are possible.)

- That car of his, is he going to sell it?
  Is he going to sell his car?

- London, I think it was, where they met.
  I think they met in London.

1  It's pretty difficult, the final exam.

2 Copy paper, look, can I order six boxes, top quality?

3 She's not doing very well, Sheila, in her new job.

5 Sunday morning, I was fast asleep, the phone rang, it was Ellie.

6 Trust them? This government? Not me!

7 France, this year, we can't afford to go.

8 They're all the same, TV programmes these days.

9 George, his daughter, she's not going to university, not this year.

10 Without Henry, that job, we could never have finished it.

In speech we can emphasise one part of a sentence by saying it louder and on a higher pitch.

MARY sent a birthday card to the mayor. (Not Mary's sister)

Mary sent A BIRTHDAY CARD to the mayor. (Not a bomb)

Mary sent a birthday card to THE MAYOR. (Not to the chief of police)

In writing, special structures have to be used to show emphasis (see pages 148-149).

It was Mary who sent a birthday card to the mayor.

306 SPOKEN GRAMMAR
In informal speech we often drop unstressed beginnings of sentences. This happens mainly with articles, possessives, personal pronouns, auxiliary verbs and be, demonstratives and introductory there is.

Car's running badly. (= The car's ...) Shoelace is undone. (= My shoelace ...) Forgotten his umbrella again. (= He's forgotten ...) You talking to me? (= Are you talking ...) She ready? (= Is she ready?)

Must dash. (= I must dash ...) Won't work. (= It won't work ...) Be four pounds fifty. (= That'll be ...) No reason to panic. (= There's no reason ...)

1 Put back the words that have been dropped and write the complete sentences.
   1 Wife's on holiday. .................................................................
   2 Couldn't understand a word. ......................................................
   3 Seen Joe? ...........................................................................
   4 Careful what you say. ..............................................................
   5 Nobody at home. .................................................................
   6 Don't think so. .................................................................
   7 Train's late again. ..............................................................
   8 Know what I mean? ..............................................................
   9 Got a pen? ...........................................................................
   10 Lost my glasses. .................................................................

2 Make these sentences more informal by dropping words from the beginning.
   1 I've changed my job. ..............................................................
   2 She doesn't know what she's doing. ........................................
   3 That'll cost you £10. ............................................................
   4 Be careful of the flowers. ......................................................
   5 There's no time to waste. ........................................................
   6 The bus is coming. ..............................................................
   7 Do you speak English? ...........................................................
   8 I haven't been there. ............................................................
   9 He thinks he's clever. ...........................................................
   10 Have you got a match? ............................................................

We only drop pronouns before stressed words.

Like your tie.  Haven't seen him.  Can't swim.

But not Have-seen him, Can swim. (Affirmative auxiliaries are usually unstressed.)
dropping words after auxiliaries ‘Get up!’ ‘I am!’

In informal speech, we often use just an auxiliary verb instead of repeating a longer expression.

‘Get up!’ ‘I am!’ (=‘I am getting up.’)

He said he'd write to me, but he hasn't. (=‘... he hasn't written to me.’)

‘Talk louder.’ ‘I would if I could, but I can’t.’

If there is no auxiliary to repeat, we use do.

She said she would phone, and she did.

1 Make these sentences more natural by cutting out unnecessary expressions after auxiliaries.

1 I can’t see you today, but I can see you tomorrow.
She thinks I don’t love her, but I do love her.

2 I’ve bought one of those tops, and Sue has bought one too.

3 ‘You wouldn’t have won if I hadn’t helped you.’ ‘Yes, I would have won.’

4 ‘That car needs cleaning.’ ‘It certainly does need cleaning.’

5 ‘You’d better phone Bill.’ ‘I have phoned Bill.’

6 ‘The photocopier isn’t working.’ ‘Yes, it is working.’

7 She can’t swim, but I can swim.

8 Phil doesn’t want to go, and Celia doesn’t want to go either.

2 Read the text, and then write the expressions that have been dropped.

“I’ve never understood how John puts up with her.”

“No, I haven’t either. He’s a saint. He —”

“She’s so rude. She just doesn’t care how much she upsets people.”

“She certainly doesn’t. I remember —”

“And having to work with her every day, it was getting on my nerves.”

“Yes, I know it was. I thought you —”

“I mean, I couldn’t go on like that.”

“Of course you couldn’t, dear. You —”

“And then, she kept promising to take Sally to the zoo, and she never did. Now if you make promises to children, you have to keep them, don’t you?”

“Yes, of course you do. Children —”

“So in the end, I just told her what I thought of her.”

“Well done. I’m glad you did. Somebody had to. If you hadn’t, I would have. I —”

“And another thing, ...”

→ understood how John puts up with her revise the basics: question tags It's cold, isn’t it?

Question tags often follow sentences in speech and informal writing. They are used to check whether something is true, or to ask for agreement.

You haven’t seen Joe, have you? This tea isn’t very nice, is it?

Negative tags are usually contracted – we say for example isn’t it? (NOT USUALLY is it not?) (See page 321 for details of contractions). The contracted tag for am I not? is aren’t I?

Nice day, isn’t it? I’m late, aren’t I?

Question tags are usually negative (__) after affirmative (__) sentences, and not negative after negative sentences. We do not normally put tags after questions.

It is cold, isn’t it? It isn’t warm, is it? (BUT NOT Is it cold, isn’t it?)

1 Right (√) or wrong (✗)?
   ▶ You’re Scottish, aren’t you? ✓.. ✓..  4 The film wasn’t much good, wasn’t it? ......
   ▶ Are you ready, are you? ...  5 It’ll be dark soon, won’t it? ......
   1 She can’t speak Chinese, can she? ......
   2 It’s been raining, hasn’t it? ......
   3 Have they paid, have they? ......
   5 You’ve made a mistake, haven’t you? ......
   7 I’m in time for breakfast, aren’t I? ......
   8 Was the weather OK, was it? ......

If the main sentence has an auxiliary verb or be, this is used in the tag. If not, do is used.

She can swim, can’t she? You wouldn’t like a puppy, would you?
He gave you a cheque, didn’t he?

There can be used as a subject in tags.

There’s a problem, isn’t there?

2 These are sentences from real conversations. Put in the question tags.

1 I’m cooking tonight, ...............
2 We’re going to Mum’s, then, ...............
3 Your brothers are not being kind to you today, ...............
4 I’m not quite myself, ...............
5 They weren’t ready, ...............
6 She’s not a baby now, ...............
7 That’s the law, ...............
8 He’s a lovely little boy, ...............
9 That fireman can see them, ..............., Dave?
10 It must be a year now, ...............
11 It’ll be all right, ...............
12 They look like big candles, ...............
13 They won’t have bulbs, ...............
14 There’s a light out there, ...............
15 Cathy’s still got curly hair, ...............
16 She doesn’t look well, ...............
17 They’ve been really horrible, ...............
18 I was first really, ...............

“Look, I’m sorry, mate – I’m only doing my  job, aren’t I?”

Instead of question tags, people also say Right?, Yes? or No?

This is your coat, right? We’re seeing Hazel tonight, no?

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I’m, don’t) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
more about question tags Nobody phoned, did they?

We use they to refer to nobody/no one, somebody/someone, everybody/everyone and anybody/anyone.

Nobody phoned, did they?  Someone’s left the lights on, haven’t they?

We use non-negative tags after words with a negative sense like never, no, nobody, hardly, scarcely, little.

She never smiles, does she?  NOT ... does she?  It’s hardly rained all summer, has it?

We use it in question tags to refer to nothing.

Nothing can happen, can it?

1. Put in suitable tags.
   1. Everybody’s here, aren’t ...............?
   2. You’re never happy, .........................?
   3. There’s no milk, .........................?
   4. Nothing matters, .........................?
   5. Nobody likes her, do ...............?
   6. She hardly spoke, .........................?
   7. Somebody’s forgotten their coat, .........................?
   8. There’s scarcely enough time, .........................?
   9. You never wrote, .........................?

Informal questions/requests often use negative sentence + question tag.

You haven’t seen Liz around, have you?  You can’t lend me £5, can you?

2. Change the structure.
   - Do you know where Harry is?  You don’t know where Harry is, do you?
   1. Have you picked up my keys?  ........................................
   2. Could you help me for a minute?  ........................................
   3. Is that your brother?  ........................................
   4. Can you give me a lift?  ........................................

After imperatives, we can use won’t you? to invite people to do things, and will/would/can/can’t/could you? (informal) to tell or ask people to do things.

Do sit down, won’t you?  Give me a hand, will you?  Shut up, can’t you?

After a negative imperative we use will you? After Let’s we use shall we?

Don’t forget, will you?  Let’s have a party, shall we?

3. Complete the sentences with tags from the box.

   could you? shall we? will you? won’t you? would you?

   1. Do have some more tea, .........................
   2. Don’t drive too fast, .........................
   3. Let’s start again, .........................
   4. You couldn’t tell me the time, .........................
   5. Pass me the newspaper, .........................

If a tag is a real question, it has a rising intonation: the music of the voice goes up.

If the tag only asks for agreement, it has a falling intonation: the voice goes down.

The meeting’s at four o’clock, isn’t it?  Nice day, isn’t it?

4. Real question or not? Draw arrows (↑ or ↓).

   1. Sweet child, isn’t she?
   2. That’s Fred, isn’t it?
   3. This is boring, isn’t it?
   4. We finish at twelve, don’t we?

310 SPOKEN GRAMMAR
revise the basics: short answers and reply questions

In conversation, we often give short answers using pronoun + auxiliary verb.

'Can he swim?' 'Yes, he can.'
'Has the rain stopped?' 'No, it hasn't.'
'Don't forget to phone.' 'I won't.'
'She likes cakes.' 'She certainly does.'

Write short affirmative (✓) or negative (✗) answers for these sentences.

1. 'Are you ready?' ✓
2. 'Do you speak English?' ✓
3. 'It's too hot.' ✓
4. 'Don't be late.' ✓
5. 'Send me a postcard.' ✓
6. 'Have you seen Les?' ✓
7. 'Can you understand him?' ✓
8. 'He plays well.' ✓
9. 'She sounded tired.' ✓
10. 'Say hello to Linda for me.' ✓

Reply questions using auxiliary verb + pronoun (like question tags) can express attention, interest or surprise.

'It was a terrible party.' 'Was it?' 'Yes, ...'
'We had a lovely holiday.' 'Did you?' 'Yes, we went ...'
'I've got a headache.' 'Have you, dear? I'll get you an aspirin.'
'John likes that girl next door.' 'Oh, does he?'
'I don't understand.' 'Oh, don't you? I'm sorry.'

Negative reply questions answering affirmative sentences can express emphatic agreement.

'It was a lovely concert.' 'Yes, wasn't it? I did enjoy it.'
'She's lost a lot of weight.' 'Yes, hasn't she?'

Read the text and then rewrite a few lines of it as a conversation, using reply questions.

It was a lovely wedding. Though I didn’t think much of Maggie’s dress. That colour doesn’t suit her at all. Anyway, I don’t really go for church weddings. The service went on for ages. And I was sitting right at the back, so I couldn’t hear the vicar. The music was nice, though. They played that hymn about sheep. Lovely. I must say I didn’t enjoy the reception much. The food wasn’t very good. And the bride’s father made such a stupid speech. And I got one of my headaches. Champagne always gives me a headache. And I was sitting next to that Mrs Foster from down the road. I can’t stand that woman. She’s always criticising. Anyway, I must go. Nice to talk to you. It really was a lovely wedding.

'it was a lovely wedding.' 'Was it?' 'Yes. Though ...'
revise the basics: so am I etc

So am I means *'I am too'; so does he means 'he does too'; and so on.

Neither/Nor am I means 'I'm not either', and so on.

- She’s from Scotland, and so am I. I was tired, and so were the others.
- 'I've lost their address.' So have I. I like dancing, and so does he.
- I can't swim, and neither can Bill. She didn't understand. 'Nor did I.'

1. Complete the sentences with so am I etc or neither/nor am I etc.

   1. He’s tall, and ___________________________ his sister.
   2. ‘I haven’t paid.’ ‘___________________________ I.’
   3. Penguins can’t fly, and ___________________________ ostriches.
   4. ‘I love this music.’ ‘___________________________ I.’
   5. ‘I lost my passport.’ ‘___________________________ Nicola.’
   6. I don’t like her, and ___________________________ my friends.
   7. The food was bad, and ___________________________ the wine.
   8. Sue won’t be there, and ___________________________ her mother.
   9. ‘Pete looks ill.’ ‘___________________________ you.’
   10. ‘I wasn’t surprised.’ ‘___________________________ I.’

2. Look at the pictures, and make sentences about pairs of things using so is etc or neither/nor is etc.

   - The cat has four legs, and so has the dog. The pram is not alive, and neither is the car.
   - [Additional sentences based on the images provided]

- 'This driver speaks English.'
- 'The other one doesn't.'

1 'My room doesn't cost a lot.'
2 Most of the children can sing, but 3 Her first marriage didn't work out very well, but
4 'Electric cookers take a long time to heat up.'
5 'Mike has found a job.'
6 The door was locked, but
7 'The armchair isn't very comfortable.'

4 Here are some facts about some people. Are you the same as them, or different?
Write your answers, using So am I, Neither/Nor do I, I have, I can't etc.

- A lot of people have got brown eyes. So have I... or I haven't...
- Some people don't like fish. I do... or Nor do I...
1 Most people are interested in sport.
2 Quite a lot of people have climbed a mountain.
3 A lot of people can sing.
4 Some people like old books.
5 A lot of people speak Chinese.
6 Some people aren't very sociable.
7 Most people haven't got a dog.
8 Some people can't drink milk.
9 Some people don't like travelling.
10 A lot of people don't understand computers.

We can also use too or not either to say that A is/does the same as B.

- 'I'm hungry.' 'I am too.'
- Lucy hasn't written, and Carol hasn't either.

In informal conversation we often say Me too instead of So do I, I do too etc.

- 'I've got a headache.' 'Me too.' (NOT 'I else)

5 Write a few sentences comparing yourself with somebody you know.
Use the structures that you have just practised.

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example 'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.
structures with so and not  I (don’t) think so. I hope so/not.

We often use so in answers, instead of a that-clause. This is common after be afraid, hope, suppose, think.

‘Did you lose?’ ‘I’m afraid so.’ (= I’m afraid that we did.)
‘Do you think we’ll have good weather?’ ‘Yes, I hope so.’ (NOT ‘Yes, I hope.’)
‘Are you ready?’ ‘I suppose so.’ (unwilling agreement)
‘Is Alex here?’ ‘I think so.’ (NOT ‘I think it.’ OR ‘I think.’)

1 Here are some exchanges taken from recorded conversations. See if you can guess which of the following expressions was used in each exchange: I’m afraid so, I hope so, I suppose so or I think so.

1 ‘Is it working?’ ‘Yes, ……………………………’
2 ‘Dead, aren’t they?’ ‘………………………….’
3 ‘Do we want it?’ ‘Not sure. …………………………….’
4 ‘Is that when she said it?’ ‘………………………….’
5 ‘It should be warmer in April.’ ‘………………………….’
6 ‘Did he know who you were?’ ‘Oh, yes, …………………………….’
7 ‘When is it? Tomorrow?’ ‘Yes, …………………………….’
8 ‘You’re mean, aren’t you?’ ‘………………………….’
9 ‘It should be quite easy, though.’ ‘………………………….’
10 ‘I could borrow one of your dresses, couldn’t I?’ ‘………………………….’
11 ‘Complete disaster, isn’t it?’ ‘………………………….’
12 ‘This really is the last job for today, right?’ ‘Well, …………………………….’

Negatives are: I’m afraid not, I hope not, I suppose not and (usually) I don’t think so.

‘Have we finished?’ ‘I’m afraid not.’ ‘Is this our hotel?’ ‘I hope not.’
‘John won’t want to come with us.’ ‘I suppose not.’
‘Is there a later train?’ ‘I don’t think so.’

2 Complete the negative answers.

1 ‘Did you find out?’ ‘………………………….’ (afraid)
2 ‘Will you be home late?’ ‘No, …………………………….’ (think)
3 ‘We’re not going to have lunch too early, are we?’ ‘………………………….’ (hope)
4 ‘It’s not a good idea, is it?’ ‘No, …………………………….’ (suppose)
5 ‘Do they serve tea here?’ ‘………………………….’ (afraid)
6 ‘I think she’s got a new boyfriend?’ ‘………………………….’ (afraid)
7 ‘We won’t be in time for the train.’ ‘………………………….’ (hope)
8 ‘Is this where she lives?’ ‘………………………….’ (think)
9 ‘Can you come round tonight?’ ‘………………………….’ (afraid)
10 ‘This isn’t going to work, is it?’ ‘………………………….’ (suppose)
11 ‘Is it going to rain again?’ ‘………………………….’ (hope) 12 ‘Does Alice know what’s going on?’ ‘………………………….’ (think) spoken grammar: more practice

1 Dropping sentence-beginnings. Cut out unnecessary expressions after auxiliaries.
   ▶ I haven't checked the car, but Andy has checked the car.
   1 'Ann isn't coming in tomorrow.' 'Yes, she is coming in tomorrow.'
   2 I don't speak Spanish, and Maggie doesn't speak Spanish either.
   3 I'm going to buy a bike, and Phil is going to buy a bike too.
   4 'You would have overslept if I hadn't woken you up.' 'No, I wouldn't have overslept.'
   5 He thinks we don't know what he's doing, but we do know what he's doing.
   6 'You'd better tell the police.' 'I have told the police.'
   7 None of them can cook, but I can cook.
   8 'We need some new plates.' 'We certainly do need some new plates.'

2 Dropping sentence beginnings. Put back the words that have been dropped.
   ▶ Want the newspaper? ...
   1 Got any money on you? ...........................................................
   2 Heard from Peter? .................................................................
   3 Careful how you drive. .............................................................
   4 Know what I think? .................................................................
   5 Anybody at home? .................................................................
   6 Couldn't find his house. .........................................................
   7 Don't suppose so. .................................................................
   8 Door's locked. .................................................................
   9 Carpet's very dirty. ..............................................................
   10 Forgotten her phone number. ...........................................................

3 So am I etc. Look at the table and write sentences about the people.

appendix 3  capital letters (A, B, C etc)

We use CAPITAL LETTERS to begin the names of people, places, organisations, nationalities, languages, days, months and holidays.

Charles Dickens  Shanghai  Universal Export  French  Arabic  Friday  May  Easter

Titles like Mr, Mrs, Miss, Doctor/Dr, Professor/Prof, General begin with capital letters.
We also use capital letters to begin the most important words in the titles of books, films etc.

A Tale of Two Cities  Gone with the Wind

And we use a capital letter for the first word in a sentence, and for the pronoun I.

When I was younger I wanted to be a musician.
appendix 4 punctuation

This section summarises the most important rules of punctuation.

the basic sentence

We don’t separate the basic parts of a sentence (subject and verb, verb and object, etc).

The Export Department should not have lost so much money.

(Not The Export Department, should not have lost so much money.
Or The Export Department should not have lost, so much money.)

before the basic sentence

If we put long adverbial expressions (saying when, where etc) before the basic sentence, we often use a comma (,). Compare:

Last year the Export Department should not have lost so much money.
Between January 2010 and March 2011, the Export Department should not have lost so much money.

after the basic sentence

We don’t usually use commas when adverbial expressions come after the basic sentence.

The Export Department should not have lost so much money between January 2010 and March 2011.

inside the basic sentence

When adverbial expressions come between or inside parts of the basic sentence, we usually put commas before and after them.

The Export Department, between January 2010 and March 2011, lost an absolute fortune.

noun phrases

We don’t usually separate a noun from the adjectives or other expressions that go with it.

the very strange men (not the very strange men) the very strange men in the London office (not the very strange men, in the London office) the very strange men in the London office who run the Export Department (Not the very strange men in the London office, who run the Export Department)

However, we do use commas to separate non-identifying expressions (see page 275) after nouns.

Mr Sackbottle and Mr Pertwee, who run the Export Department, ...

sentences with conjunctions

We often put commas in sentences with conjunctions, especially in longer sentences. (See page 240.) Compare:

Things will be different when the head of the Export Department retires.
Things will be very different after next December, when the head of the Export Department retires.

We usually use a comma if we start with the conjunction.

When the head of the Export Department retires, things will be different.

indirect speech

We don’t put commas after verbs of saying, thinking etc in indirect speech.

Annie says that the Export Department is in deep trouble. (not Annie says, that ...)

I don’t know how much they’re going to lose this year. (not I don’t know, how much ...)

We don’t put question marks (?) in indirect questions.

I asked why the police were here. (not I asked why the police were here?)

a useful rule: no comma before that

We don’t put commas before that (conjunction or relative pronoun).

I know that the police have questioned the men that run the Export Department.
between separate sentences
Between separate sentences (with no conjunction), we use a full stop (.) or a semi-colon (;), but not a comma. Compare:
The police have been here, and they have arrested the head of the Export Department. (comma and conjunction)
The police have been here. They have arrested the head of the Export Department.
OR The police have been here; they have arrested the head of the Export Department.
BUT NOT The police have been here, they have arrested the head of the Export Department.

lists
We use commas to separate the different things in a list (but not before and).
The police are questioning his wife, his sister, his girlfriend, his secretary and his secretary's boyfriend.

abbreviations (short forms of words)
We use full stops after some abbreviations, like e.g. (meaning 'for example'). Mr and Mrs have full stops in American English, but not usually in British English.
The police have also arrested some of his other associates, e.g. the head of the Marketing Department, Mrs Oliver.

quotation marks (‘...’ or “...”)
Quotation marks are used to show direct speech (somebody's actual words).
Mrs Oliver says, 'I can explain everything.' (NOT <I can explain everything> OR – I can explain everything.)

figures
We use commas after thousands and millions, and full stops in decimal fractions.
losses of € 5,500,000 ( = five million, five hundred thousand euros) losses of € 5.5m ( = five and a half million euros)

apostrophes (’)
For apostrophes in contractions (e.g. isn't), see Appendix 5. For apostrophes in possessives (e.g. John's), see page 207.
appendix 5  contractions

Contractions like she's, isn't represent the pronunciation of informal speech. They are common and correct in informal writing, but are unusual in formal writing.

With be, two negative forms are common: you're not / you aren't, she's not / she isn't etc.
With other verbs, forms with n't are more common.

Am not is contracted to aren't only in questions.
I'm late, aren't I? (but I'm not late, NOT I aren't late.)

The contraction 's (= is or has) can be written after pronouns, nouns, question words, there and here.
It's late.  Your father's gone home.  How's everything?
There's the phone.  Here's your money.
The contractions 're, 've, 'd and 'll are normally only written after pronouns.

Don't confuse it's (= it is / has) with its (possessive – see page 190).
The cat isn't hungry. It's only eaten half of its food.

Don't confuse who's (= who is / has) with whose (possessive – see page 190).
Who's the woman in the green coat?  Whose car is that?

In very informal speech, going to, want to and got to are often pronounced like gonna, wanna and gotta.
They are sometimes written like this, especially in American English.

1 Change the words in italics to contractions.

  > I am .............. tired.
  1 My car has .............. broken down.
  2 She is .............. French.
  3 She has .............. forgotten.
  4 They have .............. finished.
  5 I thought you had .............. left.
  6 We will .............. tell you tomorrow.
  7 I wish he would .............. stop.
  8 How is .............. your mother?
  9 Nobody is .............. perfect.

10 Do you not .............. like this?
11 You need not .............. worry.
12 I cannot .............. swim.
13 The door will not .............. close.
14 It does not .............. matter.
15 I have not .............. forgotten.
16 I am not .............. sorry.
17 Why are you not .............. in bed?
18 I'm right, am I not ..............?

Affirmative contractions are not usually stressed. When an affirmative auxiliary verb is stressed (for example at the end of a sentence) we don't use a contraction. Compare:

'You're late.'  'Yes, we are.' (NOT 'Yes, we're.)

'He's forgotten.'  'I think he has.' (NOT 'I think he's.)
Negative contractions can be stressed, and are possible in any position.

'It isn't true.' 'No, it isn't.'

2 Rewrite the words in italics only if contractions are possible.

- Can you tell me where she is staying? she's
- 'Remember to take your medicine.' 'Yes, I will.'
- Do you know where she is?
- 'Have you paid?' 'No, I have not.'
- 'It is not true.'
- 'On the contrary, it is true.'
- 'Would you like another cup?' 'Yes, I would.'
- I do not believe they are fresh.
- Telephone if you cannot come.
- 'Can you help me?' 'No, I cannot just at the moment.'

3 Complete the poem with the contracted forms of the expressions in the box.

Mother, 1 a strange man
Waiting at the door
With a familiar sort of face
You feel 2 seen before.

Says his name is Jesus
Can we spare a couple of bob*
Says 3 been made redundant
And now 4 find a job.

Yes I think he is a foreigner
Egyptian or a Jew
Oh aye, and that reminds me
5 like some water too.
Well shall I give him what he wants
Or send him on his way?
6 give him 5p
Say 7 all 8 got today.

(From Roger McGough: Three Rusty Nails)
*a couple of bob (shillings): a little money
This section summarises the most important rules of word order that you can find in other parts of the book.

sentences
The basic word order of English sentences is subject – verb – object.

*I like jazz. (NOT jazz like.)

questions
In questions we usually put an auxiliary verb before the subject.

*Did you see my email? (NOT Saw you my email . . . ?)

Mus you go?

For more details, see pages 103–107.

This does not usually happen with indirect questions.

*I asked her what she wanted. (NOT I asked her what did she want.)

For more details, see page 287.

adjectives
Adjectives usually go before, not after, nouns.

an interesting book (NOT a book interesting)

Adjectives can go after be, seem and similar verbs.

I think he is unhappy.

For more details, see pages 215–219.

adverbs
Different adverbs can go in different places in a sentence.

Yesterday I stopped work early. I’ve just seen Peter. She’s talking very strangely.

They do not usually go between the verb and the object.

I bought some shoes yesterday. (NOT I bought yesterday some shoes.)

You speak English very well. (NOT You speak very well English.)

For more details, see pages 220–222.

prepositions
Prepositions often go at the ends of questions, especially in spoken English.

Who do you work for? Where did you get that from?

For more details, see page 107.

Prepositions can also go at the ends of passive clauses and (especially in spoken English) at the ends of relative clauses.

That child needs to be spoken to.

The team that I play for has won its last six matches.

For more details, see pages 98 and 273.

exclamations
In exclamations, the adjective, adverb or object comes at the beginning of the sentence, just after how or what.

How cold it is! (NOT How it is cold!)

What a stupid mistake I made!

For more details, see page 145.

phrasal verbs
The objects of phrasal verbs (but not prepositional verbs) can often go between the two parts of the verb.

Shall I switch the TV off? (Or Shall I switch off the TV?)

Pronoun objects always go between the two parts of a phrasal verb.

I switched it off. (NOT I switched off it.)

For more details, see pages 150–151.
ago
Ago follows an expression of time.
   She went to bed two hours ago. (NOT ... ago two hours) enough

Enough usually goes before nouns but after adjectives and adverbs.
   We haven't got enough milk. (NOT ... milk enough)
   Is your coffee hot enough? (NOT ... enough hot?) I didn't study hard enough.

so do I etc
Note the word order in so do I, so am I etc (see page 312).
   My sister sings in a choir, and so do I. (NOT ... so do.)
A hundred, a thousand etc are less formal than one hundred etc. Compare:
I'll let you have it for a hundred pounds.
We are prepared to sell the item for a sum of one hundred pounds.
We use one hundred etc when we wish to sound precise.
It costs exactly one hundred dollars.
We use one hundred etc, not a hundred etc, just before another number or inside a larger number.
1,300: one thousand, three hundred (NOT a thousand, three hundred)
£1.70: one pound seventy six thousand, one hundred and eleven (NOT six thousand, a hundred ...)

1 Write the figures in words.
1 We drove about 100 miles.
2 He wants £1,450 for the car.
3 ‘What's the population of your village?’ ‘Oh, 1,000, I suppose.’
4 3,144
5 $1.85
6 (on a cheque): Pay G S Hallam £1,000 only

Dozen, hundred, thousand and million have no -s after a number, few or several.
three dozen bottles (NOT three dozens (of) bottles) a few hundred times six thousand miles several million pounds

In other cases we use dozens (of), hundreds (of) etc.
We've got dozens of bottles. He's done it hundreds of times. She made millions in the property market.

2 Put in dozen(s) (of), hundred(s) (of), thousand(s) (of) or million(s) (of).
1 He had to sign his name five times. (hundred)
2 We export 40 tons a year. (million)
3 I just need to borrow a few pounds. (hundred)
4 I've told you times. (million)
5 Refugees are flooding into the country. (thousand)
6 Could I have two eggs? (dozen)

3 Do you know how to spell ordinal numbers? Write these in words.
1st first 2nd second 3rd third
4th fourth 5th fifth 6th sixth
7th seventh 8th eighth 9th ninth
10th tenth 12th twelfth 16th sixteenth
20th twentieth 21st twenty-first 30th thirtieth
100th hundredth
We use ordinal numbers to say the names of kings, queens and popes.

Henry VII → Henry the Eighth  Elizabeth II → Elizabeth the Second  Pius the Twelfth

'I'm afraid you've got the wrong number. This is Louis XV.'

WRITING DATES: 30 March 2008; 10 June 1980
SAYING DATES: the thirtieth of March / March the thirtieth, two thousand and eight the tenth of June / June the tenth, nineteen eighty

4 Change these from written to spoken or from spoken to written form.

1. the tenth of April, two thousand and six

2. September the seventeenth, nineteen eleven

3. the sixteenth of June, nineteen seventy-nine

4. 16 May 1970

5. 12 March 2003

6. 14 January 1996

Telephone and credit card numbers and similar numbers are usually said one number at a time.
3174522: three one seven four five two two (OR ... double two) 20645: two oh (OR zero) six four five

5 Write the following all in words:

1. your telephone number

2. your date of birth

3. the approximate population of your home village/town and your country

326 APPENDICES
This section tells you about some words that are difficult to use correctly. We explain some other word problems in other sections of the book: see the Index.

after We don't usually say and after, X happened. We prefer afterwards or after that.

I did the washing, and afterwards / after that I went shopping. (NOT ... and after, I went ...) ago Ago goes after a time expression. Compare ago with for and since (see page 56).

I started this job six months ago. I've been working here for six months, since October.

ago and before Ago means 'before now'. To say 'before a particular past time', we use before.

A man came to my office a few days ago. When I saw him, I knew that we had met years before.

(NOT ... we had met years ago.)

born We say that somebody is/was born (passive).

I was born in Glasgow. Children who are born in the summer start school younger than others.

both We often drop the and/or of after both.

Both (the) chairs are broken. Both (of) my brothers are out of work.

do and make Common expressions with do and make:

- do work, a job, shopping, washing, ironing, business; do something, nothing, anything, everything
- make a suggestion, a decision, a phone call, a noise, a journey, a mistake, money, a bed, a fire, love do + ...ing Common expressions:

- do the shopping; do some (a lot of / a bit of) walking, swimming, reading, climbing, sailing, skiing else We use else to mean other after something, anything, somebody, nobody etc.

Would you like anything else? I understand her, but nobody else does.

ever is used mostly in questions, or with present perfect + superlative.

Do you ever get depressed? Have you ever been to Brazil?

This is the worst meal I've ever eaten. This the most interesting job I've ever had.

explain is not used with two objects (see page 143).

Can you explain the rules to me? (NOT Can you explain me the rules)

half We often drop of after half.

He spends half (of) the night playing computer games.

hear and listen to We can hear something without trying. When we listen to something, we want to hear it.

I heard a strange noise upstairs. You're not listening to me. (NOT ... listening me.

We often use can with hear.

I could hear the children playing in the garden.

home We leave out to before home.

Are you going home now? (BUT There's nobody at home.

hope We often use so and not after hope.

'Are you free on Saturday?' I hope so. 'Is there a meeting tomorrow?' I hope not.

if and when We use if for things that may happen, and when for things that will happen.

If I make a lot of money ... If John phones ... When I die ... When it stops raining ...

just has several meanings: 1) right now 2) a short time ago (with present perfect, see page 51)

3) exactly 4) really 5) only

1) I can't talk now - I'm just going out. 2) Her plane has just landed.
3) It's just eight o'clock. 4) I just hate the way he talks to people.
5) 'Can I help you, sir?' *No, I'm just looking round, thanks.*
let and make If I let you do something, I say that you can do it. If I make you do it, I say that you must.
After let and make, we use object + infinitive without to.
  My parents let me leave school. But they made me get a job.

quite often comes before an article.
  It was quite a good film.

rather often comes before an article.
  We've had rather a difficult year.

see, look and watch We can see something without trying. When we look at something, we want to see it.
  I saw Joanna at the station yesterday. Look at that sunset! (NOT Look that sunset!)
We often use can with see.
  If you look out of the window you can see John working in the garden.

We watch things that move, change or happen.
  I hardly ever watch TV. Did you watch the match last night?
  Can you watch the children for a few minutes?

still, yet and already We use still to say that something is continuing; yet to ask if it has happened (or to say it hasn’t); already to say it has happened earlier than we expected.
  Pete’s still in the bathroom. ‘Has Carl phoned yet?’ ‘No, not yet.’
  I’ve already done three hours’ work, and it’s only nine o’clock.

than, as and that Use than after comparatives (see page 229); as in the structure as ... as (see page 231); that after say, think etc and as a relative pronoun (see page 268).
  He’s older than me. My hands are as cold as ice. I think that you’re wrong.
  Where’s the bread that I bought?

think We often use so after think. Don’t use an infinitive after think.
  ‘Are we ready?’ ‘I think so.’ ‘Is Peter in?’ ‘I don’t think so.’
  I’m thinking of changing my job. (NOT I’m thinking to change ...)

very and too Too means ‘more than we want’; very doesn’t.
  ‘This curry’s very hot.’ ‘Yes, a bit too hot for me.’ ‘Oh, it’s OK for me.’

wait We often use wait for with object + infinitive (with to).
  I’m waiting for my sister to phone.

whom In a very formal style, we use whom as an object in questions and relative clauses.
  Whom did they arrest? For whom did she work? The man whom they elected did a very bad job.
In an informal style, who is more normal in questions, and that (OR nothing) in relatives.
  Who did they arrest? Who did she work for? The man they elected did a very bad job.

why and because Why asks for a reason. Because gives a reason.
  ‘Why are you laughing?’ ‘Because John has just said something very funny.’

Suddenly the man opens the window, throws out the orange and closes the window again.

"Excuse me," the woman asks, "but why did you do that?"

"Because we are going through the mountains. Oranges keep the elephants away."

"But there are no elephants in these mountains," says the woman.

"You see," says the man. "It works."

5. a. Few people learn foreign languages perfectly as adults. The majority of us make many mistakes when we are speaking another language. The best policy is to aim for a reasonable level of accuracy, but not to be too perfectionist. Many common mistakes have little effect on communication.

   b. Not many people learn foreign languages perfectly when they’re grown up. Most of us make a lot of mistakes when we’re speaking another language. It’s best to try to get most things right, but not to be too perfectionist. A lot of common mistakes don’t have much effect on communication.
In these answers, we usually give either contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) or full forms (for example I am, do not). Normally both are correct.

Oxford English Grammar Course
Learn and practise the grammar you need to speak and write in English.

- Short grammar explanations are easy to remember. Colour makes the grammar clear.
- Clear simple examples show how the grammar works.

1. When we first give news, we often use the present perfect.

   Finished action: news now

   A plane has crashed in Yorkshire.

   The Prime Minister has met business leaders.

2. When we give or ask for more past details, we change to the simple past.

   Past details: past

   It came down in a field outside York.

   They talked for four hours.

- Texts, articles, quotations and poems use the grammar.
- Hundreds of exercises practise the grammar.

- Internet exercises and grammar-and-vocabulary work
- Tests in the book and online
